My dear Miss Corben,

I have been making enquiries and find that it is permissible to print an extract from the Minutes of the National Mission Council, which I quoted in my address on "Women and the Church". I therefore enclose the copy of the Minutes, and I shall be glad if you will return this when you have finished with it, as it is my only copy. I should advise that as a note this might be printed in full, i.e. part A on page 11, beginning from "Relations with the Women's Movement" and going on to the bottom of page 13, where I have marked it. It will be a good thing that this should see the light of day as it has not appeared publicly at all yet. Only it must be made quite plain, while printing it, ^{that} ~~that~~ this is the expression of the Committee of the National Mission to consider Relations with other Movements, and was sent out by the Council for the consideration of the Church, but does not represent the unanimous opinion of the whole Council. As long as that is made plain the statement can be printed, and I think it would be well that it should be.

With all best wishes,

Yours very sincerely,

John Kensington.
