My dear Blanche

Milly Edwards was so delighted when you said she was better for the children & I was & she teased me about being "bad" for them
- you know our constant chaff, that is why I did not forget your words. I have not got any one to tease at present but I am all right & quite well only unhaply about other people's affairs which seem to me so absorbing just now that family matters are as nothing.

If I bothered about them or thought much of them certainly I should be unhappy to see the hoop stick of a woman at Crownham! an awful failure I fear!

You did not send me Thera's letter after all. I am going to come my dinner party to the working women next week I think, only a small party.

I wish I could have your music
- do you go on? & will you play your Sonatas? all those you like when I come up in November?

When you have read marked & understood my little Bantiat Pol: Ec: send it me back. It is full of suggestive wisdom: get this & lovingly
