

LONGMEADOW,
STREET,
SOMERSET.

Nov: 28th 1933.

AL/2633

Dear Mr. Cavendish Bunting,
So glad you like "The Long Journey". It is the collected edition of four Handbooks which I did with Martin of Eton for the Elementary Schools.

I made a bargain that I was not to be expected

209, BROADWAY,
NEW YORK,
N. Y.

Parsons Library
27 Wilfred Street
London E.14, U.K.

8/18
8/18

to 'glorify' war. And now they go and put a war
picture on the paper-wrappers;
which I don't think fair:

The enclosed will tell you what next brings me to London. I'll be there all that week acting my own death-scene in the 'Epilogue'. It's great fun doing it, and was so popular last time that this time I have to do it four times instead of only twice. Come and see how an agnostic Franciscan can die 'joking'!

If you are in town that week, or early the next week, I should much like to come & see you again;
but as you can guess from the programme I shall be pretty busy

All kind remembrance

Always sincerely
Lawrence Housman