The Report on the Census of Production for 1950

In interpreting the data in the following tables, it is essential to bear in mind not only the qualifications mentioned in this Volume, but also the general explanations and qualifications contained in the separate booklet published in this series entitled "The Report on the Census of Production for 1950 : Introductory Notes," price 1s. 0d. net.

Table 1. Output, materials, stocks, average employment, etc. in larger establishments and average employment in small firms for the trades listed below. (These particulars relate only to firms' own productive activities, including repair work; merchanting activities are excluded) Pages 4/3 to 4/10.

	Trade	Standard Industrial Classification minimum list heading	Activities in which establishments in the trade were wholly or mainly engaged	Page
A	Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing	50	The building or repairing of ships, boats, barges, lighters, etc., of all types and sizes, whether self- propelled or not. The manufacture of oars, masts and spars, rigging and other tackle (but not engines), and of ships' models is included. Government establishments are included	4/3
B	Marine Engineering	51 (2)	The manufacture and installation of main and auxiliary engines for ships, marine boilers and turbines, and engines and out-board motors for motor-boats. There were no Government establishments mainly engaged in marine engineering corresponding to minimum list heading 51 (1)	4/3
3	Machine Tools	54	The manufacture of metal-working machine tools, engineers' small tools for use with machine tools, and welding machinery	4/4
D	Textile Machinery and Accessories	56	The manufacture and repair of spinning, winding, weaving, knitting, printing, dyeing, etc., machinery for use in the textile industries, and accessories such as bobbins, combs, jacquard cards, reeds, rollers, shuttles and spindles	4/4
E	Small Arms	57 (part)	The manufacture of small arms and parts thereof. Government establishments are included	4/5
F	Constructional Engin- eering	58	The manufacture of structural iron and steel work, tubular scaffolding and prefabricated houses of steel or aluminium, and other constructional engineering work. Firms engaged in constructional engineering work that did not themselves make any of the material used are excluded. This is an "overlap" trade (see the separate booklet published in this series entitled "The Report on the Census of Production for 1950: Introductory Notes," page i). Establishments in the trade in Great Britain that were engaged also in merchanting made returns for 1950 in the census of distribution only. Particulars of the limited information available in the census of production for establishments in Great Britain that sold no merchanted goods are given in Table 3 and in the "Note on Overlap Trades" on page 4/13.	160
G	Mechanical Handling Equipment	69 (7)	The manufacture of cranes, lifts, hoists, elevators, escalators, belt or chain conveyors (other than for mines), excavating and dredging machinery (cableway drag-line and dredge, etc., excavators). Establishments mainly manufacturing excavating machines of a type generally associated with civil engineering and contracting plant (e.g. bulldozers, trenching, ditching and similar digging machinery) are excluded from this trade but are covered by the Mechanical Engineering (General) Trade—I н	Printing and Book- binding Machinery	69 (8)	The manufacture of typesetting machinery, printing presses, ruling machines, wire stitching ma- chinery, and cardboard box, paper bag and envelope making machinery	4/6
I	Mechanical Engineering	52, 53, 55, 69 (1-6 and 9-12), and 57 (part)	Mechanical engineering except marine engineering, constructional engineering and engineering repair work, and the manufacture of machine tools (metal working), textile machinery, small arms, mechanical handling equipment, and printing and bookbinding machinery which are covered in separate reports (Trades B, F and J, and C, D, E, G and H, respectively); and the manufacture of guns (other than small arms), shell cases, bombs, etc. Government establishments are included
J	Mechanical Engineering (Repairing)	51 to 69 (part)	The repair of non-electrical machinery of all kinds and mechanical engineering work on materials supplied by other firms. Government establishments are included	4/7
K	Electrical Engineering	70, 79 (part) and 29 (3) (part)	The manufacture of electricity generating plant, transformers, dynamos, electric motors, switchgear, electrical equipment for motor vehicles, cycles and aircraft, and other electrical goods, except electric wires and cables, radio and telecommunication apparatus and equipment, batteries and accumulators, and electric lighting accessories and fittings, which are covered in separate reports (Trades L, M, N and O respectively). The manufacture of mica goods is also included	í
L	Electric Wires and Cables	71	The manufacture of insulated electric wires and cables	. 4/8
M	Radio and Telecom- munications	72, 73 and 74	The manufacture of telegraph and telephone equipment, radio apparatus, gramophones, electric lamps, discharge lamps, etc. (1) Private Firms (2) Government Establishments	$\frac{4}{8}$

(b) Owing to the risk of disclosure of information relating to individual firms separate particulars cannot be given. (c) The stocks of goods purchased for merchanting by establishments in Great Britain, held at the beginning and end of year respectively, were as follows: Trade A £200,000, £246,000; B £33,000, £30,000; C £2,630,000, £2,651,000; D £502,000, £578,000; E £36,000, £55,000; G £139,000, £144,000; H £210,000, £223,000; I £6,810,000, £6,489,000; J £1,081,000, £1,196,000; K £2,183,000, £2,232,000; L £294,000, £254,000; M (1) £962,000, £1,235,000; M (2) £146,000, £329,000; N £296,000, £287,000; O £37,000, £42,000.

In the Constructional Engineering Trade—F, census of production returns were required, in Great Britain for 1950, only from establishments that sold no merchanted goods during the year; other establishments in this trade (i.e. which engaged in merchanting as well as production) made returns in the census of distribution. An analysis of sales by the establishments covered by the census of production is shown in Table 3, and the other information obtained is summarised below. Comparable information is not available for earlier years.

(f) No production was recorded in this trade in Northern Ireland.

(g) Owing to the risk of disclosure of information relating to individual firms, particulars for Wales and for larger establishments in Northern Ireland nnot be given separately and have been included with those for England.

(h) Establishments in this trade in Northern Ireland in 1935 are included in the Mechanical Engineering (General) Trade-I.

(i) Owing to the risk of disclosure of information relating to individual firms, particulars for Wales and Scotland cannot be given separately and have een included with those for England.

(j) Including constructional engineering and the manufacture and repair of textile machinery.

(k) A large number of small firms that were previously classified to the Mechanical Engineering (General) Trade—I were classified for 1950 to the Mechanical ngineering (Repairing) Trade-J.

(1) Separate information relating to private firms and government establishments is not available for Northern Ireland and all particulars have been cluded in the report for private firms.

(m) The proportion of the net output of the United Kingdom recorded in Northern Ireland was less than 1 per cent. for 1950 and 1949 in Trades M(1)

(n) Production in government establishments only was recorded in this trade in Northern Ireland.

Table 2

(a) Owing to the risk of disclosure of information relating to individual firms, particulars for Northern Ireland cannot be given separately and have been cluded with those for England and Wales.

(b) Owing to the risk of disclosure of information relating to individual firms separate particulars cannot be given.

(c) Average number employed during the year.

(d) Separate information relating to private firms and government establishments is not available for Northern Ireland and all particulars have been luded in the report for private firms.

(e) Employees in Great Britain engaged, for example, in merchanting, and welfare employees in Northern Ireland.
