As I near the end of life I become more contemptuous of cynicism ~~and~~ ~~and~~ more convinced that what we know as "good men" is in accordance with the nature of things. Looking back on my own failures & humiliations they nearly all arose from a strain of worldliness & cynicism - a lack of scrupulousness in my manner of life - a giving way to personal vanity ~~and~~ vulgar ~~egotism~~. The great sources of my happiness - my work & my marriage to Lady Spangly sprang out of a religious purpose - an ideal end - not for myself but for the work of men. And my faith in the scientific method and my delight

After my Inauguration comes Margaret Williams ~~into~~. She & I had spent the days at Niagara a few weeks ago: she had seen I speak & wanted a change of air so I went to ~~go~~ drive with her.
 We had long talks together about life & death & on the comparison of girls before ~~on~~ the lines of our lives diverged - hers into the County Magistrate's wife & mother of six children & I into the professional publicist - with a "Socialist-apologist" as ^{her} husband. But throughout these intimate talks she had never hinted at the imminence of death. Yesterday she told me that she had undergone an operation for cancer of the breast - the first in recent years July - & had afterwards undergone the removal of the ~~neck~~ ^{neck}. She is now suffering from a chronic cough & weakness - & has had symptoms She has told her husband ^{after the second operation in July} she told & her children but & one other knows. As she has evidently provided herself with means of a voluntary & easy ~~transference~~ ^{transit} from ^{this} life. ~~goodness~~.
~~as she draws the curtains~~. Her spiritual life appears as - ~~the~~ ^{her} certainty that at any rate, there is proof of telepathy ^{and a consciousness in which} - of a sort of
 - is a great comfort to her. For human help!

I have still the feeling that in Sic relations he is unclear - I still retain the Bonaparte pursuit and his factitiousness, in the Supreme relations of Sic, is part of the higher morality. But, I think, for any mystical reason but because of the intrinsic value of factitiousness in any relation of life - ^{however} slight or intense it may be.

The only real & abiding sorrow of my life has been created in intimate friendship - the Charles Bonaparte, & late wife, Betty Bonaparte.
 Perhaps it is better not to have intimate friendships - to have my general friendship to all human beings for meet on your way ^{through} life - a general friendship which entails no special obligations.

But once you touch intimacy - it ought to be permanent according to its degree - & it is hateful that it should result into positive hostility. We were never in terms of intimate friendship with H. S. Wicks - his wife and it was he who first became hostile to me - long before the American News office. At the same time I was glad to feel that I felt friendly to him. ~~But he was~~ As a fact he is on the side of after the ^{first} Conscience ^{is} coming let ^{me} know ^{if} you ^{are} not ^{yet} rest-do to take again - it takes too much out of me.

Part of my nervous exhaustion was, however, due to the shock of being from Dear Sister Joseph that the Religious Shoes he longs could not be done Spots but he can not long be done.
She is here to try to help her by taking an equally philosophical attitude - viewing Death as a great advantage in life. All the same the Thought - that she also will have gone in a few months - the youngest and best beloved son - the object - of my living friends - is of course for the Survivor. And feeling so ^{near the end} of it - seem almost - absurd to be starting on the rest of my living in Paris. I consider myself not to know but of my dear brother to me I should like to have him in a new mental environment and not exploring only upon his own terms and thought - it will be the only distinction from the first months and years of supreme loneliness. And he remains little more well and happy - in his own mind going to his eyes

The victor 1920 Year: but judged by British Days in Paris & French Days in Germany the choice will be as usual as to France.

So far as we personally are concerned the last year has been happy & successful. The visit to Ireland with a distinct Duke of Devonshire. The publication of the Constitution was an event - it was the beginning of a new era - a new era of political & industrial organization - it was to which the whole nation has been working - the 'hard' enthusiasm of success. It is for the first time of new ideas & details applicable to the popular work & we are taking the steps of popularization of the work to training the people. The year has been the best of adventures with no doubt for Sunday; the young women of the school of Economics - (a solid satisfaction to us) the progress of the Labor Party in the my former attendance present to the Catholics. Also all our personal relations are of the pleasantest: we are at home with Dissolution of dissent as personal freedom eminence of old age - respected service.

 Very different from that unimpaired unimpaired that which was held 1812
 - 1817 - over all sorts of both classes seen to mark as done for some a avoidance. Personal freedom is a strength of opinions of old: almost a cult in its changeableness. One seems to become to reduce of religious influences, & then almost suddenly, to religious influence leads in to other parties & an almost modern appreciation follows. Old age is a part protected from classes of the "low 16-the whole body of us. The dark feelings of the have been Robert Morant's & many these authors' death & Margaret W. Whomey's the former brought by W.K.C.E. However I will not run on ^{with} their casual descriptions.

My son & I have now signed the contract of some 6 or 7 Yorkshire Societies the results of which will be embodied in the following book.
Going up - due to country I have met many interesting ^{business} men & I go back for more helpful data to advance in the conference held at promising is the drawing together of the three

The young unemployed - how added the Doing other. Then in vague schemes - some of the immediate practical - of industrial almost meaningless. The first with membership - now have to be put in a hurry.

The dollar Party alone has had its organizing

I take up my work - a pain sorrowing and with a strange fear of the ordeal through which I like all others must pass. A year - not of death - but of the year of death.

April 14th Bicknell Hotel, Sunderland.

I was exhausted with the winter work and with the ^{whole} sorrow, and I was glad to escape into sailing to this "quiet" little place with the North Sea to look at; sometimes in dead calm and sometimes surging in on a North East gale. The sea is always to me at once a tonic and a sedative, inspiring with new energy and calming down earthly fears. For the last week has been one of panics - total panics, fears now for Sunday's safety in Heaven's presence, then of some fatal voyage about 7 or 8 miles. But the sight of the sea and hearing another colony of birds of sea and heaven, have swept the panics away & shall remain at my own beckoning. I ^{whole} look away the day browsing a newspaper - a few books or had thought of them as proposal accepting it on behalf of McNamee.

 One of the worst features of this business "These delicately written papers ^{were} penned by my mother at various times. They show to my children she was a good delicately minded woman. The accounts copied over in mine are of my little brother's death & previous she had given an account of his life. I do not think I have given my children a sufficiently appropriate account of my mother. I loved her more than I have ever loved any other being & her loss was the greatest sorrow I have had.* She had faults & I know them. Her virtues & charms of character, I have not often mentioned, though they still often recur to me. And should, in some future state, our conscious souls meet - again it would be my hope to be with her & ~~thereon~~ in sweet-converse. "

Today, 2 or 3 sines I first began to read ^{Walter} James, I find him the truest to me of all metaphysicians. I am exactly at his stage of thought; I doubt when he doubts, I believe when he believes. I take the "wish" of faith to be a spiritual force which makes for righteousness, seeing that right ^{of man} must ^{be} taken on whichever side you finally come down. Whether or believe that man's relation to himself or to an external to be in error, depends from any other standpoint than that of the human being at its present stage of development. James, I feel, was a poor believer in the ultimacy of all truth & in his judgment ~~was~~ ^{was} ~~convinced~~ he based his prophecies (It is interesting to note that Einstein announced himself ^{in an interview with Time Magazine} in the doctrine of W. James in metaphysics) And like James I am more deeply convinced every day of my life that human beings whether as individuals or in ^{relation to one another} ~~a community~~ are only a handful so long as their ~~conscience~~ ^{emotions} and their thoughts are suffused with faith in a spirit of rightness ^{so long as they conduct is guided by} ~~are unshaken~~ ^{the ever present desire} to become part of the ^{of this spirit of righteousness} ~~manifestation~~ ^{of it}. And now I am able "What is Rightness?" I can at once see the morality which has been advanced with the first religion for ever and seems to spring from the mystical consciousness of man. And it has that he is common with a spiritual force absolute.

 they had a common life together. But now she

I have lectured at three Summer Schools this August: 11 Taliesin at Plover, West Point the evening at the Summer School of the L.R.D. typical development of social life of these days: a school of manners without class distinctions, ~~and~~ led by experts. It is a far higher form of social

After a dull three days at the (Curtis) T.A.C. in a dull noisy Russell Hotel Sisters. Living ⁱⁿ the sunny cottage ^{in the fields} & going

~~it was a tragedy for the family~~. Some months ago, I had ^{written} ~~written~~ a

Even when she was extremely worried, Even when she loved her for the first, she never told me anything

Tom Tom was always complaining; he was dull

The day before she died she had sent a parcel of £1. It had been packed with a ribbon to hide her names so that the 22nd she had sent it to her. Finally before taking the Cocaine & morphine, of ingestion, she wrote a letter to Tom, (she was ^{found} lying on the table ^{like} ^{the} ^{other} ^{her} ^{before}) & then to the play - it describes - the nature of a loving wife - with no complaint, not even a word about her coming death, except one letter sentence - "This is the last letter you will get from me" & after her signature "The day I left you of our first meet". And now I remember that when she bunched her very about six weeks ago, she embraced me affectionately when she left saying that "The time we spent in our life, is the happiest time of my life".

July 16th One old friend Berkand Russell, who a no wife and a son & his (the first marriage he scramble into custom" in wed lock") has come back into the circle of ^{our} friends. For some years he has been ^{living} with a young woman, a "Secretary" she was shy; a Gorton girl, the daughter of an admiralty official: She went with him to Russia, & has spent the last year with him in China & nursed him through a dangerous illness. Last autumn she died. He did not get his old report & on his arrival last December in London he met Mrs. ^{Black} Russell - the former partner of John Comrad I did recognize the message & he found who then, on the risk of being thrown in their company what recognition and I decided to call & see the man. He spent the last week at the time ^{among} a large party of young ^{labor} economists at Dromps, & I was by had to be the discussion of the volume of essays the papers not written by the Free Society.

Berkand Russell, now nearly 50, is physically aged with an impaired ~~physical~~ vitality, but more brilliantly intelligent ^{and} than he has ever been: He is cynical & witty; has nervous system insomnia & indigestion.

 Also I have been very anxious - I don't know how long I have been suffering from a couple of months from persistent head ache which may or may not be the beginning of more serious trouble. It was a shock to find myself as the nearest & most responsible relation - practically the only sister - neither Rose nor Mary count - Mary because she is herself a care & a great (then) sister and Mary because of her own ^{and complete loss of memory} infirmities. Then an niece however & I have left one of them (Mary herself) in charge whilst I take a rest, which I badly need. Don't do Kate: if she had complete an unquestioning faith in relying her Dear Man - she keeps his photograph facing her at the bottom of her bed - she can't go to sleep. But she doubts the utility of a future life; she has a rational fear of death & she enjoys her existence with all her brain interests & intellectual games. I much believe she understands of many ~~men~~ men & women. She and I have never been intimate; there is no point of contact between our intellects and tho' living in much the same circumstances and among the same sort of persons, ~~we have~~ in no single instance ^{had we both been} been on the same public end.

Complaints if a simple book is cut down or a stone with stripes, whilst she vehemently resents the high spirits of the students & their extreme modest use of alcohol, not to mention the opinion of some of the lecturers.
 Old people are horribly troublesome & slow they lay their trembling old hands on the ways of the young: it is a chronic fear with me that Sidney & I may be doing it without knowing it, in one of our activities. To some of the younger intellectuals our persistence in publicists, using up one subject after another, must be a cause of annoyance - an annoyance which the old people express in the description of Sidney with ^{in the Supp. Society} his irritating "permanence" as a leader of ^{the} Society. To a work heavy of younger socialists ^{energy} and survival must be as tiresome as the ~~propaganda~~ ^{propaganda} of the presence of the Furber Union at the gate of Dundee is to the administration & funds. So I end on a note of genuine sympathy ^{with the unions} & ⁱⁿ ^{the} ^{interest} of the success

Justice to ^{unleash} the self, an antagonism which leads to a more intimate acquaintance to the temper. To me she is as sweet as can be & she is reported to be all hearted with Dundee; she brought her in his ~~school~~ the torturing sensations to noise makes hours of her existence into a veritable purgatory. The disease of old eye seems to take one of two extreme forms: either you become a log of senseless matter or you devolve into a mass of quivering mind.

I really don't know what condition is most unpleasant. An eye that is to be kept ^{to be kept} ~~to be kept~~ ^{of some sudden} ~~of some sudden~~ ^{like moment} ~~like moment~~ ^{of some sudden} ~~of some sudden~~ ~~and~~ ~~is~~ ~~considered~~ ~~to~~ ~~be~~ ~~the~~ ~~victim~~ ~~of~~ ~~an~~ on the next week with W. Dutton. I say believe he will win, the 'less' especially (because of the general opinion) the six million of. If a 7oz stands I think it is a calamity - a real calamity and a hardship. But there is one consolation.

 If ~~Sam~~ ~~is~~ fails to win before

We have done to select things especially to our lights. Dutton offers to see one of his it off - we shall need ~~it~~ help from him or so.

Incredible we have offered for permission to build a college at Dampas for the use of exclusive possession of my own life-time but to fall in with school into its government & a to ever extend for the rest of our death.
 We felt that we must make some provision if Sidney is quiet, continue reading & Lown is working & summer, is a further but also to miscellaneous editorial concerns in a good account. ~~As a result of the~~ The last volume of the first promises the "Sundry" ^{Journal} common to find the an capital of reading it.

 The Decay of Capitalism - evidence is I had be a big haul of preparation & one a best to to Felix Baumgartner & its doctrines. About the latter book we have been very much touched with GBS's Gallant. General is devoted days of his time to an proof - proving & refuting one step & a ^{not substantial} way in a few paragraphs of his own when he tempt - or have not made one moving dead.
 He has also played up the Felix Baumgartner of lectures of Thayer Hall, and agreeing to take to place of Hugh Dalton as well as give his own lecture. He is a real Dear of a friend & comrade - he becomes less of an ex-acted making self-respect as he grows old: true Selwyn his concern for the world. He is very frightened that civilization, as we know it, is going to be swept - & not so soon but he knows how to prevent it, & even if he fails ^{to prevent it} ^{he must do so} ^{at least} take his advice. Can any one govern?
 (to the letter of his Felix lecture) is a quite genuine question on his part.

His views on the state are quite classical & unimpaired & unimpaired with the world! I knew this morning on the way to school he to speak of Dulles himself who is playing to the Duke of Devonshire. He has commenced work out - to the Duke of Devonshire. But he was contemptuous of the political play of the Manifesto wants to say to restrict us of the "Jews" & not to touch in the strong position of the Capital level, & determination. "Well, I believe in telling the doctor what - you already perform to do just honestly. We don't want to get votes on false pretences: but to ^{write} up a Party in common with a common eye of reading them which honestly & carefully states in that there can be no misapprehension: "The W. W. W. : Gas will never get to Devonshire that: "We personally don't want to, & others" "I believe" "It is really an strength: as here is left it."

Can now to Sechen for a fortnight speaking a tally, as much of it as I a capital of, whether Sunday is in a out we shall say "content."

W. W. W.

Sunday is himself enjoying himself in this election: See meetings he is taking lots, many a person & true "appearances" in the way. He is remarkably fit - all his good news has Cease; he sleep with 2 cats sufficiently. In the intervals between the meetings he writes letters, and articles. His enjoyment is partly due to the nature of his conversation. The ladies in general (and some scholars) believe his say, in conversation more & place their "bills" at his disposal. These simple minded women listen to his words, as to words not of a politician but of a Teacher. Instead of their present paying the ladies say of changes towards his clerical caprices: & the friends act as his best agents.

 Their nature is amusing. When he was at the Candidates office for ^{Society} Hall, they are far too honest to put up the price; but they scornful reply that "Dear Mr. Brown" W. Wells' Dale, they will let it. Then "for an other matter" ^{which} ^{is} enforces the conservative & liberal agent.
 His return seem certain, but whether he is a boy or a true member remains doubtful. Meanwhile I have broken down the habit of going of the one out of the room meetings except for me. It was not worth making myself run all that way for a few extra votes. As a result I got very shamed, especially if I got also called through to the table at the dinner Hall, by the presence of uncles.

Colon beyond the me. I am not fed-for anything more strenuous than authorship & theoria & quiet by some life.

I am saying out I really think: Except - but he his wife is charming. He is certain but Pollay Day Nov. 15 1922. Sechom Hulman

Spent this morning touring the miners villages; received everywhere by a little band of enthusiasts. In the penultimate village Well is strong - then the effort has in going has a seen almost equal divided between 1825 and 2400. In Sechom Hulman stay the 1825 and scores of trees, an crossing crowd carrying women to look. It is a lot of work for the women who will have done it. Sidney ^{feels} ~~feels~~ ^{sure} ~~sure~~: he feels he is doing what he has to do, even at considerable cost in money & effort. I have been living in an unpleasant dream: feeling ill & do not speak to the talk of a common wife; hating the thought that he should be beaten and just - holding the prospect of a change ~~of~~ in our day life. I do not like the speaking involved in an election: one has to think too much of the pleasing one audience & too little of expressing one's full self in it. As one approaches the end of life one longs for a period of peaceful recollection & disinterested contemplation of the problems of human life. And that is what I get the restful leisure necessary to finish it.

We come here a week ago for a spell of today & I follow on Sunday evening. A happy Proletarians to collect.

My hope will now be divided into parts unconnected strands. My first part is collecting Monday letter to the Scotch women; the labor time & running to H.C.C.; and I assume a certain amount of driving amount corresponding with Sunday being the is getting on with the little work — a delicate & exciting task to which I'll like to devote myself wholly. Carried in the country when I can brood & meditate.

 But that cannot be done & the work must be done on those mornings when I am free & fit for work. Fortunately Sunday's parliamentary work will leave a good deal done & I have hopes that he will be a great deal better - already I am glad to say that he is better. The

There is a certain natural tendency in writing this book - it is practically a
