Dear Miss Norton

Thank you very much for your prompt and invaluable help about dates, addresses and Marie Soustelle. My son in law at once remembered that she figures in Mr Holroyd's Biography of Lytton Strachey - I shall read that book again more carefully, or at least the relevant parts. Marie Soustelle has a fiendishly difficult handwriting but I have now decyphered (spelling?) all but a few words: it is a fascinating letter in this context.

I am sure John Carter must be right about the bill; I will hand it to Arthur Crook when the article is finished and perhaps suggest to him a facsimile of my letter.

Thank you very much for saying I may ask for help again if I find I need it. I will do that unhesitatingly now, if I do.

Yours sincerely

Joan Bennett.
