Dear Miss Strachey,

I have just been informed of some "anti" tactics which the London S<sub>c</sub> might think it worth while to copy. They have written to every political agent asking him for names of persons likely to be interested to whom they can send literature. Now an agent does not have to bring such a request before any committee as a secretary must & he has all the information required in his possession. Could this not be done for the suffrag<sup>s</sup>? Anti are working with great vigour down here

(everywhere else I understand) It is very necessary to counteract their efforts on a large scale.

I suppose public libraries have been approached? The anti-suffrage review is in many of them.

Yours sincerely
