

3
30 November 1926

Dear Sir,

It is exceedingly kind of you to offer to present a number of books and documents to this Library. We shall be very glad to have them. I think the most convenient method would be for me to send somebody to bring the books away, which they could probably do in a taxi-cab, and I could send for them at any time convenient to you if you would be good enough to let me know what that time would be.

Yours very truly,

B.M.H.
Librarian.

Professor Salvemini,
20 Warwick Square,
S.W.1