REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

DURING the past year, the work on which your Committee have been engaged has been carried on steadily, while they have been conscious of a growing sympathy and better understanding of their aims and objects among the people at large, which has afforded them great satisfaction and encouragement.

Last session Mr. Courtney varied the form of the procedure in Parliament by the introduction of the following resolution instead of a Bill:—"That, in the opinion of this House, it is injurious to the best interests of the country that women who are entitled to vote in municipal, parochial, and school board elections, when possessed of the statutory qualifications, should be disabled from voting in parliamentary elections, although possessed of the statutory qualifications; and that it is expedient that this disability should be forthwith repealed."

The discussion on this resolution was of the highest significance, and the outcome of it is not by any means to be measured by the numbers in the division list. The resolution was rejected by a majority of 114 votes, 103 being recorded in its favour and 217 against it; but among this number were some who were in favour of the principle, and who have expressed themselves as willing to adopt it when the time shall have come for action. The leader of the House of Commons, speaking in his place and as it seemed on behalf of the Government, said that he felt bound to vote against a resolution which declared that the electoral disabilities of women should be at once repealed, because to support such a proposal would be to pledge the Government to bring in a measure for altering the law in that respect. But, while he deprecated the passing of such a resolution as this, he wished to state his opinion upon the abstract question. Women had shown by the manner in which they had exercised the electoral functions permitted to them that they were not unworthy and not incapable of exercising such functions, and at a fitting time and under fitting circumstances he should be prepared to assent to a proposal that the same rank should be given to them as to others. The Times, in commenting on the debate, said, "This engagement is not definite, but it is no small triumph that it should have been obtained," and that "when the claims of the agricultural labourer are to be satisfied; and when the time thus arrives for a great general re-casting of the electoral scheme, the case of the women may be thrown into the crucible with the rest." Mr. Courtney may be congratulated upon this result.

It appears, indeed, now no longer probable that the question of the franchise for women will be dealt with by the Legislature apart from the general question of Parliamentary Reform, but that question must arise at no distant period, and its settlement may, for aught we know, be close at hand. Some questions relating to Parliament must be dealt with next year. There are the vacant seats to be distributed before the general election, and the Ballot Act expires in 1880. The franchise is claimed by or for the agricultural labourer, and the demand for a redistribution of seats is pressing for solution. It is quite possible that Parliament may next session be called upon to deal with the general question of Parliamentary Reform, and it is quite certain that whenever the subject of the representation of the people does come up for discussion, the settlement will be neither final nor complete unless it includes the enfranchisement of women.

The following list of constituencies whose members are favourable to the measure is corrected up to the present date, so far as your Committee has information. Those members are counted as supporters who have voted or paired for the Bill, or who have expressed themselves favourable to its principle. On this basis, six of the three-cornered constituencies—namely, Birmingham, Buckinghamshire, Glasgow, Leeds, Liverpool, and Manchester—give either their full vote, or each a majority of their vote, in support of the Bill. Thirty constituencies, as against twenty-four in the last Parliament, have given their full vote of two each in favour of the Bill, namely:—

Blackburn	Edinburgh	Newcastle-uLyme
Bolton	Finsbury	Oldham
Brighton	Halifax	Portsmouth
Bristol	Kingston-on-Hull	Preston
Devonport	Leicester	Salisbury
Dublin City	Louth	Scarborough
Dundee	Macclesfield	Stockport
Durham, N.	Meath	Waterford, City
Essex, E.	Merthyr	Wenlock
Exeter	Newcastle-on-Tyne	York

Seventy-eight constituencies, as against seventy in the last Parliament, have given their full voice of one each in favour of the measure, namely:—

	Aberdeen, City	Dumfries	Kilkenny
	Abingdon	Dundalk	Kilmarnock
	Ashton-under-Lyne	Dungannon	Kirkcudbrightshire

Fifteen constituencies have given one vote to the Bill, their other vote being neutral or unknown:—

Cavan	Galway City	Londonderry Co.
Clare Co.	Greenwich	Marylebone
Devon, E.	King's Co.	Mayo
Devon, N.	Limerick Co.	Queen's County

Fifty-seven constituencies have given one vote for and one against the Bill on each side:—

Thus 115 constituencies, as against 94 last Parliament, give clear and full votes for the Bill; and 21 give clear, though not full, votes for it. Therefore 136 constituencies appear as distinctly ranged in favour of the Bill.*

The unusually early date of the Parliamentary division (March 7th) shortened the period during which meetings might have been held in support of it, and the circumstances of the winter, together with the preoccupation of men's minds with the calamitous aspect of affairs, consequent on the war in the East, further impeded the arrangement of meetings in January and February. In addition to the Annual General Meeting, held on November 6th, 1878, meetings were held in December in Warrington and Crewe, which were addressed by Mrs. Oliver Scatcherd and Miss Becker as a deputation from the Society. Miss Becker has also attended meetings arranged by local friends at Hyde and Hollinwood.

Meetings arranged independently of your Committee, but aided by them, have been held during the year in Middleton, Morley, Scanthorpe, Hyde (2), Romiley, Hull (3), Hessle, Sheffield (2), and the following suburbs, namely, Heeley (2), Carbrook, Four Lanes End, Parkgate, Philadelphia, Woodseats (2), West Bar (2), Park, Attercliffe (3), Rotherham (2), Milnrow, Rochdale (6), Heywood, Dronfield (3), Masbro (2).

Several Meetings have been held by Mrs. Oliver Scatcherd in Leeds, Batley, and Dewsbury, in addition to her special work in Leeds in connection with the Municipal elections. A meeting of women has also been held at York.

Lectures at watering-places have been given during the early autumn months with very satisfactory results. Miss Becker has delivered lectures at Blackpool, Llangellen, Barmouth, Aberystwith, Criccieth, Portmadoc, Penmaenmawr, Beaumaris, Colwyn Bay, Llandudno, and Buxton. Your Committee have to thank Mrs. Colman and Viscountess Harberton for their valuable help in presiding at many of these lectures.

Your Secretary has during the year attended a public meeting and Conference at Bristol, and read a paper at the Conference on "The Rights and Duties of Women in Local Government;" she has attended in London at the annual meeting of the Central Committee; and has taken part in meetings arranged by the Central Committee at Lambeth and Tunbridge Wells, and in drawing-room meetings at the residences of Mrs. Leon, Gloucester Place; Mrs. Charles Hancock, Blandford Square; Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Hyde Park Gardens; and Viscountess Harberton, Cromwell Road. Miss Becker also convened and addressed a drawing-room meeting at 15, Langham-street, which was presided over by Mr. George Palmer, M.P.

*In this list are included constituencies represented by two or three members of the Government who are in favour of the principle of women's suffrage, but who, for the reasons stated by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, voted against Mr. Courtney's resolution.

The special meetings of women electors held in Manchester and Salford in connection with the municipal elections have been of the highest interest and importance. The women on the burgess rolls in St. Michael's and All Saints' Wards, Manchester, and Kersal and St. John's Wards, Salford—being all the wards where a contest took place in these towns—were invited to hear an address from Miss Becker, on the duties and responsibilities of the municipal vote, and to listen to speeches from the several candidates or their representatives. Four meetings were held in all. Experience proved that it was necessary to reserve the halls exclusively for women, who came in crowds, and took the liveliest interest in the proceedings. The candidates for seats in the Councils were questioned as to whether they would support a petition from the Council in favour of giving the Parliamentary vote for women, and in all cases they agreed to do so, and expressed their adhesion to the principle of women's suffrage.

The petitions this year were obtained entirely through the voluntary efforts of our friends, no paid agents being employed; and this fact, together with the shortness of the period (only seventeen days) which elapsed before the debate on Mr. Courtney's resolution, affected the number of signatures obtained. The total number of petitions presented during last session in support of women's suffrage was 853, with 35,000 signatures. Of these, 70 were sent officially, or under seal. Among the latter were petitions under their corporate seals from the following Town Councils in England:—Crewe, Dewsbury, Falmouth, Gateshead, Hartlepool, Kidderminster, Lincoln,

Luton, Northampton, Sunderland, Walsall. Of the remaining 59 petitions sent officially, 43 were from public meetings promoted by members and friends of your Committee. Of the remaining 783, 549 were presented through the efforts of friends and correspondents of your Committee; 90 of these were from Good Templar lodges in the following places:-Alnwick, Ashington Colliery, Ashton-in-Makerfield, Bacup, Barrington, Barrow-in-Furness, Bedale, Bedlington, Beverley, Blackburn (2), Blackley, Blackpool, Blyth, Bolton (3), Bradford, Broughton-in-Cleveland, Burnley (3), Bury (3), Caton, Denton, Driffield, Elswick, Falsgrove, Guisborough, Halifax (2), Hull, Keighley, Lancaster, Laythorpe, Leigh, Liverpool (11), Loftus, Manchester (7), Marske-by-the-Sea, Middlesbrough (2), New Backworth, Newcastle-upon-Tyne (4), Newchurch, North Shields (2), Padiham, Poulton-le-Fylde, Preston (3), Richmond, St. Anne's-by-the-Sea, Saltburn-bythe-Sea, Shipley, Silsden, Skipton, Throckley, Todmorden, Walsden, Widnes, Wigan, York.

Members of debating societies in the following towns have applied for and received papers and information for use in discussions on women's suffrage:—Airdrie, Alnwick, Ashton-under-Lyne, Birkenhead, Bolton, Buckingham, Bury, Chadderton, Congleton, East Dereham, Gainsborough, Glasgow, Hereford, Hull, Leamington, Leeds, Liverpool, London, Louth, Manchester and the following suburbs—Ardwick, Greenheys, Longsight, Rusholme Road, Moss Side; Newcastle-on-Tyne, Norwich, Oldham, Perth, Portmadoc, Skipton, Sunderland, West Cowes, West Hartlepool.

Your Committee last year intimated their desire to offer copies of the Women's Suffrage Journal, presented monthly, to political clubs, free and subscription libraries, mechanics' institutions, debating societies, and reading and news rooms of all descriptions. They received from a large number of such institutions an intimation that their offer was accepted, and the Journal and other publications of the Society have been sent during the year to the following political clubs:—Bradford, Bacup, Batley, Boston, Carlinghow, Colchester, Darlington, Eccles, Heaton Moor, Heywood, Hurst Brook,

Hyde, Lincoln, Middleton Junction, Openshaw, and to fifteen Conservative and nineteen Liberal clubs in Manchester and Salford; also to public free libraries, mechanics' institutions, etc., in the following places; -Atherstone, Aberystwith, Airdrie, Baildon, Bacup, Bolton, Banbury, Barnstaple, Barnsley, Ben-Rhydding, Bideford, Bingley, Birmingham, Bradford, British Museum, Burnley, Carnarvon, Chelsea, Cheadle, Crewe, Crystal Palace, Darlington, Delph, Dewsbury, Dent, Doncaster, Droylsden, Dundee, Eccles, Failsworth, Falmouth, Fallowfield, Finsbury, Glossop, Halstead, Harpurhey, Hawick, Hazel Grove, Halifax, Heaton, Hebden Bridge, Horsforth, Hollinwood (2), Hull, Huddersfield, Hyde, Ipswich, Keighley, Kennington, Kidderminster, King's Lynn, Leamington, Leeds (2), Liverpool, Lindley, Lockwood, Londonderry, Manchester (10), Malton, Mossley, Miles Platting, Norwich, Nottingham, New Mills, Oldham, Omagh, Preston, Prestwich, Pendleton, Rochdale, Salford, Shelley, Shildon, Shaw, Sheffield (3), Sunderland, Stockport, South Shields, Thirsk, Teignmouth, Tyldesley, West Bromwich, Worksop. Your Committee would be glad to receive application from managers of newsrooms and libraries which do not receive the Journal, and they will be happy to present it regularly to those who are willing to place it in the reading-rooms for the use of the public or their members.

During the past year, your Committee's agent, Mrs. M'Cormick, has visited the following places:—Warrington, Crewe, Burnley, Southport, Sunderland, South Shields, Durham, New Mills, Nottingham, Preston, Ashton, Blackburn, Darwen, Huddersfield, Honley, London, Macclesfield, Leek, Hanley, Burslem, Stafford, Retford, Boston, Newark, Chesterfield, Lichfield, Derby, Sheffield, Scarborough, Stockton-on-Tees, Bishop Auckland, Wrexham, Blackpool, Southport, Liverpool, Wigan, Llangollen, Barmouth, Aberystwith, Criccieth, Carnarvon, Bangor, Beaumaris. Penmaenmawr, Colwyn Bay, Portmadoc, Buxton, Colne, Kendal, Wolverhampton, Walsall, Dudley, Kidderminster, Leamington, and Bury. Mrs. M'Cormick arranged and attended the meetings and lectures organised by your Committee, and devoted 178 days to office and other work in Manchester.

The recent meeting of the Social Science Congress in Manchester afforded a favourable occasion for a review of progress. Thirteen years ago, when the Congress held its last meeting in Manchester, a paper on the Reasons for the Enfranchisement of Women was read by Mrs. Bodichon. This appears to have been the first occasion on which the claim of women to Parliamentary representation had been brought forward for discussion on a public platform, and the movement which led to the formation of your society began as the fruit of the seed thus sown. On October 6th, the thirteenth anniversary of the day on which Mrs. Bodichon's paper was read, Miss Becker read a paper on the Progress of the Movement for the Enfranchisement of Women. The paper gave a sketch of the general course of events since 1866, and noted that during this period there had been presented to the House of Commons 9,563 petitions in favour of the Bill, with upwards of 2,953,848 signatures, and between 1,300 and 1,400 public meetings had been held, being an average of above two meetings per week during the last thirteen years.

The paper attracted the most crowded audience of any that were read during the meeting, and the discussion was almost unanimously in favour of the views expressed in the paper, only one gentleman being found to say anything on the opposite side.

During the Congress week your Committee organised two afternoon parties in the Memorial Hall, for which cards were issued to the members of the Social Science Association. The tea tables were elegantly furnished by ladies of the Committee, and some beautiful specimens of point lace, which had belonged to King Charles I., were kindly lent for exhibition by Miss Helen Blackburn. The receptions were numerously attended, and were useful and agreeable assemblies.

The financial position of the Society has continued satisfactory. In the early part of the year a donation of £50 was kindly offered by Mrs. Crawshay, on condition that £450 should be subscribed by others, so as to raise the total amount of the special fund to £500. By the liberality of a few friends, to whom application was made privately, your Committee were enabled to claim the promised donation. This fund, with the ordinary subscriptions and donations, has sufficed to support all the work of the year, and the balance in hand is more than sufficient to cover outstanding current liabilities. Nevertheless, your Committee desire to call the attention of their friends and supporters to the circumstance that it is but a small balance, and that at the beginning of the season for active political work they must appeal for aid to enable them to organise and carry on the movement during the ensuing winter.

As it is possible that the Parliamentary friends of the Bill may not deem it worth while to bring the question again before a moribund Parliament, it will be desirable that the energies of our friends should be mainly directed to influencing candidates at the general election. We beg to point out the extreme importance of pressing this question on the consideration of every candidate who comes forward in each constituency, unless the views of such candidate are so well known to be favourable to women's suffrage that such action is needless. When a member who has always voted for the Bill seeks re-election, it may reasonably be presumed, in the absence of any intimation that he has changed his mind, that he will continue to do so if returned again. But there are some members who have never voted at all, and others who, after once or twice voting on the measure, some for and some against, have afterwards absented themselves from the divisions. Such men as these, as well as all new candidates, should have persuasion addressed to them at the period when their minds are most plastic, and they are most open to argument and conviction. Although the dissolution may perhaps not take place till the beginning of 1881, preparations for it will be carried on during the winter, and candidates are even now addressing meetings in the constituencies to expound their own principles, and to listen to the views of those whom they desire to represent. This, then, is the golden opportunity to obtain the ear of candidates, and we have confidence that our friends will not fail to profit by it.

With this indication of the work of the coming season, your Committee respectfully solicit a renewal of their trust, and of the support which has been so cordially afforded to them in their efforts to discharge it.

MANCHESTER NATIONAL SOCIETY FOR WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE.

RULES.

- I. The object of the Society is, to obtain for Women the right of voting for Members of Parliament on the same conditions as it is, or may be, granted to men.
- II. Approval of the objects of the Society, and an annual subscription of any amount shall constitute membership.
- III. The subscriptions are due on the first day of January for the current year.
- IV. An Executive Committee shall be appointed at an Annual General Meeting, which committee shall have power to add to its number.
- V. The committee, at its first meeting subsequent to the Annual Meeting, shall appoint a secretary and a treasurer.
- VI. A General Meeting of the Society shall be held once a year to receive the report, the statement of accounts, to appoint the committee, and transact any other business which may arise.
- VII. A Special General Meeting of the Society may be called at any time by the committee, and, at the written request of twenty-five Members, the secretary shall call a Special Meeting. At such meeting no subjects shall be discussed but those mentioned in the notice summoning the members.
- VIII. No General Meeting of the Society shall be called without eight days' public notice of such meeting.
- IX. These rules shall not be altered except at a General Meeting; and no rule shall be altered at any meeting unless a month's notice of such proposed alteration has been given to the committee.

MANCHESTER NATIONAL SOCIETY FOR WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE.

Members of the Society and others are earnestly requested to aid the movement for procuring the passing of the Bill to remove the electoral disabilities of women.

- I. By bringing the question under the notice of Members of Parliament, whenever they appear before their constituents.
- II. Should notice of any motion, friendly or hostile, be given in the House of Commons—by writing letters, asking the local Members to support the principle of Women's Suffrage.
- III. In case of an election, by calling on every candidate to declare whether he will, if returned, vote for the Bill to remove the electoral disabilities of women.
- IV. By trying to procure insertion of facts and arguments bearing on the question, in the local press.
- V. By collecting signatures to the petition, forms of which may be obtained from the Secretary.
- VI. By communicating to the Secretary any information likely to be useful to the Society, and the names of such persons as may be disposed to assist the cause.
- VII. Where there are three or four members in the same place, by uniting to form a local committee.
  - VIII. By endeavouring to increase the number of members.
- IX. By extending the organisation of the Society through the medium of corresponding members or local committees. All persons willing to render such assistance are earnestly requested to communicate with the Secretary.

Further information will be willingly afforded to all who may desire it.

LYDIA E. BECKER, SECRETARY, 28, Jackson's Row, Albert Square, Manchester.
