Dear Mrs Roberts,

This really is a confounded nuisance. Only yesterday a man who writes regularly for this paper said he would write an article on the subject + I told him we would probably print it. In the nature of things he is unlikely to have all the information you have but I can't go back on it. He's writing rather on the historical & anecdotal side. I think we can't very well take a very long time on the current controversy itself.

I may, if there's time a you don't mind, send you a brief of his article to see if you any suggestions to make as to addenda.
