PART I.—General Information.

1.—The School in Peacetime.

THE LONDON SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS AND POLITICAL SCIENCE was founded in 1895. Its object was to provide courses of study for those engaged in business and in central or local government, and to give facilities for research and investigation. In 1900 the School became in effect a college of the University of London and began to give teaching in preparation for degrees. In consequence, the work of the School has been greatly expanded, and students may now pursue a University course at the School for the internal degrees of Bachelor, Master or Doctor of Science (Economics); Bachelor or Master of Commerce; Bachelor, Master or Doctor of Laws; Bachelor or Master of Arts (in the subjects of Anthropology, Geography, History and Sociology); Doctor of Philosophy or Doctor of Literature.

It is also possible to study at the School for the Academic Diplomas in Geography and Public Administration, and for the Academic Post-graduate Diplomas in Anthropology, in Psychology and in Sociology and Social Administration. Instruction is provided for the University Extension Diplomas in Economics and in Social Studies, while the School itself offers certificates in Social Science and Administration, in Mental Health, and in International Studies. There are in addition four special courses of study: a one-year course in Business Administration; a Civil Service course; a two-term course in Colonial Administration; and a summer-term course of Studies of Contemporary Britain.

The School is open equally to day and evening and to men and women students. In addition to Entrance Scholarships and Post-graduate Studentships, numerous Scholarships, Bursaries and Prizes are available during a student's undergraduate career. Details of these will be found on pp. 101-108.

The history of the School has been one of continuous development and extension. Beginning work in a few rooms in John's Street, Adelphi, the School moved in 1902 to Clare Market where, on a site provided by the London County Council, the Passmore Edwards Hall was erected as a result of a munificent gift from the donor whose name it commemorates. By the gradual acquisition of property to the east and south of this site, and after the war of 1914-18, on the opposite side of the neighbouring Houghton Street, the School has been able to erect new buildings having a floor area of some 150,000 square feet.

This expansion was made possible only through the generosity of numerous donors, notably the London County Council, the Commerce Degree Fund, the Rockefeller Foundation, and many private individuals.

The teaching work of the School covers almost the whole breadth of the social sciences: in particular Economics, Commerce, Banking, Industry and Transport; Statistics; Political Science and Public Administration; Sociology, Social Anthropology (including Colonial Administration), Social Science and Administration; Social and Economic History; Law in all its aspects; Criminology; International Affairs and International History; Geography; Psychology; Demography; Logic, Scientific Method; and Modern Languages.

The teaching staff includes 18 Professors and 18 Readers of the University of London; 25 Lecturers and 22 Assistant Lecturers, Tutors and Assistants. Some twenty or thirty additional persons participate in the teaching work by giving special courses of lectures.

About three thousand students register at the School each year; of these about half are regular students taking full courses; five hundred are intercollegiate students registered at other university institutions but coming to the School for part of their courses; and nearly a thousand are persons attending lectures for purposes not necessarily connected with the attainment of a University qualification. In each recent peacetime session a fifth of the students have come to the School from other countries in Europe and overseas.

The Library of the School is the British Library of Political and Economic Science. It is the largest library of its kind in Great Britain, and contains a great mass of material not found elsewhere. For this reason, among others, the School has become an important centre for research in the social sciences. Research students are provided with many special facilities within the Library itself and also generally within the School. One-tenth of the student body is usually made up of research students who have already graduated. All regular students of the School are admitted to the Library, which is also open to other approved readers.

The prosecution of research is a normal part of the work of the School. Co-ordinated research work is carried on by the Economic Research Division and the Social Research Division; a History Research Division has been established. Some part of the research work is published in the two quarterly journals, Economica and Politica, which are issued by the School; the former covers the field of research in Economics, Economic History and Statistics; the latter the fields of Political Science, Sociology, International Law and Relations, and allied subjects. The School also publishes two Series of Reprints of works which by their scarcity are not generally available to students; a series of Monographs on Social Anthropology, and an Annual Survey of English Law Cases. It sponsors the publications of the London and Cambridge Economic Service, and a number of series of studies in Economics and Political Science and the like.

The School is directed by a Court of Governors (see pp. 10—12) on which the teaching staff is represented. The work of the Court is in the main carried out by committees, in particular by the Standing Committee which meets monthly; the Court is advised by special consultative bodies with regard to Railway Studies and the Department of Business Administration. A special Committee of the Court is responsible for Library matters.

All professors and readers, many lecturers and four representatives of the Junior Staff are members of the Professorial Council which reviews all academic matters. The principal committee of the Council is the General Purposes Committee, constituted partly by rotation of membership and partly by election.

The Students' Union, founded in 1897 but formally constituted by the Governors in 1920, has as its object the promotion of the social life of the students. All regular students of the School are made full members of the Union and limited membership is open to occasional students. The School possesses an excellent athletic ground of twenty acres at New Malden, Surrey. The Union maintains Athletic Clubs and a whole range of student societies; it publishes the student-journal, Clare Market Review. Students leaving the School may retain their connection with it by becoming members of the London School of Economics Society (formerly the Old Students' Association).

2.—The School in Wartime

The Session 1939-40

At the outbreak of the war the premises of the School were taken over for Government purposes, and the School, in common with other Colleges of London University, left London. The School was most fortunate in that the University of Cambridge offered hospitality which was gladly accepted; furthermore, the Governing Body of Peterhouse gave up to the School a block of its buildings known as The Hostel, and also made available athletic facilities on a generous scale to the students of the School. The administrative headquarters of the School were established at The Hostel, and other accommodation was secured nearby for purposes of teaching and research and to serve as the centre for students' activities. Close co-operation in teaching work between the School and the University of Cambridge was established; certain lecture courses were provided jointly, and students of the School were admitted to regular Cambridge courses and Cambridge students to courses of the School on the basis of reciprocity. Reading privileges in the University Library and in specialist libraries, notably the Marshall Library, were granted to members of the School. Books belonging to the School were transferred from London and formed a lending library for students.

A large proportion of the regular students were able to follow the School to Cambridge and to continue their studies there. Billets for students were found in many private houses, and a number of students who would otherwise have been unable to come to Cambridge were assisted financially by a scheme of maintenance grants. Since the London Colleges, with which the School had the closest intercollegiate relationships, were removed to other parts of the country, there was a large reduction in the number of intercollegiate students, while the number of occasional students fell to a low figure. The research activities of the School were resumed at Cambridge and among the regular students were included a number working for Higher Degrees. Of the School's journals, the publication of Economica was continued, though it proved necessary to suspend publication of Politica.

In order to carry on the evening work of the School, temporary accommodation was secured at Canterbury Hall, Cartwright Gardens, and within three weeks of the formal date of opening of the Michaelmas term, teaching and library facilities were available for evening students; courses of public lectures were also organised at this centre during the session. At Canterbury Hall the tripartite scheme for legal teaching, which has long existed between the School, King's College and University College, was maintained so far as evening work was concerned; law teaching in day-time, however, was conducted independently by each College at its new centre in the provinces.

During the session leave was given to certain members of the academic staff to enter Government service and it was thus not possible to continue the whole range of the usual lectures; both in Cambridge and in London, however, all the courses necessary for first degrees and for most of the diplomas and certificates were given in full. It was necessary to suspend the following courses: Railway Study, the Civil Service, Business Administration and Contemporary Britain.

The success of the School's first session under war conditions exceeded all expectations. There were 620 students registered in Cambridge and 359 students registered in London, making a total of 979 students for the session.

The Session 1940-41

In the summer of 1940 the question of the return of the School to London was discussed. The decision to return was taken, but the extension of bombing to London led first to the suspension, and then to the abandonment of this plan. The School, therefore, remained in Cambridge, where it is likely to stay until the end of the war. The Governing Body of Peterhouse were good enough to renew the tenancy of The Hostel, and the School was able to secure additional accommodation for teaching and other purposes. Under these circumstances the School had ample facilities, during its second session, to continue its teaching, research and other activities. The co-operation in teaching between the School and the University of Cambridge, which was so marked a feature of the arrangements in 1939-40, was continued and augmented.

The intensification of air-raids on London led the Governors of the School to the conclusion that a centre for evening teaching could not be maintained. As a consequence of war conditions there were very few enquiries from those wishing to begin study for evening degree courses, and a decision was reached that no new entrants should be accepted for such courses, but that a scheme of help for evening students already registered should be put into force.

The suspension of evening teaching in London put an end for the time being to the maintenance of the tripartite scheme for Law teaching, so far as evening work is concerned. In respect of day teaching, however, the tripartite scheme, which was inoperative in the session 1939-40, was, in part, restored in the session 1940-41. The Law Department of University College was transferred to Cambridge at the beginning of the session and a joint scheme of teaching was put in force.

Owing to the temporary suspension of formal teaching for evening students, there was a decline in the total number of students registered at the School in the session 1940-41 compared with the number for 1939-40. The number registered at Cambridge, however, namely 615, was almost equal to the number at Cambridge in the previous session, namely 620.

The Session 1941-42

Work was continued at Cambridge and in general was on the lines already described, which have become the established practice for the School in war-time. The tripartite scheme of teaching in Law was fully restored for day students owing to the transference to Cambridge of the Law Department of King's College.

The total number of day students at Cambridge increased from 615 to 753. The major part of the increase was due to the presence of students sent by various government departments to follow special courses. The number of regular day students, however, also increased from 493 to 526. Among them were 41 postgraduate students; the School is still able to provide good facilities for research work, and postgraduate students who contemplate registering for the session 1942-43 should consult Part VII of this prospectus.

Teaching will be carried on during the session 1942-43 for day students in Cambridge where, as indicated above, excellent facilities for teaching, research and athletics, are available. Students will continue to be billeted mainly in private houses and on acceptance are being asked to state their requirements in order that Dr. Vera Anstey, who has taken charge of the billeting for students, may make the necessary arrangements for them.

PART III.—Admission of Students.

1.—Classification of Students.

1. Students are classified as Regular, Occasional and Research Students. Regular Students are those paying a fee for a degree, diploma, or certificate course, or for any other full course; Occasional Students are those paying a fee for one or more separate courses of lectures; Research Students are those paying the research fee. No distinction in these categories is made between day and evening students, but registration for degree or diploma courses provided for evening students is restricted to persons in regular employment during the day.

2. No person will normally be admitted as a student under eighteen years of age. Exception is made in approved cases only for persons who, although below that age, have already matriculated in the University of London by passing the Matriculation Examination or by obtaining exemption from it.

3. Admission to the School implies an undertaking by the student to observe the School Regulations (see p. 22 below).

REGULAR STUDENTS.

4. Unless specially exempted by the Director, persons are admitted as Regular Students only after they have been seen, and their applications have been approved, by an Admitting Dean. Persons desiring admission as Regular Students should obtain a form of application from the School, Section I of which should be filled up and returned accompanied by two letters of recommendation as to character and ability from persons to whom they are well known, one of whom should, if possible, be the head of the educational institution last attended. If the form is in order arrangements will be made for the applicant to be interviewed.

5. If the Admitting Dean is satisfied that the applicant is qualified for admission as a Regular Student, he will settle the details of the course to be followed, assist the applicant to fill in Section II of the form, and endorse the application as approved by him. The applicant, on paying the requisite fees, will then be admitted as a Regular Student of the School and a full member of the Students' Union, and will receive an admission card which must be produced at any time on demand.

6. Any person desiring to enter the School as a Regular Student should normally apply for registration before the last day of June preceding the opening of the session for which admission is desired. Arrangements will then be made for his interview and the question of admitting him will be decided before the departure of Admitting Deans for the Summer vacation.

7. Any person applying after the end of June for admission as a Regular Student will be admitted only if vacancies remain to be filled, and it will not, as a rule, be possible to arrange for an interview or to decide upon his admission until the latter part of September.

8. Students whose mother tongue is not English will be admitted as Regular Students for degrees, diplomas and certificates only on showing proficiency in English. For this purpose they will be required to attend a qualifying examination to be held at the School on the Tuesday in the week preceding the opening of the Session and a fee will be charged. On the results of that examination they may be admitted unconditionally or admitted subject to attending special courses in English and paying the requisite additional fee, or refused admission until they can qualify themselves to pass the examination. Any foreign student who finds it impossible to come to England in time for this examination should apply not later than 15th September for leave to be examined later. All students governed by this regulation should make application for provisional registration as far in advance as possible of the opening of the Session.

9. No student is allowed to register or study for more than one examination, whether of the University of London or of the School, at the same time unless he has previously obtained in writing the express permission of the Director of the School. Students registering for a course of study for an examination of the University or of the School who wish to study concurrently for an examination held by an outside body are required to state this fact when applying for admission to the School. Students failing to disclose this fact are liable to have their registration cancelled. The Director reserves the right to cancel registration in any case where he is of the opinion that it would not be in the best interests of the student to combine study for an outside examination with his course at the School.

ADMISSION FOR FIRST DEGREES.

10. Before a student can be registered at the School as a candidate for a first degree of the University of London (i.e., B.Sc.(Econ.), B.Com., LL.B., B.A.) he must matriculate in the University of London. A student may matriculate in the University either :—

x provision I follow

- (1) by passing the Matriculation Examination of the University of London, or
- (2) by satisfying the conditions for Matriculation at the General School Examination, or by passing the General School Examination and subsequently qualifying for a Higher School Certificate, or
- (3) by passing the Special University Entrance Examination, or
- (4) by obtaining exemption from the Matriculation Examination in view of holding some other qualification accepted for the purpose by the University of London.

All enquiries relating to matriculation should be addressed to the Secretary, Matriculation and School Examinations Council, University of London, from whom the regulations may be obtained relating to the Matriculation Examination, to the Special University Entrance Examination, and to exemption from the Matriculation Examination.

RE-REGISTRATION OF FIRST DEGREE STUDENTS.

11. Except by special permission of the Director, registered students of the School who have failed twice in a degree examination, whether intermediate or final, or who have completed the normal day or evening course of study for such examination and have failed to enter without adequate reason, will not be eligible for re-registration.

12. Students of the School who fail in an intermediate or final examination, or in any part thereof, will not be permitted in the year following such examination to take any work at the School other than work for that examination (or part of examination) in which they failed. Departures from this rule will only be made in the case of students whose failure is due to exceptional circumstances and will be subject to such conditions as the Director may require in any particular case.

ADMISSION FOR HIGHER DEGREES.

(See Part VII, p. 94).

UNIVERSITY REGISTRATION.

13. Students of the University of London are Internal, External or Associate Students. Candidates for First Degrees, Higher Degrees and Diplomas, and research students not proceeding to a Higher Degree, are registered as Internal Students. Candidates for London School of Economics Certificates may register as Associate Students. Except for special reasons, persons preparing for External Degrees or Diplomas and registered as External Students are not admitted as students of the School.

Registration schedules are returned by the School authorities to the University on behalf of students due for registration as Internal or Associate Students, and a card is issued by the University to each student whose registration has been approved. No fee is required by the University on registration as an Internal or Associate Student from a student who has matriculated. A Diploma Student who has not matriculated is required to pay a University fee of £3 3s. od. on registration as an Internal Student. An Advanced Student (i.e., a student who secures exemption from the whole or part of the Intermediate Examination in virtue of a previous Degree) or a graduate who has not taken his first degree in this University is required to pay a University Registration Fee of £5 5s. A Research or Associate Student is required to pay a registration fee of 10s. 6d.

OCCASIONAL STUDENTS.

14. A person desiring admission as an Occasional Student must obtain a form of application from the Registrar of the School and must return this either personally or by post at least six days before the opening of the term in which the lectures or classes which he desires to attend are to be given.

15. Every such person will be asked to state on the form of application his qualifications for study at the School and the purpose for which he wishes to study, and may be invited to attend for interview before admission. The School will not as a rule be prepared to admit as an Occasional Student a person whom it would not admit as a Regular Student.

16. If the application is accepted, the student will, on payment of the fees, receive a card of admission for the lectures and classes named thereon, and must produce this on demand.

RESEARCH STUDENTS.

17. Research Students may be admitted at any time subject to the approval of the Director. The Research Fee entitles the student to attend one seminar, to receive individual guidance from a teacher, and to use the Library and Common Room.

2.—School Regulations.

1. All students are bound to obey all rules made and instructions given by the Director of the School or under his authority, and to refrain from any conduct derogatory to the character or welfare of the School. For any breach of this obligation students are liable to be fined in any sum not exceeding £5, to be suspended either from all use of the School or from any particular privileges, or to be expelled from the School.

2. The penalties of expulsion and of suspension for more than three months may be inflicted only by the Board of Discipline constituted by the Governors, and students subjected to these penalties shall have the right of appeal from the Board to the Standing Committee of the Governors. The other penalties may be inflicted by the Director or under his authority.

3. The Director may at his discretion refuse to any applicant admission to a course of study at the School or continuance in a course beyond the normal period required for its completion. He may refuse renewed registration within such normal period to any student on the ground of inability or lack of industry or for other good cause.

4. No student who has been expelled, suspended, or refused registration under the preceding provisions shall be entitled to the return of any fees paid by him, nor can the return of fees be claimed on the ground of absence due to illness or other causes.

5. The copyright in lectures delivered in the School is vested in the lecturers, and notes taken at lectures may be used only for purposes of private study.

6. The general control of all premises occupied by the School is vested in the Director. Regular use of these premises is confined to the staff and to students holding current Students' tickets. In addition members of the London School of Economics Society are granted certain privileges, subject to variation from time to time, and persons holding readers' tickets are admitted to the use of the Library, in accordance with the Library rules and subject to the authority of the Librarian. Persons introducing visitors to School premises will be held responsible for their conduct.

7. The School premises may not, without permission from the Director or Secretary, be used for the sale or organised distribution of books, papers or other articles, or for the making of collections for charitable or other purposes.

8. The name and address of the School may not without permission from the Director, be used for letters addressed to the Press, or on matter for circulation, or for business or for propaganda.

BOARD OF DISCIPLINE.

As a war-time measure the Board of Discipline, formerly consisting of the Director, two members of the Court of Governors, and two Professors appointed by the Professorial Council, has been replaced by a Committee of Discipline consisting of the Director and two persons of professorial status, with power to suspend a student or take disciplinary action of a less drastic character. A decision of the Committee of Discipline will remain in force until the next meeting of the Standing Committee of the Court of Governors.

PART IV.—Dates and Fees.

1.—Dates of Terms.

SCHOOL TERMS : 1942-43.

Michaelmas Term.

Monday, 5th October, to Friday, 4th December, 1942.

Lent Term.

Monday, 11th January, to Friday, 12th March, 1943.

Summer Term.

Monday, 19th April, to Friday, 11th June, 1943.

2.—Fees.

The sessional and terminal fees given below must be paid in full in each case before the beginning of the session or term to which they relate.

Cheques should be made payable to the "London School of Economics" and should be crossed "Not Negotiable". Fees are not returnable.

All Composition Fees include a Students' Union subscription, entitling to full membership and privileges.

The Degree Composition Fees cover lectures, classes and individual supervision.

The School does not normally issue receipts for the payment of fees, but an Admission Ticket is given to the Student.

ENTRANCE REGISTRATION FEES.

An entrance registration fee is payable by all Regular Students attending at the School for the first time. This fee is :—

For students applying from overseas £2 2s.

For students not applying from overseas £1 1s.

Entrants whose mother-tongue is not English will be expected before acceptance to pass a qualifying examination in that language, for which a special fee of 10s. 6d. will be payable.

Students who have not passed the London Matriculation or who have not been exempted from it should refer to p. 19.

All new applications must be completed and fees be paid before the beginning of the session or term to which they relate.

The fees given in the tables above cover the approved courses of study. When a Higher Degree student has completed his approved course of study he may be permitted by the authorities of the School, on application, to continue his registration. He will then be required to pay a continuation fee of £4 4s. a session, entitling him to receive advice from his supervising teacher and to attend one seminar, but not to attend any lecture-courses.

The fees for Higher Degrees also cover attendance by the student at all such lectures at the School as he is advised by his supervising teacher to attend. In cases where he is advised to attend a course given at one of the other institutions of the University, the permission of the Secretary of the School must first be obtained.

Notes.

(a) If a day student is advised by his Adviser of Studies to spread the degree course over four sessions (evening students, four or five sessions) instead of three, no additional fee in respect of the fourth (evening students, fourth and fifth) session will be charged once the Composition fee for three whole sessions has been paid. If, however, extension to a fourth or further session arises through failure at an Intermediate or Final Examination, half-fees will be charged in respect of the session next following the examination at which the student failed if the course, or part of the course, is repeated.

(b) The fees cover language teaching, but in respect of French it will be assumed that students have attained Matriculation standard and the fee covers only teaching beyond that standard.

(c) Special arrangements have been made for the teaching of LL.B. students in wartime. Normally the fee covers all courses approved for the LL.B. degree whether given at the School, University College or King's College, and such other lectures as the student is advised by his Adviser of Studies to attend at the School; day students will also be allowed to attend without further payment, if so advised, not more than one course at either of the other two colleges. This concession does not cover a second attendance by a day student at any of the prescribed courses except in the case of his being referred in one subject at an Intermediate Examination. If an evening student is advised by his Adviser of Studies to spread the Intermediate course over two sessions instead of one and/or the Final course over three sessions instead of two, no additional fee will be charged in respect of the second and/or fifth session or sessions of the student's course for the degree. The fee entitles the student to full Students' Union privileges at the School and to Common Room privileges at the two other colleges.

(d) The fees cover admission to the necessary lectures at other colleges to which the student may be sent under intercollegiate arrangements, and entitle the student to Common Room privileges there as well as to full membership of the Students' Union of the School.

(e) The lower fees payable by graduates of the School are charged also to graduates of other colleges of the University provided that they attended lectures at the School under intercollegiate arrangements during the course for their First Degree and provided also that they are taking their Higher Degree in a subject cognate to the subject or subjects taken for their First Degree.

(f) These fees entitle the student to the advice and guidance of an Adviser of Studies and attendance at such lecture-courses and seminars as are approved by his Adviser in each of the three subjects which he is offering for the Degree. A student spreading the work for the Degree over two sessions may, with the consent of the teacher concerned, repeat a seminar or course already taken or take further seminars or lecture-courses, subject to the condition that he shall not in either session without further payment attend more than the equivalent of three full courses. The fees entitle the student to tutorial advice and to full Students' Union privileges at the School and, in peace-time, to the use of the libraries and other facilities afforded to Intercollegiate Students by the other two colleges participating in the Law Scheme.

Notes.

(g) Students taking Academic Diplomas are required to register as Internal Students of the University and this, in the case of a non-matriculated student, necessitates the payment of a University Registration fee of £3 3s., additional to the School's entrance registration fee.

(h) The fee covers admission to necessary lectures at other colleges to which the student may be sent under intercollegiate arrangements.

(j) An additional fee may be charged to cover practical work in the case of a student taking Section C.

(k) If an evening student is advised by his Adviser of Studies to spread the course over three sessions instead of two, no additional fee in respect of the third session will be charged once the Composition fee for two whole sessions has been paid. If, however, extension to a third session arises through failure at an Examination, half-fees will be charged for the third session in which the course, or part of the course, is repeated.

(l) If, owing to failure at an Examination, a student extends his course to cover the session next following, half-fees will be charged for the session in which the course, or part of the course, is repeated.

(m) If the course is taken in one Session, the fee is £31 10s. for the session or £11 11s. for each term, unless it is taken consecutively with the course for the Diploma in Sociology and Social Administration, when the fee will be £28 for the session or £10 10s. for each term.

(n) Students taking Certificates may register as Associate Students of the University and this, in the case of a non-matriculated student, necessitates the payment of a University Registration fee of 10s. 6d.

COMPOSITION FEE FOR THE COURSE IN COLONIAL ADMINISTRATION.

Fee for the two-term Course, £12 12s. ; for one term, £7 7s.

This fee covers all the lectures and seminars provided within the Colonial Administration course, and any other lectures which the student is advised by the Tutor responsible for the course to attend.

COMPOSITION FEE FOR GENERAL FULL COURSE.

The payment of a sessional fee of £27 6s. or a terminal fee of £10 10s. entitles a day student to suit his special needs by selecting from among the lectures given at the School a wide course of study not leading to any particular degree or diploma : such selection must, however, be approved officially by the Registrar. Evening students may also be admitted in a similar way in special circumstances; application must, however, in the first instance, be made to the Registrar. The sessional fee for an evening student is £17 10s., the terminal fee, £6 6s.

The fee does not admit to the examinations which are held in connection with certain courses, does not cover classes to which admittance is limited, nor courses provided at other Colleges, nor does it entitle the student to any supervision of written work.

Students who desire to pursue an approved course of study, however, may in certain circumstances be granted supervision of written work and the advice of an Adviser of Studies. Such students should make written application to the Registrar, stating the nature of the course they propose to pursue and the reasons why they desire supervision of their work. Students who are granted these additional facilities will be required to pay a fee of £31 10s. a session or £11 11s. a term (Day) or £22 1s. a session or £8 8s. a term (Evening).

RESEARCH FEE.

The Research Fee, entitling a student to attend any one seminar to which he is admitted by the teacher in charge and to receive individual guidance from a teacher, is £10 10s. per session. If desired, the Research Fee may be paid in three terminal instalments of £4 each.

Students paying the Research Fee may register as Internal Students of the University, which, in the case of non-matriculated students, necessitates the payment of an additional registration fee of 10s. 6d.

For graduate students not working for a degree, who wish to attend a limited number of lectures in addition to the above, a special fee will be arranged.

LAW SOCIETY COURSE FEE.

The Composition fee for a one-year Course in Law for candidates for Law Society Examinations under the Solicitors Act, 1936, necessitating attendance at an Approved Law School, is £14 14s.

FEES FOR OCCASIONAL STUDENTS.

Approved students are admitted to most of the separate lecture-courses on payment of appropriate fees, the amounts of which will be quoted on request. For general guidance it may be stated that the fee for a normal sessional course of lectures is £3 15s. for day students, £2 10s. for evening students. Courses completed in shorter periods are proportionately less.

EXAMINATION FEES.

In addition to the entrance registration fee and tuition fees payable to the School, the student will be required to pay fees to the University for entry to examinations. These are set out below:—

First Degrees :		£	s.	d.
Intermediate B.Sc. (Econ.), B.Com., LL.B.,
or B.A.		6	6	0
Final B.Sc. (Econ.), B.Com., or LL.B.		6	6	0
Final B.A.		7	7	0
Higher Degrees :
M.Sc. (Econ.), M.Com., M.A., or LL.M.		12	12	0

Academic Diplomas :
Anthropology, Geography, Psychology, Public
Administration or Sociology		5	5	0
Extension Diplomas :
Economics or Social Studies		3	0	0

No examination fee is charged for entrance to the School's Certificate examinations once the Composition Fee has been paid.

Occasional students taking School examinations which are held at the end of lecture-courses are required to pay an examination fee of 10s. 6d. for each examination.

PART V.—Schemes of Examinations.

1.—First Degrees.

The First Degrees for which the School registers students are :—

Bachelor of Science in Economics	B.Sc. (Econ.).
Bachelor of Commerce	B.Com.
Bachelor of Laws	LL.B.
Bachelor of Arts	B.A.

i.—THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN ECONOMICS

The School provides complete courses for this degree, which is taken in two stages :—

- (1) The Intermediate, which is normally taken at the end of the first year of study, consists of two parts. If desired, the two parts may be taken separately; in such cases the Intermediate course is spread over two years instead of one.
- (2) The Final is taken as a whole normally at the end of the third year of study. Students who have deferred their Intermediate are recommended to defer their Final also.

As an emergency measure, students who have completed at least one year of the Final course and who anticipate that it may be interrupted by approved National Service will be allowed to take a minimum of any three papers (other than the Essay paper) either with or without the Translation paper one year after the Intermediate Examination, and to take the remainder of the Examination at their next entry, provided that they have then completed the prescribed course of study.

Successful candidates will be awarded First or Second Class Honours, or a Pass Degree.

Students of the School who fail in the Intermediate Examination will not be allowed to work in their next year for both the Intermediate and the Final. Departures from this rule will be made only in the case of students whose failure is due to exceptional circumstances, and subject to such conditions as the Director may require.

Students who are referred in any subject at the Intermediate Examination will be allowed to begin work for the Final only with the approval of the Director, and if this approval is obtained, will, as a rule, be required to take special classes in the subject or subjects in which they are referred, and to pay an additional fee for each subject.

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS :—Full details of the regulations governing the degree are given in a pamphlet entitled "Regulations in the Faculty of Economics for Internal Students," which may be obtained at the School or from the Academic Registrar, University of London.

The Intermediate.

The Special Intermediate examination is held at the School once a year, in June. The examination is divided into two parts. Either part may be taken first at the option of the candidate (in such cases the Intermediate course is spread over two years), or the two parts may be taken together.

An Internal Student referred in one subject may be permitted to enter for re-examination in that subject at the Intermediate Examination in Economics held for External Students in the following November.

For details of the various exemptions granted by the University at the Intermediate Examination in Economics, reference should be made to the University Regulations.

The required subjects of examination and the courses provided are shown in the following table :—

	Subject.	No. of Papers.	Reference Nos. of Courses.
Part I.
I.	Economics, Analytical and Descriptive	2	42, 52, 78
II.	Geography	1	210

	German	for languages)	410
Part II.
IV.	English Economic History	1	250
V.	British Constitution	2	450, 476

For translation classes in French and German, see courses Nos. 403 and 413.

The Examiners are at liberty to test any candidate by means of oral questions in the subjects in which they are appointed to examine.

A candidate will not be approved in Part I or in Part II unless he has shown a competent knowledge in each of the subjects included in that Part; but a candidate who enters for the whole Examination on the same occasion and passes in four subjects out of the five may be permitted, with the consent of the Examiners, to offer the fifth subject alone at the next following Examination.

The Final.

The Final Examination is held once a year, in June. The approved course of study for it extends over not less than two sessions.

Students will be allowed to select a given Special Subject only with the consent of the Head of the Department concerned.

The subjects of the examination and the courses provided to cover them are set out in the following table :—

Subject.	No. of Papers.	Reference Nos. of Courses.

IV. Essay	1
V. Languages	1

Students will be advised by the teachers concerned as to the lecture-courses which should be followed in connection with their special subject.

The language paper will include translation passages from French, German and Italian works such as all students may be expected to meet in the course of their general reading for the Degree. Candidates are required to satisfy the Examiners in two of these languages. The use of dictionaries will be permitted in the Examination.

Candidates may enter for examination in either, or both, of the two foreign languages at any B.Sc. (Econ.) Examination held after beginning their course of studies in the Faculty of Economics as Internal Students.

Candidates who have passed the Intermediate Examination in Arts or Economics or Commerce with French, German or Italian will be exempted from further examination in the language or languages in which they have so passed.

The essay will be of a general character, not having particular reference to the special subjects, and there will be a choice from among not more than five or six subjects.

ii.—THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF COMMERCE

The School provides complete courses for this degree, which is taken in two stages :—

- (1) The Intermediate, which is normally taken at the end of the first year of study, consists of two parts. If desired the two parts may be taken separately ; in such cases the Intermediate course is spread over two years instead of one.
- (2) The Final is taken as a whole, normally at the end of the third year of study. Students may, however, if in the opinion of their language teachers it is desirable, enter for the compulsory language papers in advance of the remainder of the Final Examination.

As an emergency measure, students who have completed at least one year of the Final course and who anticipate that it may be interrupted by approved National Service will be allowed to take a minimum of any three papers one year after the Intermediate Examination, and to take the remainder of the Examination at their next entry, provided that they have then completed the prescribed course of study. (The two language papers must be taken on the same occasion.)

Successful candidates will be awarded First or Second Class Honours or a Pass Degree.

Students of the School who fail in the Intermediate Examination will not be allowed to work in their next year for both the Intermediate and the Final. Departures from this rule will be made only in the cases of students whose failure is due to exceptional circumstances, and subject to such conditions as the Director may require.

Students who are referred in any subject at the Intermediate Examination will be allowed to begin work for the Final only with the approval of the Director, and, if this approval is obtained, will, as a rule, be required to take special classes in the subject or subjects in which they are referred, and to pay an additional fee for each subject.

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS.—Full details of the regulations governing the degree are given in a pamphlet entitled "Regulations for Degrees in Commerce for Internal Students," which may be obtained at the School, or from the Academic Registrar, University of London.

The Intermediate.

The Special Intermediate Examination is held at the School once a year, in June.

The examination is divided into two parts. Either part may be taken first, at the option of the candidate (in such cases the intermediate course is spread over two years), or the two parts may be taken together.

An Internal Student referred in one subject may be permitted to enter for re-examination in that subject at the Intermediate Examination in Commerce held for External Students in the following November.

For details as to the various exemptions granted by the University at the Intermediate Examination in Commerce, reference should be made to the University Regulations.

The required subjects of examination and the courses provided are shown in the following table :—

Subject.	No. of Papers.	Reference Nos. of Courses.
Part I.
I. Economics, Analytical and Descriptive	2	42, 52, 78

Note 1. The modern languages approved by the University are : French, German, Italian and English (in which four subjects tuition is provided at the School), Modern Greek, Spanish, Portuguese, Polish, Roumanian, Russian, Dutch, Danish, Norwegian, Swedish, Arabic, Bengali, Burmese, Chinese, Gujarati, Hindi, Japanese, Malay, Persian, Swahili, Tamil, Tèlugu, Turkish, and Urdu.

The papers require only a general knowledge of the language, not special knowledge of technical, economic or commercial terms.

While the School will endeavour to arrange instruction for a candidate offering any of these languages, such instruction cannot be guaranteed in war-time.

Note 2. Candidates whose native tongue is not English are required to offer English as their compulsory approved modern foreign language. English cannot be taken as an approved modern foreign language by English, Scottish, Irish or Welsh students, whether resident in the British Isles or not. Candidates will not be permitted to offer their native language as an approved modern foreign language.

Note 3. Students taking Modern Greek, Polish, Roumanian, Arabic, Bengali, Burmese, Chinese, Gujarati, Hindi, Japanese, Malay, Persian, Swahili, Tamil, Tèlugu, Turkish, or Urdu will be required to give three calendar months' notice to the Academic Registrar before the beginning of the Examination, and to pay a special fee of five guineas in addition to the ordinary fee.

Note 4. Students taking Portuguese, Danish, Norwegian, Swedish or Russian will be required to give two calendar months' notice to the Academic Registrar before the beginning of the examination.

NOTES :—

(i) An adequate knowledge of Statistical Method will be required of all candidates.

(ii) Candidates may, if they so desire, enter for examination in the compulsory foreign language at any examination held between passing the Intermediate examination in Commerce and entering for the Final examination. Candidates who enter for the entire examination and, though failing in the examination as a whole, nevertheless satisfy the examiners in the compulsory language, will on re-entry be exempted from that subject.

(iii) A second language offered as a subject of Group D, or as an alternative subject by a candidate taking Group B must be taken at the Final Examination itself and cannot be offered separately at an earlier examination, nor can exemption from examination in such a language be granted to a candidate in virtue of having satisfied the examiners in that language on the occasion of an unsuccessful entry for the examination.

(iv) The option of taking a second foreign language in place of Elements of Commercial Law may be exercised only by candidates taking Group B with Organisation of Commerce and Industry.

(v) The second language offered by a candidate taking Group B will be of a standard equivalent to one year's work after Intermediate, and the examination will consist of two papers and an oral examination.

(vi) Students taking the second foreign language in Group B will attend the Intermediate classes in that language in their first Final year and the first year Final classes in their second Final year.

(vii) Students who have no knowledge of the language which they wish to take as a second alternative in Group B will be expected to attend a beginners' class in that subject during their first year at the School.

(viii) The standard and syllabus for the second foreign language under Group D will correspond exactly to that of the compulsory foreign language. Students who intend to take Group D should see the Head of the Modern Languages Department at the beginning of their first year at the School.

(ix) If two languages are taken for the B.Com. degree, one must be either French or German or Spanish.

iii.—THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF LAWS

The School co-operates with University College and King's College in providing a complete course for the degree of LL.B., and students registered at the School have access to all the necessary lectures wherever given.

The degree is taken in two parts :—

- (1) The Intermediate, which is normally taken at the end of the first year of study.
- (2) The Final, which is normally taken at the end of the third year of study. Successful students will be awarded First or Second Class Honours, or a Pass Degree.

As an emergency measure, students who anticipate that their course may be interrupted by approved National Service, will be allowed to enter for the Final Examination in the following subjects one year after the Intermediate Examination :—

General Principles of English Law (2 papers).

English Land Law or one of the other alternatives (1 paper).

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS :—Full details of the regulations governing the degree are given in a pamphlet entitled "Regulations in the Faculty of Laws for Internal Students," which may be obtained at the School, or from The Academic Registrar, University of London.

iv.—THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS

Students are registered at the School for the B.A. Degree only if they intend to take Honours in Geography, Sociology, Anthropology or History.

The Intermediate.

For the Intermediate Examination, four subjects must be chosen from a list given in the regulations in the Faculty of Arts. Two of these subjects must be languages, of which one must be either Latin with Roman History or Greek with Greek History (both Latin and Greek may be taken). The other two, in the case of students registered at the School of Economics, will presumably be chosen from the subjects cognate to the School's field of interests, e.g., Economics, History, Geography and Logic, although this selection is not compulsory. The approved course of study, which must extend over at least one academic year, includes intercollegiate courses in subjects for which teaching is not provided at the School.

NOTE.—For further details of the examination see the University Regulations in the Faculty of Arts.

The subjects of examination are shown in the following table :—

Subject.	No. of Papers.	Reference Nos. of Courses.

A general knowledge will be required in all branches, but credit will be given for special knowledge in any branch or branches previously selected by the Candidate.

Further particulars can be found in the University Regulations.

v.—OTHER FIRST DEGREES.

The attention of students reading for the following degrees is directed to the provision by the School of approved courses in certain of the required subjects :—

- B.Sc.—Courses in Cultural Anthropology and in Geography.
- B.Sc. in Household and Social Science.—Courses in Economics and English Economic History.
- B.Sc. in Estate Management.—Courses in Economics, Accounting and Business Organisation, Principles of Public Finance, Applied Economics.

2.—Higher Degrees.

The Higher Degrees for which the School registers students are :—

Master of Science in Economics	M.Sc. (Econ.)
Master of Commerce	M.Com.
Master of Arts	M.A.
Master of Laws	LL.M.
Master of Science	M.Sc.
Doctor of Philosophy (in Economics, Laws, Arts or Science)	Ph.D.
Doctor of Science in Economics	D.Sc. (Econ.)
Doctor of Laws	LL.D.
Doctor of Literature	D.Lit.

Details of conditions of entry for Internal students to examinations for these Higher Degrees will be found in the volume of Regulations and Courses for Internal Students ("The Red Book"), published by the University of London. Sections of this volume are published as separate pamphlets and may be obtained on application to the Dean of Postgraduate Studies at the School or to the Academic Registrar of the University. Particulars relating to M.Sc. (Econ.), M.Com., and D.Sc. (Econ.) are given in the pamphlet entitled Regulations in the Faculty of Economics for Internal Students; M.A. and D.Lit. in Regulations in the Faculty of Arts; LL.M. and LL.D. in Regulations in the Faculty of Laws; M.Sc. in Regulations in the Faculty of Science; and Ph.D. in all four pamphlets.

These detailed regulations alone are authoritative and should be personally consulted by all candidates: but for convenience some of the more important regulations together with certain further information are given below on the higher degrees for which candidates are most commonly registered at the School.

There are three occasions in particular when candidates registered for higher degrees at the School should consult the detailed University regulations and, if necessary, consult the Dean of Postgraduate Studies on their interpretation :—

- i. At the time of completion of registration with the University as a candidate.

2. At the time when General Subject, Thesis title and the like have to be submitted for approval, i.e., not later than twelve months before the date of examination or submission of thesis.
3. At the time of entry for examination, approximately three months before the date of the examination itself.

Candidates are reminded that there are regulations as to the format and binding of a thesis.

A. MASTER'S DEGREES.

General Note on Regulations for Master's Degrees.

(a) A candidate who has obtained a first degree as an internal student of London University is not compelled under the regulations to register again at a School of the University or pursue any prescribed course of study before presenting himself for examination for a Master's degree in the same Faculty, but must follow the appropriate University regulations as to securing the necessary approval of syllabus, thesis subject, etc., and as to the length of time that must elapse between his first graduation and his examination for the Master's degree.

(b) Students in the following categories must before presenting themselves for examination for a London internal Master's degree be registered at a School of the University and pursue thereat a prescribed course of study to the satisfaction of the authorities for a period of two academic years. No exceptions can be made to this rule. For the conditions on which interruption of a prescribed course of study may be permitted or leave of absence granted to pursue research elsewhere, the University regulations must be consulted.

(i) Candidates holding a Bachelor's degree as external students of London University and proceeding to a Master's degree in the same Faculty.

(ii) Candidates holding a Bachelor's degree as internal students of London University who may be permitted to proceed to a higher degree in a different Faculty; N.B. students holding the London internal degree of B.Com. are frequently permitted to proceed to the internal M.Sc. (Econ.) degree instead of the M.Com., but must be registered and pursue a prescribed course of study at the School.

(iii) Graduates of any university other than London whose degree and academic record may be judged by the School and by the University authorities to be adequate ground for admission as a candidate for the London Master's degree.

1.—THE DEGREE OF MASTER OF SCIENCE IN ECONOMICS.

The whole of the candidate's work for this degree is concentrated on a single General Subject, which must normally be selected from the list of seventy General Subjects given below under classified headings.

In special cases application may be made to offer a General Subject not among those in the list, provided it lies within the field of study indicated by the classified headings and is judged commensurate in extent with the General Subjects in the list. Candidates must further select a Special Section of the selected General Subject for more intensive study and obtain its approval from the University authorities.

The examination is held twice a year, in May and December, and consists of (a) four written papers, including an essay paper, which will be set on the selected General Subject, one of the papers to have reference to the approved Special Section of the General Subject, with the provision that candidates may submit a thesis written on the approved topic in substitution for the essay paper and the paper on the approved section; and (b) an oral examination (which may possibly be omitted in war-time at the discretion of the examiners). Candidates in Geography must submit a dissertation in substitution for the essay paper and the paper on the approved section.

ii.—THE DEGREE OF MASTER OF COMMERCE.

Candidates for this degree must have first obtained the B.Com. degree of London University, either as internal or external students, and must satisfy the University as to the practical commercial experience they have subsequently obtained. The University regulations should be consulted on this point. Arrangements for the examination can normally be made during term-time at any date after the candidate is qualified under the regulations to enter.

The examination for the M.Com. degree will consist of (a) written papers based on the subject and syllabus, approved by the University, (b) an oral examination, (c) a dissertation or thesis consisting of either published or unpublished work. It shall be within the discretion of the examiners, after considering the dissertation or thesis, to reject the candidate without further test; or, in case the examiners shall, upon examination of the dissertation or thesis, hold the same to be generally or specifically of such special excellence as to justify the exemption of the candidate from any further test, he may be so exempted, provided that the report of the examiners shall set forth the fact and the grounds of such exemption. The dissertation shall be an ordered and critical exposition of existing knowledge of the subject in which the candidate presents himself; but if the candidate so desire, he may submit a thesis which is a record of original work as part of his qualification.

The candidate must indicate how far the thesis or dissertation embodies the result of his own research or observation, and in what respects his investigations appear to him to advance the knowledge of his subject.

iii.—THE DEGREE OF MASTER OF ARTS.

Candidates for the M.A. degree may be registered at the School in the following branches: Geography, History and Sociology, certain particulars of which are given below. It may also be possible in certain cases to register candidates in the branches of Anthropology, Philosophy and Psychology, for details of which the University regulations may be consulted. The examination is held twice a year, in May and December. It will normally include (a) a thesis, (b) a written examination, (c) an oral examination especially on the subject of the thesis. The thesis shall be either a record of original work or an ordered and critical exposition of existing data with regard to a particular subject.

GEOGRAPHY.

The M.A. degree in Geography may be obtained in one of two ways. The candidate may either (1) be examined by written papers and a dissertation ; or (2) submit a thesis.

(1) M.A. in Geography without Thesis.

The Examination without thesis will be on some major aspect of Geography or on the regional geography of an area of continental or sub-continental extent.

The dissertation must be an ordered and critical exposition of existing knowledge of some part of the approved subject.

The Examination will consist of :—

- (a) The dissertation ;
- (b) Two written papers on the approved subject ;
- (c) An oral examination. It is, however, open to the Examiners to reject the candidate without holding an oral examination.

(2) M.A. in Geography with Thesis.

The Examination will include (a) a thesis, (b) a written examination, and (c) an oral examination especially on the subject of the thesis. It is, however, open to the Examiners to reject the candidate without holding an oral examination.

The thesis must be a record of original work or other contribution to knowledge in some branch of Geography. Conjoint work may be submitted as a thesis for the degree, provided that the student shall furnish a statement showing clearly his share in the conjoint work and further provided that such statement shall be countersigned by his collaborator.

The written portion of the M.A. Examination will consist of one or more papers on a subject cognate to that of the thesis. The candidate will be informed of the subject in which he will be examined at the same time that the University communicates its decision regarding the approval of the subject proposed for the thesis.

Whether the examination is taken with or without thesis, the candidate is also invited to submit in support of his candidature any printed contribution or contributions to the advancement of his subject which he may have published independently or conjointly. Conjoint work must, however, be accompanied by a statement showing clearly the candidate's own share in the work, which statement must be signed by his collaborator.

HISTORY.

Each candidate in submitting the subject of his thesis, as provided in the General Regulations, must furnish a statement of his antecedent course of study or academic record. The candidate will thereupon be informed in what subject or subjects cognate to that of his dissertation or thesis he will be examined by means of one or more papers.

All candidates entering for the M.A. degree examination in History who have not previously obtained either a First or Second Class Honours Degree in History at this or some other English University, or a Degree from a University elsewhere which may be adjudged an equivalent qualification in History, will be required, before proceeding to the M.A. Examination, to take papers 1-6 in the relevant branch of the B.A. Honours Examination and to reach at least second class standard therein.

SOCIOLOGY.

All candidates before proceeding to the M.A. examination in Sociology will be required to have passed the B.A. Honours Examination in one of the following subjects unless in any special case the Senate, on the report of the Board of Studies, grant exemption from the general rule :—Sociology, Anthropology, History, Philosophy (with Sociology as the optional subject).

The written portion of the M.A. examination will consist of two papers as follows :—

One paper on Social Philosophy and Social Institutions.

One paper on the special branch of Sociology with which the thesis is connected.

iv.—THE DEGREE OF MASTER OF LAWS.

This degree is taken wholly by examination without thesis. The examination is held only once a year, in the last week of September.

The subjects for examination will be as follows :—

GROUP A.

- (1) The Law of Contract and Tort.
- (2) Law of Property.
- (3) Constitutional Laws of the British Empire.
- (4) Mercantile Law.
- (5) Criminal Law and Law of Evidence.

GROUP B.

- (1) Roman Law.
- (2) Public International Law.

- (3) Legal History.
- (4) Hindu Law and Muhammadan Law.
- (5) Jurisprudence and Legal Theory.
- (6) Family Law.
- (7) Administrative Law.
- (8) Conflict of Laws.

Candidates will be examined in three subjects, one from Group A, one from Group B and a third subject from either Group. In each subject the examination will consist of two three-hour papers.

The examiners may, in addition, if they see fit, examine any candidate orally.

v.—THE DEGREE OF MASTER OF SCIENCE.

For the M.Sc. degree (which is quite distinct from the M.Sc. (Econ.) degree) candidates are occasionally registered at the School, but only in the branches of Anthropology and Geography. The University regulations should be consulted.

B.

vi.—THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY.

The degree of Ph.D. for Internal students is conferred in subjects within the purview of the Faculties of Arts, Economics, Laws and Science.

The standard of the Ph.D. degree is definitely higher than that of the M.A., LL.M., and M.Sc. degrees in the same subject.

Every candidate must pursue as an Internal student :—

(a) A course of not less than two years of full-time training in research and research methods, or

(b) A part-time course of training in research and research methods of not less than two years and not more than four years, as may be prescribed in each individual case by the Academic Council.*

The course must be pursued continuously, except by special permission of the Senate.

If the material for the work of a student exists elsewhere, the student may under proper conditions be allowed leave of absence, if such leave does not exceed two terms out of a total of six, and provided

* NOTE.—The expression "two years" in these Regulations will be interpreted in the case of students registering for the Ph.D. degree in October as the period from the beginning of that month to the June in the second year following. In other cases it will be interpreted as two calendar years.

that neither of these two terms is the first or the last of the course. Such leave will not be granted during the first year of the course in the case of students who are attending the course in order to qualify for the conferment of their first Degree.

Not later than one calendar year before the date when he proposes to enter for the Examination the student must submit the subject of his thesis for approval by the University. The University will at the time of the approval of the subject of a thesis inform the candidate of the Faculty within whose purview the thesis will be deemed to fall. After the subject of the thesis has been approved it may not be changed except with the permission of the University.

A student registered as a candidate for the Ph.D. degree, after having studied to the satisfaction of the authorities of the School for the period prescribed by the University, may be admitted at any time within one calendar year of the completion of such period to the examination for the Degree. A student who does not present himself within one calendar year of the completion of the prescribed period must apply again to the University for admission to the examination if he still desires to proceed to the Degree.

On completion of his course of study every candidate must submit a thesis which must comply with the following conditions :—

(a) The greater portion of the work submitted therein must have been done subsequently to the registration of the student as a candidate for the Ph.D. degree.

(b) It must form a distinct contribution to the knowledge of the subject and afford evidence of originality, shown either by the discovery of new facts or by the exercise of independent critical power.

(c) It must be satisfactory as regards literary presentation, and, if not already published in an approved form, must be suitable for publication, either as submitted or in an abridged form.

The Degree will not be conferred upon a candidate unless the Examiners certify that the thesis is worthy of publication as a "Thesis approved for the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the University of London."

The thesis must consist of the candidate's own account of his research. It may describe work done in conjunction with the teacher who has supervised the work provided that the candidate clearly states his personal share in the investigation, and that this statement is certified by the teacher. In no case will a paper written or published in the joint names of two or more persons be accepted as a thesis. Work done conjointly with persons other than the candidate's teacher will only be accepted as a thesis in special cases.

The candidate must indicate how far the thesis embodies the result of his own research or observation, and in what respects his investigations appear to him to advance the study of his subject.

A candidate will not be permitted to submit as his thesis a thesis for which a degree has been conferred on him in this or in any other University ; but a candidate shall not be precluded from incorporating work which he has already submitted for a degree in this or in any other University in a thesis covering a wider field, provided that he shall indicate on his form of entry and also on his thesis any work which has been so incorporated.

Every candidate must apply for a form of entry, which must be sent to the Academic Registrar of the University accompanied by (i) four copies of his thesis, printed, typewritten, or published in his own name, (ii) the proper fee, (iii) a certificate of having completed the course of study prescribed in his case, and (iv) four copies of the abstract of thesis.

(NOTE.—In view of the Long Vacation, which extends from the end of June until October, a candidate who is eligible to enter for the examination at the end of the session runs the risk of considerable delay in the decision as to the result. Such a candidate will, therefore, be permitted to submit his entry form and fee between April 15th and May 1st and his thesis between June 1st and June 5th.)

The candidate is also invited to submit as subsidiary matter in support of his candidature any printed contribution or contributions to the advancement of his subject which he may have published independently or conjointly. In the event of a candidate submitting such subsidiary matter he will be required to state fully his own share in any conjoint work.

Arrangements for the examination can normally be made during term at any time after the candidate has qualified under the regulations to present his thesis.

After the Examiners have read the thesis they will examine the candidate orally and at their discretion by printed papers or practical examinations or by both methods on the subject of the thesis, and if they see fit, on subjects relevant thereto ; provided that a candidate for the Ph.D. degree in the Faculty of Arts who has obtained the degree of M.A. in this University shall be exempted from a written examination.

If the thesis, though inadequate, shall seem of sufficient merit to justify such action, the Examiners may recommend the Senate to permit the candidate to re-present his thesis in a revised form within eighteen months from the decision of the Senate with regard thereto and the fee on re-entry, if the Senate adopt such recommendation, shall be half the fee originally paid. Examiners shall not, however, make such recommendation without submitting the candidate to an oral examination.

For the purposes of the oral, practical or written examination held in connection with his thesis the candidate shall be required to present himself at such place as the University may direct and upon such day or days as shall be notified to him.

Work approved for the degree of Ph.D. and subsequently published must contain a reference, either on the title-page or in the preface, to the fact that the work has been approved by the University for the award of the Degree.

A student who fails to pass the Ph.D. Degree Examination will be required on re-entry for the Examination to comply with the regulations in force at the time of his re-entry.

N.B.—The qualifications for initial registration for the Ph.D. differ somewhat in the different Faculties. It should, however, be noted that in the Faculty of Laws candidates will be normally required to take the examination in one subject in Group A at the LL.M. Examination before being permitted to commence registration for the Ph.D. The LL.M. Examination is held at the end of each September, but the last day for the receipt of entries is normally June 1st.

G. THE HIGHER DOCTORATES.

General Note on the Higher Doctorates.

It should be noted that candidates for the Higher Doctorates (D.Sc. (Econ.), LL.D., D.Lit.) if they have not obtained a first degree as an Internal Student of London University, must have previously obtained the appropriate Master's or Ph.D. degree of London University. There are no exceptions whatsoever to this rule. Under the University regulations it is not essential to register at any School of the University while working for the Higher Doctorate, nor is any course of study prescribed. But the School is prepared to register and undertake the supervision of candidates for Higher Doctorates in appropriate cases.

vii.—THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF SCIENCE IN ECONOMICS.

A candidate for the D.Sc. (Econ.) Degree must have previously obtained the M.Sc. (Econ.) Degree, or the Ph.D. Degree in the Faculty of Economics, as an Internal Student.

Nevertheless candidates who have obtained the B.Sc. (Econ.) Degree as Internal Students may, in exceptional circumstances, be exempted from this requirement on the ground of published work.

A candidate may make application at any time for the Degree and must at the same time submit evidence of his qualifications, such evidence to consist of published papers or books, containing original contributions to the advancement of knowledge. In the event of a candidate submitting any conjoint work in support of his candidature he must state fully his own share in such conjoint work. The Examiners may at their discretion require the candidate to present himself for an interview.

Every candidate must apply to the Academic Registrar for an entry form, which must be returned accompanied normally by not less than four copies of the work or works, and by the proper fee.

viii.—THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF LAWS.

A candidate for the LL.D. Degree must have previously obtained the LL.M. Degree, or the Ph.D. Degree in the Faculty of Laws as an Internal Student.

Nevertheless a candidate who has obtained the LL.B. Degree as an Internal Student may, in exceptional circumstances, be exempted from this requirement on the ground of published work.

A candidate may make application at any time for the Degree. He must apply to the Academic Registrar for an entry form, which must be returned accompanied by published work or works, or by a dissertation or thesis and the proper fee.

Together with his entry form the candidate must submit evidence of his qualifications, such evidence to consist of published papers or books containing original contributions to the advancement of legal knowledge. In the event of a candidate submitting any conjoint work in support of his candidature he must state fully his own share in such conjoint work. The Degree will not be conferred in respect of conjoint work only.

Every candidate for the Degree of LL.D. shall, upon the above-mentioned entry form, state in writing the special subject within the purview of the Faculty of Laws upon a knowledge of which he rests his qualification for the Doctorate. Together with the entry-form he shall transmit his dissertation or thesis, printed or typewritten, dealing with some special portion of the subject mentioned on the entry form.

The candidate must state how far the dissertation or thesis embodies the result of his own research, whether it has been conducted independently, or in co-operation with others.

Any dissertation or thesis submitted for the LL.D. Degree must constitute an original contribution to the advancement of legal knowledge, must be satisfactory as regards literary presentation, as well as in other respects, and must be submitted in a form suitable for publication.

The candidate is also invited to submit in support of his candidature any printed contribution or contributions to the advancement of the study of Law which he may have published independently or conjointly.

A candidate for the Degree who has been approved by the Examiners shall be required to publish his thesis or dissertation as a whole, and the Degree shall not be conferred on him until four copies of the published work as approved by the Examiners have been received by the Senate.

Work approved for the degree and subsequently published must contain a reference, either on the title-page or in the preface, to the fact that the work has been approved by the University for the award of the degree of LL.D.

ix.—THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF LITERATURE.

A candidate for the D.Lit. Degree must have previously obtained the M.A. Degree, or the Ph.D. Degree in the Faculty of Arts as an Internal Student.

Nevertheless a candidate who has obtained the B.A. Degree as an Internal Student may, in exceptional circumstances, be exempted from this requirement on the ground of published work.

A candidate may make application at any time for the Degree and must at the same time submit evidence of his qualifications, such evidence to consist of published papers or books, containing original contributions to the advancement of knowledge. In the event of a candidate submitting any conjoint work in support of his candidature he must state fully his own share in such conjoint work. The Examiners may at their discretion require the candidate to present himself for an interview.

Every candidate must apply to the Academic Registrar for an entry form which must be returned accompanied normally by not less than four copies of the work or works, and by the proper fee.

3.—Academic Diplomas.

The University grants the following Diplomas for which the School arranges courses of study :—

- (i) The Academic Postgraduate Diploma in Anthropology.
- (ii) The Academic Diploma in Geography.
- (iii) The Academic Postgraduate Diploma in Psychology.
- (iv) The Academic Diploma in Public Administration.
- (v) The Academic Postgraduate Diploma in Sociology and Administration.

Only day students will be accepted for (i) and (v).

All Diploma Students are required to register as Internal Students of the University, which in the case of non-matriculated students, necessitates the payment of a registration fee of three guineas.

1.—THE ACADEMIC POSTGRADUATE DIPLOMA IN ANTHROPOLOGY.

The Diploma Course is open to :—

- (a) Students of postgraduate standing whose undergraduate courses have in the opinion of the University included a suitable preliminary training.
- (b) Students who, though not graduates, have satisfied the University that their previous education and experience qualify them to rank on the same level as graduates approved under (a) for this purpose.

Students are required to attend a course of study, approved for the purpose by the University, and normally extending over two sessions. The course of instruction is normally provided by inter-collegiate arrangement between the School and University College.

Candidates are required to select four of the following subjects :—

Subject	Reference Nos. of Courses.
I. Outlines of the History of Civilisation (excluding the early Stone Age).	—
II. The Quaternary Period ; its geology, its animal and human remains, and its industries.	—
III. The physical character of the various races ; the processes of evolution.	—
IV. Social structure, custom, and law.	} 501, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 565
V. Religious and magical beliefs and practices.
VI. Technology, art, and economics of the simpler peoples.	—
VII. Structure of language and phonetics. Subject to the consent of his teacher or teachers, a candidate may take one non-European language as the main work of this subject.	—

Candidates taking subjects (IV), (V), (VI), and (VII) are required to produce evidence of possessing a rudimentary knowledge of, or of having attended lectures on, the more general aspects of subjects (II) or (III).

A student may either enter for the whole examination at the end of his two years' course, or, with the permission of his teachers, enter for examination in two subjects at the end of his first year and, provided he satisfies the examiners in both subjects, for examination in the remaining two subjects at the end of his second year.

A student who passes only in one of the two subjects taken at the end of his first year will not be credited with that subject, and will be required on re-entry to take all four subjects.

There will be one paper in each subject. At the discretion of the examiners there may also be an oral or a practical examination in any subject.

In the case of the following classes of candidates, who must be otherwise qualified to be registered as candidates for the Diploma, the Special Regulations will apply :—

- (i) Senior Civil Servants who have spent at least two years in service overseas (i.e. working under engagements or agreements with the Governments of the Dominions, Government of India, Crown Colonies, or Mandated Territories) or Civil Servants of equivalent standing of other countries ; and, at the discretion of the Board of Studies in Anthropology,

- (ii) Persons who have spent at least two years overseas, engaged in work which has brought them in contact with native life.

The Special Regulations referred to in the foregoing paragraph are as follows :—

- (a) The student will be required to attend an approved course of instruction at a College or School of the University during a substantial portion of three academic terms, which terms need not necessarily be consecutive.

- (b) Original work may be submitted by such students and, if such work is approved by the examiners, the candidate may be exempted from the whole or part of the examination for the Diploma at the discretion of the examiners.

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS.—Full details of the Regulations governing the Diploma are given in a pamphlet entitled "Regulations for Academic Diplomas," which may be obtained at the School or from the Academic Registrar, University of London.

ii.—THE ACADEMIC DIPLOMA IN GEOGRAPHY.

The Diploma Course is open to :—

1. Matriculated students of the University.
2. Persons recognised by the Board of Education as Certificated Teachers.
3. Teachers on the Register of the Royal Society of Teachers.

The examination for the Diploma will take place once in each Academic Year, beginning on the first Monday in May.

Students are required to attend a course of study approved for the purpose by the University and extending normally over two sessions.

The subjects of examination are :—

Subject.	No. of Papers.	Reference Nos. of Courses.
I. General and Regional Geography :	3
(i) The British Isles.		214
(ii) Europe and the Mediterranean Lands		—
(iii) North America.		—
(iv) The Monsoon Lands of Asia.		—
II. Physical Basis of Geography.	1	—
III. Map Work.	1	224

Satisfactory evidence must be submitted to the examiners of adequate instruction having been received in field-work.

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS.—Full details of the regulations governing the Diploma are given in a pamphlet entitled "Regulations for Academic Diplomas," which may be obtained at the School or from the Academic Registrar, University of London.

iii.—THE ACADEMIC POSTGRADUATE DIPLOMA IN PSYCHOLOGY.

The object of the Diploma Course is to afford facilities for instruction in the theory and practice of certain branches of Applied Psychology to students who are intending to take up practical work in certain specific fields and whose previous education and experience have in the opinion of the University included a suitable preliminary training.

Students are required to attend a course of study approved for the purpose by the University, extending normally over two sessions, but students with certain qualifications may apply for permission to pursue a course of study extending over less than two sessions. Courses of instruction are normally provided by the School in conjunction with King's College, University College and Bedford College.

The subjects of Examination are :—

Subject.	No. of Papers.	Reference Nos. of Courses.
I. GENERAL.
(1) Data and Principles of Psychology.	2	500, 501
(2) Methods of Psychology.	1	502
(3) A practical examination.		—
II. SPECIAL.
(1) One of the following applications of Psychology :	2
(a) Anthropological and Sociological.		by intercollegiate arrangements, and 559, 560, 561, 562, 565
(b) Educational.		—
(c) Industrial and Commercial.		505
(2) A practical examination.		—

The two parts may be taken together or separately.

In both parts candidates must also submit for the inspection of the examiners their Note-books of laboratory work in Psychology and Applied Psychology.

In Part II there will be an oral examination with special reference to any written reports which may be submitted by the candidate on work he may have carried out on his special subject. A candidate taking Part II (a) may, as an alternative to the practical examination, submit an essay. Reports and essays must reach the Academic Registrar not later than June 15th.

Candidates who fail in either part may be re-examined in that part at any subsequent examination on payment of the proper fee.

Candidates will not be approved by the examiners in either part of the examination unless they have shown a competent knowledge in all the prescribed subjects in that part.

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS.—Full details of the regulations governing the Diploma are given in a pamphlet entitled "Regulations for Academic Diplomas," which may be obtained at the School or from the Academic Registrar, University of London.

iv.—THE ACADEMIC DIPLOMA IN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION.

The Diploma course, which is especially designed for those in, or entering upon, local government or other public service, whether as officials, party organisers or representatives, is open to both day and evening students. It is intended to provide an introduction to the study of methods and machinery of public administration and an understanding of economic and social conditions. Generally, its purpose is to make available the results of recent thought and experience relating to political and economic organisation, and so to equip the student with both a practical technique and an intellectual background. Its value is already widely recognised by public authorities in this country and overseas.

The Diploma course is open to :—

- (a) Matriculated students of the University.
- (b) Other students who can produce evidence of a similar standard of education.

Students are required to attend an approved course of study extending over two sessions, and not less than 240 hours in all (i.e., an average of at least 4 hours a week). In addition the student will be expected to attend a fortnightly discussion class and to submit written work to his tutor.

Evening students will usually find it necessary to spread the work over three sessions.

The examination is divided into two parts which may be taken together at the end of the second session; or Part I may be taken at the end of the second session, and Part II at the end of the third session.

In cases of exceptionally high qualifications, in the nature of an Honours degree in Economics and Political Science, permission may be granted to take the course in one year: or where a candidate has already a good knowledge of Economics and Political Science which the University regards as sufficient to justify that course, he may be permitted to take Part I at the end of the first session.

Part I consists of three papers, i.e., one paper of three hours on each of the three compulsory subjects, and an oral examination.

Part II consists of three papers, i.e., one paper of three hours on each of the three optional subjects, and an oral examination.

The subjects of examination are :—

Subject.	Reference Nos. of Courses.
	First Year.	Second Year.
A. Compulsory.
I. Public Administration, Central and Local.	450, 479, 480	451, 456, 464, 465, 480
II. Economics (including Public Finance).	42, 78	81, 83, 84
III. Social and Political Theory.	464	565
B. Optional.
Three of the following subjects, at least one to be selected from each group :—
Group (a)
I. English Constitutional Law.	331
II. English Economic and Social History since 1760.	250	251
III. The Constitutional History of Great Britain since 1660.		262
Group (b)
IV. Statistics.		601
V. The History and Principles of Local Government (Advanced).
VI. Social Administration.

Candidates will not be approved unless they have shown a competent knowledge in the foregoing subjects, but a candidate who enters for both parts of the examination at the same time and passes in five out of the six subjects may, with the consent of the examiners, be allowed to offer the sixth subject alone at the next following examination on payment of the proper fee.

The examination for the Academic Diploma in Public Administration will take place once in each academic year, beginning on the first Monday in July.

A Mark of Distinction will be placed against the names of those candidates who show exceptional merit.

Distinction will be awarded in both parts of the examination considered together, and a candidate taking the examination in two parts will be eligible for distinction on completing Part II.

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS.—Full details of the regulations governing the Diploma are given in a pamphlet entitled "Regulations for Academic Diplomas," which may be obtained at the School or from the Academic Registrar, University of London.

v.—THE ACADEMIC POSTGRADUATE DIPLOMA IN SOCIOLOGY AND SOCIAL ADMINISTRATION.

The course of training for the diploma is open to :—

- (a) Students of postgraduate standing.
- (b) Students who, though not graduates, can satisfy the School and University authorities that their previous education and experience qualify them to rank on the same level as graduates for this purpose.

Students are required to attend a course of study approved for the purpose by the University extending over two sessions and not less than 150 hours in each session.

The subjects of Examination are :—

Subject.	No. of Papers.	Reference Nos. of Courses.
I. Social Institutions.	I	559, 560, 561, 562
II. Social Philosophy and Psychology.	I	500, 501, 502, 564,

IV. Social Economics (including Economic Theory).	I	42, 78, 81
V. Existing Social Structure and Conditions.	I	520, 572, 573, 575
VI. Existing methods of dealing with Social Problems.	I	456, 479
VII. One subject to be selected from the following :—
(a) The elements of Hygiene.	I	—
(b) Methods of Statistics.	I	601
(c) History of Factory Legislation.	I	—
(d) Modern Industrial Legislation.	I	348

Candidates will not be approved unless they have shown a competent knowledge in the foregoing subjects, but a candidate who passes in six subjects out of seven may, with the consent of the examiners, be allowed to offer the seventh subject alone at the next following examination.

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS.—Full details of the regulations governing the Diploma are given in a pamphlet entitled "Regulations for Academic Diplomas," which may be obtained at the School or from the Academic Registrar, University of London.

4.—School Certificates.

The School grants the following Certificates :—

- (i) Certificate in Social Science and Administration.
- (ii) Certificate for Social Workers in Mental Health.
- (iii) Certificate in International Studies.

Certificate Students may register as Associate Students of the University. In the case of non-matriculated students a registration fee of half a guinea is payable.

i.—CERTIFICATE IN SOCIAL SCIENCE AND ADMINISTRATION.

The lectures and classes at the School—all of which are open to students working for the Social Science Certificate—cover a wide field, embracing all branches of the Social Sciences, of which the courses in Economics, History, Psychology, Sociology and Public Administration are of particular interest to social workers. There are also courses in these subjects and in other subjects such as Criminology and Physiology which have been specially designed for students preparing for the Social Science Certificate. In addition, individual tutorial teaching is provided for every student, when opportunity is given for the discussion of problems and assistance is given in the correlation of academic teaching with practical work.

These academic studies are supplemented by practical training, generally carried out in co-operation with various societies and experienced social workers with whom the Department is in close touch, which include visits of observation to various types of institutions, social, educational and industrial. The opportunities for such practical work have inevitably been circumscribed during the present emergency, and by the evacuation of the School from London, but arrangements are made for students to gain experience of the social services and industrial concerns in and around Cambridge, as well as for fuller training further afield (particularly for those training for Labour Management) during part of the vacation.

The full-time course of training for the Social Science Certificate occupies two University sessions, beginning in October of each year, and ending in June of the second year. In certain special cases, however, students are allowed to qualify for the Certificate in a single year. These exceptions are limited to those who are already graduates of a University, or who have had a substantial training in social theory, together with a considerable amount of practical experience in social work. Graduates taking the course in one year must be prepared to undertake some further prescribed practical training either before or after their academic work.

The examination for the Certificate is held at the end of the summer term in June, and consists of four papers in Social Economics, History, Social Philosophy and Psychology, and Social Administration. Students are required to pass in all these subjects, and in addition the reports on their practical work must satisfy the Head of the Department and the Tutors in charge of the course.

ii.—CERTIFICATE FOR SOCIAL WORKERS IN MENTAL HEALTH.

A certificate is granted, after examination, to students who have satisfactorily concluded the one year Course for Social Workers in Mental Health.

The course is conducted by the Department of Social Science and Administration with the advice of a consultative committee of specialists, and is intended to prepare men and women for social work in the field of mental health, or to widen the knowledge of those already engaged in social case work.

The theoretical course covers one session, beginning on the twenty-first of September, and consists of lectures, discussion classes and practical work. The practical work is conducted not only during the academic session but also during part of the vacations.

The content of the lecture courses and seminars may be grouped under the general headings, physiology, psychology, psychiatry, mental hygiene, and social case work. The practical work, under skilled supervision, consists of the social study and adjustment of individual cases at child guidance clinics and mental hospitals as well as attendance at case discussions, conferences, and demonstrations.

Students are admitted to the Course only on the recommendation of a selection committee appointed by the School. Preference is given to candidates who fulfil the three following conditions :—

- (a) are over the age of 22 ;
- (b) have taken a Social Science Certificate or its equivalent ;
- (c) have been engaged in practical social work.

Consideration is also given to men and women of good general education who have had considerable experience of responsible social work.

The lecture-courses provided for this Certificate are given on p. 89. For full particulars reference should be made to the special leaflet issued by the Department.

iii.—CERTIFICATE IN INTERNATIONAL STUDIES.

For students of relatively advanced standing who wish to devote their whole time to subjects within the general field of International Relations, the School provides a special course of studies.

In principle the course is open only to students who are able to give to it two full sessions and who already have a University Degree ; but either or both of these conditions may be waived in particular cases, as, for example, when the candidate is already a member of some diplomatic or consular service.

Candidates may furthermore be required before registration to give proof (if necessary, by written examination) that they possess an adequate knowledge of English.

Students admitted to this course, besides attending lectures and participating in seminars, receive regular individual tuition.

Students who by the end of the first year are not considered to have made satisfactory progress may be required not to proceed further with the course.

A certificate is granted, after examination, on the work done during the course.

The examination consists of six papers :—

PRESCRIBED SUBJECTS.	No. of Papers.

5.—Extension Diplomas.

In peace-time the School arranges special courses of study for two of the Diplomas awarded by the University Extension and Tutorial Classes Council ; namely,

The Diploma in Economics.
The Diploma in Social Studies.

Students who are approved by the School authorities as having gained by attendance at previous courses of instruction a sufficient knowledge of the subjects of these Diplomas may be examined for them after pursuing a course of study extending over two years of part-time study (or in rare cases one year of full-time study).

A special Tutor supervises the work of students. The courses for the Diplomas are provided in accordance with the purpose of University Extension teaching, which is described by the University as " to provide a means of higher education for persons of all classes and of both sexes, engaged in the regular occupations of life, by making instruction of University standard easily accessible to those who are unable to undertake a University career." Candidates must satisfy the School authorities that they come within the category of persons for whom this teaching is intended.

An Interim Examination is held on the first year's work and a Final Examination at the end of the second year. Only candidates who have satisfied the examiners in the Interim Examination will be permitted to proceed to the work of the second year.

N.B.—While it is hoped that the School will be able to continue to provide courses for these Extension Diplomas, their provision in wartime cannot be guaranteed.

Department of Business Administration.

In peace-time the School provides for a limited number of students a One-Year Postgraduate Course of training in Business Administration. To graduates without business experience it offers a means of transition from the University to the business world; to others, an opportunity of acquiring a broader understanding of business than their work provides. Lecture courses are supplemented by class work dealing with actual problems of business firms and discussions opened by well-known business men relate study and reading to practical life.

In war-time the course is in abeyance.

Civil Service Course.

The School provides in normal times a Civil Service Course at a postgraduate level designed to meet the needs of students preparing for the higher Civil Service Examinations. In view of the variety of subjects taught at the School it is possible to provide all the tuition necessary for candidates who choose to take papers in the social sciences.

Owing to the suspension of entry into the Civil Service by competitive examination, the course is suspended for the present.

Studies of Contemporary Britain.

In the summer term of each session the School normally provides a series of short complete courses primarily designed to provide foreign students with a general view of British Life, Affairs and Institutions.

During the war these courses will not be given.

PART VII.—Postgraduate Work.

The higher degrees for which the School registers students are noted in Part V, Section 2. The School also admits to its research facilities qualified persons who wish to work there during part of a course of study for the higher degree of another University, or wish to pursue research without proceeding to any degree. The qualifications of such persons must be approved by the supervisor under whose direction they wish to work. Such students are registered under the Research Fee or under a special Graduate Composition Fee, according to whether or not they also desire to attend lectures.

Centres of Study.

While war conditions last it is expected that the School will remain at Cambridge and students devoting their whole time to research must register and reside during termtime at Cambridge. Where adequate library facilities and supervision could be arranged, the continued registration of part-time students working in London has hitherto been permitted by the University. Enquiries can be made by part-time students as to the possibility of commencing postgraduate registration while resident in or near London. But it must be understood that it is not very likely that this will be possible in cases where a definite course of study as an internal student is required by the University, i.e. cases of new registration for the Ph.D. or of registration for a Master's degree of any candidate who has not already taken a London first degree in the same Faculty. Such applications are individually considered by a University committee. Where London registration is permitted the student will normally be expected to come to Cambridge periodically for supervision.

Procedure on Registration.

All enquiries or definite applications for postgraduate registration should be made in the first instance by letter addressed to the Dean of Postgraduate Studies, The London School of Economics, The Hostel, Peterhouse, Cambridge. Such letters should state whether and when the candidate is able to attend for preliminary interview at Cambridge. Where it is desired if possible to get an application accepted in advance and in the candidate's absence, the application should be made on a form to be obtained from the School and be accompanied by (a) details of previous university studies, especially in fields of study relevant to the proposed research, (b) two testimonials from university teachers who know the applicant's work and probable research capacity, (c) as clear a statement as possible of the field of research proposed, (d) in the case of students unable to reside in Cambridge, a detailed statement of what library facilities are open to them other than what can be provided by the School and of how often they can guarantee to be able to come to Cambridge for supervision if and when required. Although on receipt of such an application some indication at least can be given to the candidate of the probabilities of his acceptance, candidates are warned that definite acceptance is in many cases only likely to be granted by the Higher Degrees Committee on a report from the proposed supervisor after he has interviewed the candidate, and further, that in most cases personal discussion with the Dean is advisable before any formal application for acceptance is made to the Committee. Interviews can be arranged without difficulty in term-time and in the days immediately preceding term. The Dean will also whenever possible arrange for interviews during vacations when there are reasons for urgency, but during vacations supervisors are not usually available for interview, nor does the Higher Degrees Committee meet. Candidates for registration for the Ph.D. or under the Research Fee or Graduate Composition Fee can be accepted at any time in the session, but there is considerable advantage in registering at the beginning of the session in October, and, in particular, candidates for Master's degrees should, if possible, register either in October or in January.

Every application to the School for admission to a London higher degree is considered by the School Higher Degrees Committee. If it is accepted for recommendation to the University, the student may complete his provisional registration, paying his fees, obtaining his admission card for lectures, seminars, etc., and sending in, through the Dean, his formal application for acceptance to the University. The Committee assigns him to a supervisor and the Dean's Office will arrange an initial interview with that supervisor. Acceptance by the School Committee is no guarantee that the University will sanction the application, but in the vast majority of cases that sanction follows. The Dean will endeavour to warn any student over whose acceptance by the University there is likely to be special doubt. Normally the student can proceed with his research on acceptance by the School Committee and await the decision of the University which, especially in the early weeks of the session, is subject to some delay.

Applicants are warned (1) that while the exact definition of the subject of research is usually arranged later in consultation with their supervisors, the Committee does not normally decide on an application until the proposed field of work is sufficiently defined for a general decision on its suitability, and for the allocation of the student to the right supervisor,

(2) that in some cases the Committee only accepts a student subject to his passing a general test-paper on the field of knowledge relevant to his proposed work, and/or (for foreign students) a test of his proficiency in English, either at the time or at the end of a probationary period.

While no minimum standard of attainment in languages other than English is prescribed for all research students, such attainments are always of great assistance and in some fields of work quite indispensable. In making application, students should state the languages they can read fluently and those they can read only with difficulty. It is open to the supervisors or to the Higher Degrees Committee to prescribe minimum language standards in connection with any research topic and either to make its attainment obligatory before registration, or to recommend a provisional registration which will be continued only if the language standard is reached by the end of a prescribed period.

(3) that students arriving at times other than the commencement of the session (October) may have to wait several weeks before the next meeting of the Committee. In such cases, however, the Dean can, if he thinks the application likely to be approved, put the student in touch with his probable supervisor, and issue a temporary admission card which will admit him to lectures and seminars and the use of the common rooms and such library facilities as it may be possible to arrange until the Committee's decision can be obtained.

(4) that, in applying for registration, students must state whether they intend to work concurrently for any other examination, and that if, after registration, they decide to attempt such additional work, they must consult their supervisors and notify the Dean, in order to obtain the consent of the Higher Degrees Committee. Failure to give such previous notification or to comply with the decision of the Committee will render the student liable to have his registration cancelled. This regulation applies to Bar examinations among others.

After Registration.

Each research student on acceptance is allotted for supervision and advice to a member or members of the School teaching staff. Supervising teachers differ in their individual arrangements for interviews with students, and the student should come to an understanding on this point at the first interview, which is arranged by the School Office. Part-time students resident in London are given the address of their supervisor and the supervisor their address, and appointments are normally made by direct correspondence. Students, whether in Cambridge or in London, who find any difficulty over the arrangement of interviews, should consult the Dean.

Though every care is taken to allot each research student from the first to the most suitable supervisor, unsuitable allocations are sometimes made, especially where a student is at first indefinite as to his exact field of research. Students who feel doubtful whether their initial allocation is the best that can be arranged are invited to discuss the possibility of transfer with the Dean as early as possible in the Session. At the same time it must be understood that the supervisors have the right to decide what subjects they can profitably supervise, and the School has fixed a maximum number of students in whose studies any teacher should normally be invited to interest himself, so that no guarantee can be given that they will be able to work under any particular teacher they choose. In appropriate cases special interviews can always be arranged with members of the teaching staff other than the student's regular supervisor. This should normally be done through the regular supervisor, but the Dean will be glad to help when required. On matters connected with the actual prosecution of their research, students should consult their individual adviser, once they have been allocated to one; on all matters connected with registration, regulations, the arrangement of supervision, withdrawal (temporary or permanent), change of subject, and other general and administrative questions they should consult Mr. L. G. Robinson, the Dean of Postgraduate Studies, Room 23, The Hostel, Peterhouse, Cambridge. Mr. Robinson will notify certain hours when he will be available in his room to see Cambridge students. Appointments can be arranged at other hours or in vacations on application at Room 24, The Hostel. Students registered in London should in the first instance address any such enquiries to the Dean by letter.

N.B.—Candidates for London Higher Degrees are reminded that at least twelve months before their examination they are required to submit definite titles of theses and (for M.Sc. (Econ.)) syllabuses of their General Subject. (Full particulars are to be found in the relevant University Regulations.) To facilitate checking it is requested that these should be invariably submitted through the Dean and not direct to the University. Candidates are warned that, except at their definite request, thesis subjects provisionally registered on admission to the course and subjects and syllabuses incidentally included in their annual reports are not passed on to the University. A title that has been formally submitted to the University can be modified later only by consent of the University authorities. Until formal submission of title, changes of field of research from the one submitted on registration should be reported to the Dean, who will decide whether they are so substantial or have been made so long after the commencement of registration as to need the consent of the Higher Degrees Committee.

Students are particularly requested to notify (a) The Dean's Office, Room 24, The Hostel, and (b) The Academic Registrar, University of London, immediately on any change of address from that which they have entered on their School and University application or registration forms.

Towards the end of each session every research student is asked for a written report on his work; and his supervisor is asked to submit a report on the student's work to the Higher Degrees Committee. Registration in the second and subsequent years may be refused or made subject to special conditions if the supervisor's report is unsatisfactory or if the student's own report has not been sent in. The supervisor's report to the Committee is confidential, but in their own interests students should try at least once a session to get from their supervisors some verdict on their progress and prospects. They are reminded, however, that neither the formal report nor the informal verdict is easy to give where a student fails to present written work to his supervisor.

Students are normally expected to complete their work within the period of study prescribed by the University (usually two years for full-time students and four years for part-time students). Re-registration for more than one further session beyond the prescribed course will in any case only be permitted after consideration, by the Higher Degrees Committee, of special reports by supervisor and student. Candidates are further reminded that anyone failing to present himself for examination within 12 months of the end of his prescribed course, has to obtain special leave from the University to present himself at a later date.

Library Facilities.

(a) In Cambridge.—On registration or re-registration, postgraduates can obtain from the Dean tickets authorising application for admission to Cambridge University Library and to such of the University departmental libraries as are appropriate to their research work.

The privilege of borrowing single volumes from the Marshall Library on a strictly overnight basis can, in suitable cases, be arranged on application to the Dean. Borrowers' tickets for the University Library can be secured in approved cases and will permit the borrowing of five volumes at a time. Applicants for this privilege must obtain from their supervisor a written recommendation to the Director of the School, who will apply to the University Librarian. If approved, applicants must pay a returnable deposit of £5. os. od. to the Accountant in Room 22, The Hostel, to cover fines, loss or damage personally incurred; and must thereafter take borrowers slips, obtainable at the University Library, to Room 12 for counter-signature by the Director. To save delay several such slips can usually be counter-signed in advance.

Students holding borrowers tickets for their local municipal libraries can obtain similar privileges at the Cambridge Municipal Library on presenting their tickets. It is also hoped to continue the present arrangement by which books which still remain in the School's Library in London or in other special libraries and which are not available in Cambridge may be transferred to the Municipal Library and consulted there by postgraduate students on production of their Cambridge University Library ticket.

There is a School Lending Library at Grove Lodge, Trumpington Street, but it is chiefly confined to works needed for undergraduate study.

(b) In London.—The bulk of the essentially research material (e.g. official documents, rare books, pamphlets and periodicals) in the School's Library in Portugal Street, Aldwych, W.C.2, has been stored in various parts of the country, and will be inaccessible for the duration of the war. The Library itself is at present closed to readers, but it is likely that such books as remain available may be borrowed by registered research students resident in or near London either personally or by post or by transfer to their local municipal library for reading there. A notice will be sent later to all London registered postgraduates or applicants for registration at the beginning of the session. London students wishing for information on the continued availability of particular volumes should write direct to the Librarian at Portugal Street. Students registered at Cambridge who wish if possible to use the School's Library in London should first communicate with the Dean, who can at least in cases of real necessity arrange for a visit to the author catalogue there. Copies of the printed Subject Catalogue are available in the School Lending Library, at the Cambridge University Library, and in the Dean's office.

Lectures.

Timetables of School lectures and seminars will be available at the beginning of each term. The notice-board in Grove Lodge should be frequently consulted as to changes in the time and place of lectures. Students registered for higher degrees are under obligation to attend any lectures or seminars actually prescribed by their supervisors as part of their course of study.

The Higher Degree and Graduate Composition Fees cover attendance at seminars and lectures in the department in which the student is registered, and any in other departments which the student's supervisor agrees to recommend as useful for the preparation of his thesis or examination. Attendance at other courses irrelevant to his research is permitted with the supervisor's consent, but is not covered by the Composition Fee.

The Cambridge University lecture lists should also be consulted. Higher Degree students will be admitted to the lectures given by Cambridge University within their field of study except for a few courses where limitation on attendance is notified on the lists.

Residence at Cambridge.

It is at present expected that students at Cambridge will again be billeted with private residents in the town and district. The School's official billeting arrangements are in the hands of Dr. Anstey, Room 11, Grove Lodge. Students who have been found billets by Dr. Anstey must not leave them without informing her in advance.

Research students who may wish to make independent arrangements for their residence in Cambridge are not prohibited from doing so, but must notify the Dean's Office of their address and of every subsequent change of address.

Research students registered at Cambridge are required to reside there throughout the School term. They should at the beginning of each term report their arrival at Room 24, The Hostel, and confirm their Cambridge address. Weekend absence in termtime should be notified by completion of an absence slip at the Enquiry Office in the Hostel. Leave for postponement of arrival or for departure before the end of the term must be obtained from the Dean. Research students wishing to leave Cambridge during termtime to consult material in London or elsewhere should apply to the Dean, and if their proposed absence is to exceed five days they should first get the written approval of their supervisor.

The Social Side.

Research students, like all other regular students of the School, are automatically made members of the Students' Union and its affiliated Athletic and other societies, and they share with undergraduates the privileges and use of Grove Lodge.

Fees.

Fees payable by Higher Degree and Research Students are given in Part IV.

PART IX.—The British Library of Political and Economic Science.*

1.—General.—The British Library of Political and Economic Science was founded originally by public subscription in 1896 as the "British Library of Political Science." It is maintained by the London School of Economics and Political Science and is open to all registered students of the School.

The Library buildings, which occupy almost the whole of the north side of the School site, consist of a number of connected reading rooms on the ground, mezzanine and first floors.

2.—Disposition of Rooms.—The entrance to the Library is situated at the north end of the main corridor on the ground floor. Immediately inside the Library entrance there is a porter's lodge, where all attaché cases or brief cases must be left. (Hats, coats, umbrellas, etc., must be left in the main cloak-rooms of the School.) Opposite this lodge is the desk of the Library janitor appointed to check the tickets of readers and to examine all books which readers may be carrying out of the Library. All readers, as they leave the Library, are required to show to the Library janitor any works they may be carrying. Beyond the lodge, the Library entrance opens out into the Catalogue Room (Room Z), containing the Library's author catalogue in over 150 card-drawers, the Library's printed subject-catalogue (and its supplement in card-drawers), the British Museum Catalogue, and various other special catalogues, bibliographies, and works of reference. Here also is the Enquiry Desk. Opposite the Enquiry Desk is the entrance to Room A, containing historical works. Through the screen at the far end of the Catalogue Room is the Book Counter (with the conveyor station) for delivery and collection of books. To the left of the Book Counter vestibule is Room S, containing the Statistical collections; to the right is Room B and C, containing works on Economic Theory, Applied Economics, Commerce and Banking. The centre staircase by the Book Counter brings the reader to the mezzanine landing, where encyclopædias and the large dictionaries of national biography are shelved, and, from this landing, to the gallery (Room D), containing works on Biography, Anthropology, Sociology, Philosophy and Logic.

*During the war intending readers should not visit the Library until they have ascertained by a postal enquiry, addressed to the Librarian, what are the conditions of admission and what material is available.

At the far end of the gallery wing facing the staircase is the Periodical Room (P), with the Committee Room (Q) opening off it. At the head of the staircase, and approached by swing doors opening immediately on the left, is the gallery of Room B and C leading to the Research Stalls (N). Proceeding further up the same staircase to the first floor the reader comes to the conveyor station on the landing, where there are showcases of the School's publications. Here, turning to the right, is Room G and H, containing works on Geography and Transport, or, turning to the left, the Law Room (L), which contains, in addition to the usual law reports and textbooks, the Schuster Library of Comparative Legislation. Within (L) an opening immediately on the right leads to the Fry Room (I), containing the Fry Library of International Law, and from this room a doorway leads to the Research Reading Room (J), where works on Colonial History and Administration are shelved. By the transept in the Law Library a door leads to Room K, containing works on Political Science and Government.

3.—The Library Catalogue.—The author catalogue in card form is housed in two long banks of drawers (A-L and M-Z) on both sides of the main Library entrance. This catalogue covers all treatises in the Library, and all pamphlets, periodicals and non-serial official reports received since the 1st January, 1934. The pamphlets, periodicals and official reports received by the Library prior to January, 1934, and other classes of material, are now being catalogued and the cards inserted with the progress of the work. Works in the Students' Lending Library are entered in this catalogue on green cards; works in the seminar libraries are entered on buff cards.

The subject-catalogue of works in the Library, and in certain co-operating libraries, as at 31st May, 1929, is contained in the four printed volumes of "A London Bibliography of the Social Sciences." Two supplementary volumes bring this printed catalogue up to 31st May, 1936. Copies of the printed catalogue and its supplements are available on the central table in the main entrance. The card supplement to the subject-catalogue, including works received as and from the 1st June, 1936, is in card form in a third bank of drawers by the attaché case lodge.

4.—Use of the Library.—The works on the open shelves in the Library are classified according to the scheme of the Library of Congress. The cards in the author catalogue give the room (by letter) in which the book is shelved, and also the Library of Congress classification. The reader should note both references. On the Enquiry Desk, on the walls of the Catalogue Room, and in various strategical positions throughout the Library are plans of the ground, mezzanine and first floors showing the positions of the reading rooms and indicating to the reader the best method of reaching any particular reading room from the place where he stands as he consults the plan; within the entrance to each of the principal reading rooms there is a classification plan showing the classifications of the books in that room and the subjects covered.

If the room letter on the catalogue card is O or R, indicating that the book is in the reserve stacks not open to public access, the reader must make application for it by voucher, at the Book Counter. The reader should also ask at the Book Counter for any book normally shelved on the open shelves which he cannot find in its place and which is not likely to be in use by another reader.

Each reading room is intended primarily for readers working in the subject to which the room is devoted, and such readers are held to have prior claims to the seating accommodation therein. In the interests of other readers all books must be returned to the book-collecting station in the room to which they belong.

Books obtained for the reserve stacks may be "kept," as in the British Museum, for use on successive days.

All readers are strongly recommended to make full use of the "Reader's Guide" to the Library, which may be obtained from the Enquiry Desk, and which contains detailed information as to the contents of the various rooms, and the use of the various catalogues, together with supplementary information as to the use of the more important works of reference, the indexes to periodicals, and so forth.

5.—War-time Library Facilities.—The whole of the works from the Students' Lending Library and from the special Seminar Libraries have been moved to Cambridge and now form one joint lending collection housed in Grove Lodge.

Access to the Cambridge University Library, and to various special libraries, has been granted to registered students of the School resident in Cambridge. In addition arrangements have been made for research students to borrow works from the main library in London, for use in the Cambridge University Library or the Cambridge Public Library.

For students still resident in London a postal lending service is administered from the main library.

RULES FOR THE LIBRARY.

1.—The library is open for the purpose of study and research to :

- (a) Students for the time being of the London School of Economics and Political Science ;
- (b) Persons engaged in any branch of Public Administration in the British Empire or in any other country ;
- (c) Professors and Lecturers of any recognised University ;
- (d) Such other persons as may from time to time be admitted by the Director.

2.—Readers under paragraph (a) will be admitted on presentation of their School registration cards. Readers under paragraphs (b) (c) or (d) will be admitted on presentation of Library permits.

Applications for Library permits should be made on the prescribed forms; they should be addressed to the Director, and should be supported either by a member of the staff of the School or by two references to persons of position.

Library permits are not transferable. They are issued only upon payment of the prescribed fees. All fees are non-returnable. In the case of readers under paragraph (c) however, and in certain other limited cases, the Director may, at his discretion, authorise the issue of free permits.

3.—Every reader on his first visit must sign his name in a book kept for that purpose, and may be required to sign on subsequent occasions. The signing of this book implies an undertaking on the part of the reader to observe all the rules of the Library (including any additional rules that may be subsequently laid down). At the time of signing the book the reader's School registration card, or his Library permit, will be endorsed by the appropriate Library official.

4.—The Reading Rooms are open normally on all working days during hours prescribed from time to time by the Director of the School. They are closed on Sundays and on certain other days as prescribed. The hours of opening prescribed at present are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., on Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to 9.30 p.m. on other days. The days of closing prescribed at present are: Christmas Day and the two week-days immediately following, Good Friday and the four week-days immediately following, Whit-Monday, August Bank Holiday and the nine week-days immediately following.

5.—Readers must not bring attaché cases, overcoats, hats, umbrellas or other impedimenta into the Reading Rooms. All such articles can be deposited in the cloakrooms of the School; attaché cases can be left at the Library Lodge.

6.—Readers may take the books they require for purposes of study from any of the open shelves. Books shelved in any one of the connected Reading Rooms may be taken to any of the other connected Reading Rooms, but books cannot be taken from any of the connected Reading Rooms to any of the separate Reading Rooms, and vice versa, without permission and without the completion of the prescribed forms.

7.—Readers who have finished with books taken from the open shelves in any of the rooms should return such books without delay to the book-collecting table in the room in which they are working. Readers must not replace books on the open shelves.

8.—Books not accessible on the open shelves must be applied for on the prescribed forms. Such books must be returned to the Book Counter when done with, so that the forms may be cancelled. Readers will be held responsible for all books issued to them as long as the forms are in possession of the Library uncanceled.

9.—No book, manuscript, or other property of the Library may be taken out of the Library by any reader for any reason whatsoever, except under the express written authority of the Director or Librarian. All readers as they leave the Library are required to show to the Library Janitor any works they may be carrying.

Members of the School Staff, and certain advanced students are authorised, on completing the prescribed forms, to take books from the Reading Rooms to their private rooms in the School, or to the seminar libraries respectively. They will be responsible for any loss of or damage to books so removed; all books so removed must remain accessible to the Library Staff in the event of their being required by other readers.

Members of Staff who may wish to remove books from the School building are required in each case to obtain a separate written authorisation from the Librarian enabling them to do so.

10.—Research students, upon completion of the prescribed forms may keep books in their individual lockers in the Research Stalls and the Research Reading Room. They will be responsible for books so held by them, and the books must remain accessible to the Library Staff in the event of their being required by other readers.

11.—Readers handing in forms are required to supply all the necessary information in the appropriate spaces. The members of the Library Staff are authorised to refuse forms giving insufficient detail.

12.—Ink-bottles or ink-wells cannot be taken into any of the Library Rooms. Fountain pens are permitted. Readers using rare or valuable works may be required by the Librarian, at his discretion, to work with pencil.

13.—Smoking is forbidden within the Library.

14.—No reader may enter the Library basement or any other part of the Library not open to general readers without special permission from the Librarian.

15.—Readers may not interfere with the working of the Conveyor in any way. No reader, with the exception of research students working in N, may place books or vouchers in the Conveyor baskets.

16.—The tracing of maps or illustrations in books is forbidden. No book, manuscript, paper, or other property of the Library may be marked by readers. Anyone who injures the property of the Library in any way will be required to pay the cost of repairing or replacing the injured property, and may be debarred from further use of the Library.

17.—The Library is intended solely for study and research, and may not be used for any other purpose whatsoever.

18.—Silence must be preserved in the Reading Rooms, and on the central staircase and landings.

19.—Permission to use the Library may be withdrawn by the Director or the Librarian from any reader for breach of the rules in force at the time, or for any other cause that may appear to the Director or to the Librarian to be sufficient.

Every reader in his own use of the Library is asked to do nothing which may render the Library less useful to other readers.

FLUCTUATIONS IN INCOME & EMPLOYMENT

By Thomas Wilson, Ph.D., (Lond.). In this book the author examines the fundamental causes of the instability of effective demand and discusses the possible forces which set this mechanism in motion; he explores also the alternative hypotheses which would help to explain many of the existing disputes of the trade cycle. The second half of the book is devoted to the testing of the utility of current theories in interpreting the fluctuations in the U. S. A. between 1919 and 1937, and reference is made to post-war prospects and to the methods by which the trade cycle may be controlled in the future. It is a book essentially for the student and will be found most useful in University of London Examinations. There are two appendices, a chart of gross National output, a bibliography and an index. A thoroughly comprehensive book. 18s. net.

ECONOMICS

By Frederic Benham (Sir Ernest Cassel Reader in Commerce in the University of London). This book gives a complete outline of modern economic doctrine, not merely in the abstract, but as related to present-day conditions and problems. Important recent developments, notably in the theory of production, of imperfect competition, and of money and interest, are clearly and simply explained. Among the topics discussed are the trade cycle, public finance, exchange control, devaluation, etc. An ideal textbook for the student and for the general reader seeking a clear conception of the modern economic structure. Second edition. 7s. 6d. net.

some Press opinions:

"The Economist" says:

While this book is primarily what, after all, it is intended to be, a book for students working under a teacher, it is still the best and most up to date of any which have been offered to the general public. . . . Dr. Benham has succeeded in doing what he intended: to bring within a single book the new facts and theories, knowledge of which is now demanded of students at their first examination. . . . This book is the first to deal adequately with these new developments, and it should receive a ready welcome.

"The Spectator" says:

By virtue of its clarity, balance and realism, it leads easily in its chosen field.

"Financial Times" says:

A comprehensive and up-to-date introduction to economics.
