Dear Miss Ward,

How very anxious you must be after your weeks of hard work at the necessary organisation. I suppose the abandonment of the Pilgrimage has been considered necessary owing to the Coal Strike and the curtailment of trains.

When I came back from Manchester on Wed. the train was crammed and people standing in the corridor so densely that it was impossible to see out of the windows on the corridor side of the carriage at all. Have you heard anything from Miss Raymond about it.

Yours with sympathy

M. G. Dawkins
