Net output, a customary census measure, is calculated by deducting from gross output the cost of purchases (reduced by the rise, or increased by the fall, during the year of stocks of materials etc.) and the cost of industrial services received, and where applicable, duties etc.
Net output per head
The figures of net output per head are derived by dividing the net output by the average number of persons employed (ful) by the average number of activities covered by the returns, including operatives, administrative, technical and clerical employees and working proprietors, but excluding outworkers.

> Gross value added at factor cost > deducting at factor cost is calculated by industrial services (e.g. rent of buildings, hir of plant and machinery, commercial insurance premiums, bank charges and amounts paid for professional services, post office services, transport and advertising) rates (excluding water transport and advertising), rates (excluding water rates) and the cost of licensing motor vehicles. This estimate of gross value added approaches more closely than census net output to the definition of net output or value added in national accounts of net outpu statistics.
