My dear Miss Corben,

It was kind of you ~~to write~~, but indeed there is no need for apologies, and no blame attaches to anyone! Everything was quite orderly, and I took my place at the end of the procession, with two clergy in front, and Mr Sheppard as my Chaplain behind, so it was quite dignified! It is a dreadful thing to feel that the whole trouble for you was caused by the failure of a man!

I thought all your arrangements were admirable, and worked excellently.

Yours sincerely,

John Kensington

The enclosed letter from a Baptist has just reached me. You see he asks for one of the hymn leaflets.
I would far mind sending him one, but the same time acknowledge this letter for me telling him how glad I am to know that he was edified & pleased.

Y^r sincerely

John Kensington
