Dear Mr. ~~Logan~~ / Sir Maurice Levy.
Also see over page.

Although I was born and bred a Liberal I cannot understand why you, and the Liberal majority, while professing the theory that the "will of the people as expressed by a majority of the House of Commons must prevail", have failed to insist that the Conciliation Bill for Women's Suffrage should become law this session, after having passed its second reading by a record majority of all parties.

The action of an autocratic and self-willed Cabinet

To J. M. Logan Esq. J. P.

following para. added after "Tyranny"

I note in your Address that you refer to a large number of Bills rejected by the House of Lords since 1906. In the Leicester "Daily Mail" correct in saying that 237 Bills have been sent up to the House of Lords since 1906 - of which 232 were passed by the Lords + only 5 rejected?

in opposing the will of the people's representatives in this, & other, respects, seems to me a much more serious danger to the Constitution than any question of Veto by the House of Lords, or Home Rule, &c.

I have been a non-party man
for ten years, but I am doing all I can,
by speaking, influence, and voting, to
"Turn the Liberal Out" at this election.
This is my protest against a so-called Liberal Government which refuses to act on its professed principles - that "Taxation without Representation is Tyranny."

I reserve the right to publish this correspondence.

~~Yours~~

Yours faithfully,

~~J. W. Logan, Esq. J. P.,
