I feel very guilty, dear Kelly, in not having thanked you for the very kind conveyance of our things to the Peters, but I have been so disturbed in mind lately, partly owing to the uncertainty about my mother's treatment and removal. She is at Blankenburg now with my sisters, and I have a young friend staying with me to cheer my solitude.

My plans for the summer-vacation are quite uncertain yet, and I shall like to hear of your movements at the time. I hope your time to the Tennys agreed with you. Yours affectly
