Aug. 22. 11.

Dear Mr. L. Yates

So very sorry have to refuse you — I am laying myself on the shelf; not taking any meetings (after next week) booking no engagements whatsoever, pulling myself under a W.
— health keeps on giving out.
Also I want to write my book impossible combine this with

Meeting, with pulling jobs etc. So for present alas!
must ask you, as all the others, to consider me buried.

I return to London soon & hope before very long to be asking you if I may come down & see Mary Southrop.

By the way the Dr.
I am going to is a Dr. May American - is there not some suggestion that he seemed "threat" Mary? I believe Miss Blackcut very fond of him. He seems to me thoughtful sound, sensible, honest, & clever but when I've personally tested him I shall know more.

I am so very sorry your had a breakdown. I can't even say how grateful I feel to you for taking the care you do of Mary - nor how I envy you for being that fortunate. But the long strain of anxiety responsibility & actual nursing toil must be tremendous.

Yr. always, sincerely

Estabance Lytton.
