Dear Mrs. Fawcett,

Pray accept as a Christmas greeting my Portrait Album in which you will find portraits of yourself and your daughter.

I should think you were in tolerably fair spirits just now over the events in Ireland. I also am in tolerably fair spirits. I am afraid that you must be superior in virtue to the rest of your Party if you do not entertain a lingering hope that Mr. Parnell may triumph over the English wolves who are howling for his destruction.

I am,

Yours truly,

W. T. Stead
