Dear Mr Russell,

I am writing today I but I must give up the Crosby Hall Dinner this evening. I have a dreadfully full day and though very happy & triumphant, on the night-victors, I am very tired. So please make my excuse for me. It is almost exactly 61 years ago

Since I heard that in London the Suffrage movement was in the Reform Bill of 1867 on May 20th 1867.

I have had extraordinarily good luck in having seen the struggle through from the beginning.

With cordial greetings & good wishes

Yours sincerely

M. G. Fulbright
