Dear Mrs Roberts

Miss Cooper & I had a talk about the proposal that I should supply the historical part of the projected book, and we think of a definite invitation to me was forthcoming (after Miss Ryder had decided and so forth) The C.L.W.S. might agree to give me leave of absence to do the necessary study at the British Museum. seeing it is all for the cause.

My name will ² be clear rather in obeyance just now it would be easier than if there were not any continental clarity in progress. My original intention was to do the "Decomposition" was for the C.L.U.S. to produce a series of similar pamphlets covering the whole ground, but as I don't see any prospect of my dream coming true in this direction I am the more ready to go in another.

I think, in a preface, I would like to say exactly what parts of the book I am responsible for. Unless for an exceptionally good reason I am not keen on anonymous books - the C.L.U.S. would come in at all, of course. I write for other papers occasionally in my own name or initials.

I was rather disappointed in Miss Peters' Trenchard's article. It was good in parts but too generally vague to be of the value it might have been, and I thought she had a mistake by hitting up against Kikuyu at the start. It would be wise to let her have decent burial.

My "Subjection" article has been acknowledged by the 'Commonwealth' but I don't know yet if it will go in.
If it does I have a few more up my sleeve. "The Power of the Keys." "Holy Motherhood." "Silent Women." etc.

Kindest regards

S. Anne Gilchrist.
