REPORT

ON THE

Fourth Census of the Population of the Union of South Africa,
4th May, 1926.

PART IV.—OFFICIAL LANGUAGES SPOKEN (EUROPEANS).

INTRODUCTORY NOTES.

General.—The questionnaire from which the tables in this volume were compiled appeared on the householder's schedule, Form C. 1, as follows:—

If able to speak both English and Dutch	Write 1
If able to speak English only.....	Write 2
If able to speak Dutch only.....	Write 3
If unable to speak either English or Dutch.....	Write 4

A similar question was asked at the Censuses of 1918 and 1921, but the tabulation on both those occasions was confined to simple tables according to sex and distribution. In this volume will be found certain tables correlating the language spoken with Nationality, with Parentage, with Period of Residence in the Union, and with Religion. In addition the usual distribution into area, sex, and age is given.

The same principle of tabulation has been followed as previously in regard to the sub-division into children below school-going age and persons of 7 years of age and over. The Census Forms contained a large number of nil or unspecified replies to this question in regard to young children. In all such cases, the mother tongue or language spoken by the guardians or parents was allocated to the child for statistical purposes.

For the purpose of the following comparisons, the figures for persons 7 years of age and over have been taken. Only 724 persons or 0·1 per cent. of the population aged 7 years and over failed to give specific information.

In 1918 the proportion of the school-going and adult population claiming to be bilingual was 42·07 per cent., in 1921 50·71 per cent., and in 1926 58·52 per cent. The number speaking English only decreased from 25·2 per cent. in 1921 to 21·6 per cent. in 1926; and the number speaking Afrikaans or Dutch only decreased from 23·8 per cent. to 19·6 per cent. during the same period.

Comparison between urban and rural areas is interesting. 61 per cent. of the urban and 55 per cent. of the rural population are bilingual, 31 per cent. of the urban and 8 per cent. of the rural population speak English only; and 8 per cent. of the urban and 37 per cent. of the rural population speak Afrikaans only.

Practically an equal proportion of males and females are Afrikaans-speaking; but a greater proportion of females than males are English-speaking only. The difference is made up by 4 per cent. more males than females being bilingual.

2,834 persons returned themselves as being unable to speak either of the official languages, and 863 children under 7 years of age were also classified under this category. When these figures are correlated with other items on the Census schedule, it seems likely that in many of these cases the question has not been fully understood, and has been taken to mean the usual or home language spoken. While one can understand that there may be 950 persons born abroad and resident in the Union for less than one year who have not acquired a knowledge of either of the official languages, it is inconceivable that this can be the case with 793 persons who have been living in the Union for more than ten years. This explanation would also appear to be supported by a comparison of the results shown in tables 5 and 6. In the former table it will be observed that South African, British, and British Naturalized Nationality accounted for 1,772 of the total; but reference to table 6 shows that none of these were of British or Dutch parentage. The majority of these South African or British subjects who stated that they were unable to speak either of the official languages were of foreign parentage. Those of Hebrew, German, and Portuguese parentage appear to account for most of them. This assumption is further borne out by the results shown in table 8, which correlates language and religion. Here it will be seen that 1,480 professed the Jewish faith, 585 were Lutherans, and 1,423 were Roman Catholics.

Table 9 shows the languages spoken in the ten largest urban centres including their suburbs. Bloemfontein is the most bilingual, most Afrikaans-speaking, and least English-speaking town; while Durban is the most English-speaking, least bilingual, and least Afrikaans-speaking town.
