Miss M. Damer Dawson
10 Cheyne Row, Chelsea.
London England.

My dear Miss Dawson, Miss May Morris has referred me to you as perhaps willing to act as a local agent for me in England.
If you will do so I shall be glad.
I have had one offer already, on a 15% commission, but as this was from a distinctly suffrage source, I hesitated.
I wish to lecture on my own special topics as far as possible; and while I am a warm supporter of Equal Suffrage, I prefer to appear primarily as a thinker on general humanitarian lines. With this go several of my lecture circulars; and some recent descriptive matter. You can I think obtain of Mr. Fisher Unwin, my English publisher, plenty of recent review notices, or at least access to them - or I can send you some if necessary.
Mr. Unwin has my two next-to-the-latest books, and might be able to cooperate in some way with the lecture courses, if any are arranged, I should like very much a special subscription course, in a drawing room perhaps, say the three on "Man", "Woman" and "Child"; or any other preferred, and to have this advertised in a small special circular. ^{The 'clubs' are & could} ^{useful too, I have addressed} ^{some of them, the same for} ^{interest.}

As to my own terms, I should like to get my usual rate of $50.00 - £10. - net; for a lecture; but you know best what can be done.

If you will undertake this please let me know at once; and I will refer all applications to you. I must of course decline free lecturing if I expect to make business engagements, but you should be the judge of that also; there may be cases when a free address would be good advertising.

I enclose also a list of my English subscribers - they would be interested I think in hearing me, or in promoting lectures.

I have already spoken in England, in 1896-99 - and 1905.
Yours truly
Justine to hear from you soon, Charlotte Perkins Gilman.

(In Manchester or Birmingham I think I might command an audience in a public lecture, possibly in London too. all that would be for you to arrange and decide.
