My dearest Pip,

I hope you are better than when last I saw you. I shall soon see you again. Isn't this paper jaundiced. I don't know what to do about my clo! M. Michel came here to lunch to-day. He is thoroughly French. He jabbered a good deal & was rather squashed I think. He looks much calmer than Burgau dy or Mathieu. I pray that the things will go off all right; there is such a fuss about them. Ethel Hoall arrived last night but I have not yet spoken to her except to say how dye do? & good morning. I embraced her fervently & she was horribly stalled. I thought she would have a fit. Alice Sebenham is here also. Crowds of curious individuals will be there to-morrow; I warn you.

Daisy Lichel said she had quite fallen in love with the room. Also Frederick. I hope you will get on all right to-morrow. I don't know what that last means.
This letter is rather warden-ing I fear. We had a dress rehearsal of La Poudre aurore

Yours yesterday but as I had no clothes except what I borrowed there wasn't much dress about it. Daisy & I have presented Bertha with "When Love is kind." Isn't it noble? I shall now say

Goodbye
yr loving
Pea.
