On the whole I think this far from satisfactory. The fact that I have spent more than I ought to have received is startling, but is partly accounted for by presents at various times & arrears of Interest on one occasion, altogether amounting to about the difference. But the Charity column is what I am most ashamed of.

The large amount for dress is I am sure exceptional, as my wardrobe is in a very much better condition in Sept 1883 than in Sept 1882. Whether in future I can keep within the £24 I am not sure, but it will be certainly ~~within~~ a good deal under £30.

I state the amounts for the two half years separately because though of course the time of year has much to do with the relative <sup>amounts</sup> I think ~~it~~ some improvement is evident since the Easter holidays when the matter was seriously talked over.
