Dear Mr. Pearsall Smith,

Did you get the money you so kindly advanced me on my last story? If you did, you will remember that the price was ten pounds more than I had. You lent me £50, and the price they agreed
for was £60.
If you have received

it, would you be so good as let me have the £10. for till September I don't know what to do for loose
cash. I am sorry to trouble you as
perhaps you too
are away from London, but a Cheque is easily

written.

Hoping to see you
all before we leave
in October, & hoping also your eyes are better & will soon
be well.

I am yours most truly

George MacDonald.
