

Copy of Millicent's reply to the Queen

AL/2391

Your Majesty's sympathy with me in my deep affliction has filled me with sincere gratitude, and I beg most respectfully and earnestly to tender my heartfelt thanks, not only for your Majesty's sympathy towards myself, but also the generous appreciation which your Majesty's letter evinces, of the great qualities possessed by my dear Husband . . .

I have been greatly sustained by the present outburst of sympathy with me & my child and also by the faith that my dear Husband's character & work will still prove a power for good in all those who have come under his influence .

Again most respectfully thanking your Majesty for the letter received to day, I remain your Majesty's obedient servant Millicent Garrett Fawcett

Copy of Millicent's reply to the Prince of Wales .

Sir
I have been deeply touched by the kind sym-pathy extended to me by the Prince and yourself in my present great sorrow and I respectfully beg to offer to you and to her my sincere and earnest thanks.
It has been a consolation to me in my bereavement to feel how universally my dear Husband was beloved,

& to know that his great qualities have been appre-ciated by all classes of his countrymen.

Again thanking you for the ready sympathy so kindly extended to me, Believe me to be Sir

Your Royal Highness's ^{servant} humble,

Millicent Garrett Fawcett
