Dear Miss Dock;

I have seen a copy of your letter of August 12 to Miss Paul -- so I know that Fayetteville is still your address and I can obey the impulse that I have had for several years and write to you again. I noted your name in the I.W.W. list for the Christmas collection -- several Decembers -- and meant to write then.

I remember our first meeting -- in New York by letter appointment. You had the current suffrage papers ready for me because "I had been traveling and had not seen them" This was 1911. We have met in Washington and even in Palo Alto.

I note with enthusiasm the last sentence in your very short letter to Miss Paul -- "if I knew anyone to pray to". I call myself a Pantheist.

I have not taken one side of the row in Washington. I have read both sides.

I am as well as anybody -- and ride my bicycle every day.

I am glad we have been friends so long.

With love

Yours for Women
