Dear Eric.

July 13th - at 1.15 at the try with suit and put as well.
I am cancelling everything from now till the end of July except this lunch with you and one lecture I've got to take, because V.G. has suddenly announced "Honorable estate" for publication on Oct. 26th or thereabouts, <sup>to all the publishers,</sup> and I have still 45,000 words to write! Macmillan nearly went crazy because they want to publish at the same time, and I've promised to be a hero and try to finish at the end of July so that they can. I can't work at high speed in my own house but I can't go away either as there is too much to look up, but I am going to my mother at 37 Edwards Square for two or three weeks. Don't tell anyone what I am, as all telephonics will surely be told I am away.

Yours

Vera.
