Virginia's suicide had no reason; it was the fulfilment of a mad streak in her which had been striving for success for the last 30 Few people know how great a man Leonard Woolf is. She was mad for a whole year when he was almost entirely alone with her many years ago, and she has tried to kill herself on a number of occasions. always had these fits of trying to starve herself and then to kill herself after she had finished a book. Leonard had found a perfect technique at least we thought it was perfect until she pulled it off this time. other times she was the most delightful and lucid of companions; the one woman of undoubted genius as distinct from very great ability whom I have ever known. a Leller p. CURIOUS omission from the House of Lords Official Report House of Lords Official Report came to light yesterday with the publication of the Official Report of Wednesday's debate. No mention was made of a speech by Lord Mottistone, a summary of which was given in The Dally Telegraph.

The debate was on the organisation of the civil defence services. Lord Mottistone's speech followed one by Lord Salisbury and preceded the second speech of Lord Beaverbrook, Minister of State, who spoke for the Government.

Yet the Official Report runs on from the last words of Lord Salisbury to the first spoken by Lord Beaverbrook.

Beaverbrook.

Without Precedent

There have been many occasions on which a word or two have been omitted from Hansard, the official report of the House of Commons debates. In February, 1929, for instance, when one member called another a liar, the remark was not reported. reported.

More recently, I drew attention last August to the omission by Hansard of the words "by God," which had been spoken by Mr. Bevin. I cannot, however, recall a precedent for the omission of a whole speech from the official report of either House in the Blues captured an Italian pilot in Irak.

The M.P. saw an Italian fighter 'plane shot down. To reach the spot where it fell he had to swim a canal. After examining the aircraft, which was on fire, to see if anything could be salved, he took the pilot prisoner. Three weeks ago I wrote of the activities of 2nd Lt. Somerset de Chair as Welfare Officer with a unit in the Middle East. Mr. de Chair is member for S.W. Norfolk. On the outbreak of war he joined the Household Cavalry from the Supplementary Reserve. mentary Reserve.

He might be the officer indicated.

U.S.S.R. Enigma

L.ADY PASSFIELD, in daily life Mrs. Sidney Webb, to Socialists Beatrice Webb, has resigned at 83 the presidency of the Fabian Society. She and Lord Passfield provided that society in its hey-day with the solid foundation upon which Mr. Bernard Shaw and Mr. H. G. Wells built their glittering new world of paradox and plenty.

She is now devoting herself to an introduction to the third edition of "Soviet Communism," which she and Lord Passfield produced in 1935. In this. I gather, she answers the ques-

Mrs. Sidney Webb's advancing years have not diminished her faith. I take it that she will propose the second solution to the Russian enigma.

Anglican Hospitality

THE Bishop of London, I hear, has come to the rescue of the London Scottish community since the destruction of St. Columba's Church in Pont-street. He has given permission for Church of Scotland weddings to be solemnised in any of the parish churches under his jurisdiction.

The legal difficulty by which the parish churches can be used only for weddings according to Anglican rites has been overcome to allow the Presbyterian ceremony.

Presbyterian ceremony.
St. Saviour's, in Walton-street, will become the centre for war-time Scottish weddings. The first under this arrangement was that of Lady Alexandra Haig. Her father, Field-Marshal Lord Haig, was an elder of St. Columba's St. Columba's.

that every woman interested in children would share her views."

He went on to describe Lady Astors proposal as a "scheme for superminders," adding that he did not wonder that Miss Horsbrugh strongly disapproved of it. He did, however, say that a scheme had been drawn up to extend war-time nurseries for children under five.

The new duties of the Regional Commissioners with regard to fire

The new duties of the Regional Commissioners with regard to fire services, Mr. Brown went on, might make it necessary to strengthen the regional machine at the top—it might be by the appointment of deputy regional machine at the top—it might be by the appointment of deputy Commissioners.

His Ministry had mobile teams of officers in each region ready to establish advanced headquarters either in a town which was "blitzed," or near it, so as to be able to give advice to the Regional Commissioner. It could be generally assumed that we had not had the worst bombardment, and preparations were accordingly being measured not by what had happened; but by what was likely to happen.

M.P.s' CRITICISMS Complacency Charge

Complacency Charge
Points from other speeches were:
Major LLOYD (Cons.).—There was an atmosphere of self-satisfaction and complacency about Mr. Morrison's speech yesterday that is not justified by the situation in the country.
Sir Henry Morris-Jones (L. Nat.):
I never walk through the streets of London without metaphorically taking my hat off to every policeman I see.

I see.
Major Milner (Soc.).—The progressive and energetic local authorities have been so many Sinbads the Sailor, and the Government has been as the Old Man of the Sea on their backs.
Cmdr. King-Hall (Nat. Lab).—It is wrong to leave to parents the decision whether children should be removed from danger areas. see. Major MILNER whether children should be removed from danger areas.

Mr. C. Davies (L.).—I would prefer to surrender my democratic freedom to the Home Secretary, knowing I would get it back after the war is over, than surrender it to Hitler.

Mr. ROBERTSON (CONS.).—More areas should be spent on Anderson over, than surrender it to Hitler.

Mr. Robertson (Cons.).—More money should be spent on Anderson and Morrison shelters.

Mr. Tom Johnston, who replied to the debate, denied that the Government had any sense of complacency. He agreed that greater use should be made of the Women's Voluntary Service, and said that a thousand women were wanted to go into rest centres and first-aid posts to take control.

More even distribution of population was being partly achieved by the setting up of hostel camps, and local authorities were being urged to requisition large houses.

Arways hispined German poncy.

Against this danger it is essential to organise a real and lasting system of guarantees. Without wishing to commit the future Governments of Belgium, I am certain that Belgium will contribute to the organisation of any system of common security undertaken under the initiative of Creat Britain. Great Britain.

M. DUPONG

The Luxembourg Government is happy to associate itself and its country fully in this pact of solidarity during the war and of collaboration in time of peace.

Strong in its rights but fully conscious of its material weakness, the Luxembourg Government is all the readier to pay its tribute to the war and peace aims defined in this draft resolution. During the war we all fight together, strong and weak, until the victory of justice over brutal force, represented by the German aggressor and their associates. After the war the cooperation of free peoples, great and small, will create in Europe and in the world a new order of economiand social security.

The Luxemburg people remains associates of solve their sovereign.

The Luxemburg people remai passionately loyal to their sovereign to their liberties, and to their independence.

BERG DEFEAT

BERG DEFEAT

By Our BOXING CORRESPONDENT
Jack (Kid) Berg's ambitions toward's the British welter-weight championship vanished in a welter of punches at the Albert Hall, London, last night, when he was clearly outpointed by the champion, Ernie Roderick, of Liverpool.

Berg left the ring with his reputation for immense courage and pertinacity untarnished. The best-timed punches Roderick put over did not affect him or dim his ardour. But with the best will in the world, I could not give Berg one of the tensely, if ruggedly, fought rounds.

Berg was his old unsparing self. He threw punches from the most impossible angles and never let up for a second. He even set Roderick a puzzle which the champion at times seemed unable to solve. Roderick, however, did good work in the brief long-range exchanges, and held his own at infighting. He was also much the cleaner hitter.

Dave Crowley took his revenge against 18-year-old Harry Lazar—a little luckily but indisputably. Lazar was put back in the seventh round of a close, if not very exciting, contest by being caught on the retreat and banging his head on the boards when he fell. The gong saved him from being counted out.

This was the turning point. Crowley made strides in the next three rounds, but he can seldom have experienced a worse last round or have been a more fatigued and bewildered winner.

LORD PARMOOR

LAW, POLITICS, AND CHURCH AFFAIRS

Lord Parmoor died at Parmoor, Henleyon-Thames, on Monday, at the age of 88. After a successful career as a practitioner at the Parliamentary Bar, and in rating, compensation, railway, and ecclesiastical cases, he served as a member of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and in 1924 and from 1929 to 1931 as Lord President of the Council, in the Labour Governments. Throughout his life he had taken a close interest in ecclesiastical affairs and held advanced High Church views. His fourth son, the Hon. Sir Stafford Cripps, is British Ambassador in views. Moscow.

Moscow.

The Right Hon. Sir Charles Alfred Cripps, P.C., K.C.V.O., first Baron Parmoor, of Frieth, County Buckingham, in the Peerage of the United Kingdom, was born on October 3, 1852, the third son of Henry William Cripps, Q.C., a well known ecclesiastical lawyer, Recorder of Lichfield and Chancellor of the Diocese of Oxford. Cripps was educated at Winchester, of which he was afterwards elected a Fellow, and where he was captain of the football team, and went with a scholarship

io New College, Oxford, where he took four irsts: in Mathematical Moderations, 1872; and the B.C.L. examination, 1876; and gained his Blue for Association football. From 1875 to 1881 he was a Fellow of St. John's, College. He obtained the senior legal studentship at the Inns of Court in 1876, and the following year was called to the Bar by the Middle Temple. In 1893 he was made a Bencher and he was Treasurer in 1917. With his great natural abilities and family connexion he soon acquired a substantial practice, specializing in Parliamentary Committee work (until he entered the House of Commons in 1895) and in compensation and ecclesiastical cases. His elder brother, Mr. Henry Cripps, was a partner in the firm of Dyson and Co., who were leading Parliamentary agents, and thus a large amount of work naturally came to Cripps from his earliest days at the Bar. In 1881 he published "Principles of the Law of Compensation," the standard book on the subject. He took silk in 1890, with Asquith and Haldane, who had also been called to the Bar in his year, and among his principal clients were the London County Council, for whom he piloted through the famous London Streets and Buildings Bill of 1894, and the Great Western Railway Company, with whom he had long territorial associations. He was one of the junior counsel, too, in the great Manchester Ship Canal case, and he was engaged in the National Telephone arbitration when that company was taken over by the Post Office, which lasted 70 days, and in the arbitration to settle the compensation to be paid to the London Water Companies when their undertakings were transferred to the when that company was taken over by the Post Office, which lasted 70 days, and in the arbitration to settle the compensation to be paid to the London Water Companies when their undertakings were transferred to the London Water Board. In his own line there were few more successful ounsel than Cripps and in his day, he was reputed to have one of the most lucrative practices at the Bar.

For many years he was a trusted adviser of the extreme High Church party, and for a long time was Vicar-General of Canterbury and also Chancellor and Vicar-General of Yor.

In 1895 he was appointed Attorney-Gengulo the Prince of Wales, and was reappointed to the Prince of Wales, and was reappointed to the same office in 1901 and 1912. He as made a K.C.V.O. in 1908, and in 1914 was raised to the peerage and appointed a member of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Cemerity under section 1 of the Judicial Committee Act. 1833, which enables the Sovereign to appoint "any two persons" to unpaid membership of that tribunal. He brought valuable special knowledge of certain branches of law to the Judicial Committee and to the House of Lords, where he also frequently sat.

In politics Lord Parmoor had a valed career. He entered Parliament as a Union st., received his peerage on the recommend on of a Liberal Prime Minister. He was first edunional matters, approaching them always from the Stretford Division of Lancast of the Council with the Stretford Division of Lancast of the League of Nations as his elevation to the peerage. In Parliament he interested himself in educational matters, approaching them always from the extreme High Church point of view, and on agricultural questions he was listened to with the interest due to a practical farmer, for he farmed on a large scale in Buckinghamshire, to which he sat until his elevation to the peerage. In Parliament he interested himself in educational matters, approaching them always from the extreme High Church point of view, and on agricultural questions he was listened to with the League of Na

WHAT " Interis nationale," for 24 years the official anthem of Soviet Russia, which causes such shivers Broadcasting House?

It was written by a Frenchman named Eugene Pottier, an ardent Comwhen he lay munard, hiding in Paris in June, 1871, after the murderous suppression of the Paris Commune. It was his expression of faith in the Workers' International even in the rible defeat. hour of ter-years later his A score of verses were unearthe Socialist militants in unearthed by Lille France's great textile town. And Pierre Pierre Degeyter, a textile worker who ran a local Socialist textile choir and had some talent for composition, set them to music. Thus the famous song was born, became the accepted anthem of French Socialism, and rapidly spread all over the Continent.

Degeyter himself, as a very old man, visited the Soviet Union in 1925, and conducted Moscow's leading orchestra in a special rendering of what has now become the national anthem of the first Socialist State. He died in "Red" St. Denis, the noted Paris suburb, in 1932, having been made a free-man of the municipality. Do you know the English words? They run:—

Arise, ye starvelings from your slumbers,

Arise, ye criminals want, reason in revolt now

ESLIE COMPTON missed his hat-London Counties XI. yesterday Against the Buccaneers, at Lord's, he scoring 138 and 121 not out on the two the Compton reputation was saved by Leslie's place at the wicket with a do-face. It was do for Denis hit up of face. It was do, for Denis hit up a Counties declared at 242 for five wicke not bat.

County captains were to the fore in the match between an A.A. XI. and Northern Counties at Trent Bridge. Major E. R. T. Holmes, former skipper of Yorkshire, knocked up 55, top score for the Ack-Ack's, who totalled 223. Other Yorkshire players also shone. Smailes hit 30 and Maurice Leyland 23.

Northern Counties made a strong response. Led by C. S. Dempster, the New Zealander, who captained Leicestershire before the war, they topped the century without loss and eventually won with eight wickets to spare. Dempster's total was 114.

snare. Dempster's total was 114.

There was a thrilling finish to the game at Gloucester, where an Army XI. beat the British Empire team by 14 runs. The Army's score of 121 seemed a moderate one against the Empire bowling, in which Crabtree took 6 for 46, but their attack more than made up for any lapses among their batsmen.

In spite of a gallant 56 by L. H. Phillips. the Empire could only knock off 107, in face of the brilliant bowling of Corpora. Lambert (four for 37) and Captain Munsden (3 for 18)

18) There There was another bowling feat by Constantine, who took six Bingley wickets for 43 runs for Windhill, making his season's aggregate 54 victims at 11 runs apiece. Keeton, a former Notts, batsman, who hit 32 for Bingley, brought his record to 259 runs in his last three completed innings.

GERMANY "CANNOT WAIT"

MENACES FROM BERLIN

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

STOCKHOLM, SEPT. 9

The most important developments discernible in the Russian front since the week-end show little change in Marshal Budyonny's sector along the Dnieper from Kiev southwards, an improvement in Marshal Timoshenko's position in the centre, where his main task is the defence

OPERATIONS IN FAR NORTH

GERMAN CONVOYS ATTACKED

THREE SHIPS SUNK

The following statement was issued by the Admiralty last night:-

Light forces under the command of Rear Admiral P. L. Vian, D.S.O., have been operating against German convoys supply ing their troops on the Murmansk front.

These operations have been successful. A German destroyer, an armed trawler, and another vessel have been sunk.

The German light cruiser Bremse, which wa damaged by naval aircraft during the raic on Kirkenes in July, is believed to have been sunk. Other ships have, probably been damaged.

e sustained no casualties. Further detail are awaited.

GERMAN VERSION OF THE FIGHT

FIGHT

Our Naval Correspondent writes:—
The German version of this encounter issued yesterday, was as follows:—
In carrying out escort duties for the suppl of troops fighting in the far north, the gunnery training ship Bremse, 1,400 tons, has a surprise encounter in bad visibility with British naval forces, consisting of a cruise and two destroyers, in northern Norwegia waters. In order to protect the convoy the Bremse fought against superior enemy force and after a short, fierce battle was sunk be several torpedo-boats. Through the courageous action of the Bremse all ships of he convoy reached their destination. Some of the crew were saved.

The Bremse was a small warship of the sloop class, originally designed as gunnery training ship, but probable recently in use chiefly as an anti-aircrafe escort ship. She was, as described, of about 1,400 tons, and fitted with Diese engines, which gave her a speed of 2'knots. Her original armament was fou 5in. guns and two small A.A. guns.

ENEMY SHIPS SUNK IN CHANNEL

NIGHT NAVAL ATTACK The Admiralty issued the following

The Admiralty issued the following announcement last night: —

An enemy convoy of two supply ships with a strong escort was intercepted and attacked last (Monday) night by our patrols in the English Channel.

In the first attack just before midnight one of the supply ships, a vessel of about 3,500 tons, was hit by torpedo. This ship was certainly badly damaged, and probably sunk. While the enemy convoy was being shadowed after the first attack, an engagement took place between our ships and the enemy convoy escort. In this engagement one E-boat was probably sunk and an armed trawler was set on fire.

Shortly afterwards a second attack was made on the enemy convoy. In this attack the remaining supply ship, a vessel of about 4,000 tons, was torpedoed. This caused a very big explosion, and much wreckage was seen to be thrown into the air. That this ship was sunk was confirmed by air reconof the distant approaches of Moscow, and a certain deterioration in the position of Marshal Voroshilov round Leningrad.

The information about the position round Leningrad to-day comes almost exclusively from German sources. In the absence of Russian contradictions, the chief German official claims must be considered as reflecting progress towards the envelopment of the town.

Spokesmen in Berlin estimate Spokesmen in Berlin estimate that the circle encloses approximately 30 Russian divisions and 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 civilians, an estimate which is probably not excessive. For the present supplies of the present supplies o estimate which is probably not excessive. For the present, supplies of munitions and food—even if the Russians are unable to break through the ring—are, according to credible reports, adequate; but with the numbers involved they would rapidly diminish. The spokesmen in Berlin explain this, but they add that the Germans are not willing to wait, and will therefore shell and bomb Leningrad as they did Warsaw and Rotterdam. This would avoid the loss of time and blood which the storming of the city would require.

AIR SUPERIORITY

Whether the position is as desperate as the Germans make out cannot easily be judged without a further authoritative statement from without a further authoritative statement from Moscow, as no private sources can possibly have genuine information. The chief factor in German progress, here as elsewhere, has been superiority in the air. The Germans have never had exclusive use of the air in this region; but in spite of the losses which the Russians have inflicted, they had massed such a number of bombers that they were enabled to blast their way through to the ring which, if their claims are true, the German troops now hold firmly from the Finnish Gulf to Lake Ladoga.

The position round Kiev is approximately the same as in August. The German thrust through Gomel did not succeed in advancing through Gomel did not succeed in advancing across or round the eastern borders of the Pripet Marshes to assist in enveloping Kiev, and the forces engaged have been obliged to spend the past fortnight mainly on the defensive, pending the arrival of reinforcements to relieve pressure from the Russian counter-offensive which threatens to pin them against the marshland or drive them into it, by an advance along the Iput valley.

ENEMY RESERVES DELAYED

Available information does not indicate the measure of success which this Russian move has scored, beyond the fact that the German thrust at Gomel has been halted, at least temporarily. This also suggests that German reinforcements up to now have not been able to arrive in adequate numbers. Indeed, the Germans have been obliged to divert available reserves to an even more vital divert available reserves to an even more vital point south of Smolensk, where a Russian offensive on a larger scale has been developing since August and culminated yesterday in the most important success the Russians have achieved since the Germans between Smolensk and Vyazma. were halted

The Russians name eight German divisions The Russians name eight German divisions as routed and announce the recapture of Elnya on the River Lesna, about 60 miles east of Smolensk. [This success was reported in the later editions of The Times yesterday.] The Germans themselves optimistically reported heavy fighting in this region at the end of August and the Russian success is of the greatest local importance, though nothing at sesent indicates that it is more than local.

naissance at daylight this morning, when the masts of a new wreck and much wreckage were sighted. The only casualties suffered by our ships during these opera-tions were four wounded.

ne of the vessels which torpedoed and sank the 4,000-ton supply ship, was a motor torpedo-boat manned by the Royal One torpedo-boat m Norwegian Navy.

Our Naval Correspondent writes:-

Our Naval Correspondent writes:—
The enemy's constant attempts to maintain traffic by sea along the occupied coasts by day have been rendered so expensive by the vigilance of the R.A.F. that the Germans have evidently endeavoured to substitute night traffic, doubtless in the hope that it might be less subject to interruption. If so, the hope has proved vain, for naval attack by night has proved just as efficacious as air attack by day, notwithstanding that the convoy was moving close in to the occupied coast where, in day-light, it would have been under the protection of guns mounted on shore. What has happened to this convoy may perhaps be taken as a foreto this convoy may perhaps be taken as a fore-taste of what enemy attempts at invasion across the narrow seas would experience.

BIG ITALIAN SCHOONER TORPEDOED

A further Admiralty announcement

A large Italian schooner has been torpedoed and sunk by one of our submarines in the central Mediterranean.

Off the harbour of Benghazi another of our submarines engaged two self-propelled supply lighters by gunfire. Both of these were hit and damaged, and one of them may have been sunk.

"LENINGRAD BOMBED DAY AND NIGHT"

CLAIMS BY GERMANS

*The German High Command report issued yesterday stated:—

"German bombers raided armament and supply centres in Leningrad by day and night on Monday. Another night attack was directed against Moscow."

German News Agency reports stated that

2,000 prisoners were taken on Monday in the southern sector, together with 40 guns, a complete Russian battery, and several arms depôts, in spite of difficult terrain. The way for the rapid advance by infantry in this sector had been well prepared by engineers and signal units in the face of heavy enemy fire.

In the central sector many prisoners, 38 guns, and six tanks were taken by mobile troops, which moved so quickly that the Russian forces had no time to withdraw their heavy

Late yesterday the official German News Agency reported that the Germans were involved in heavy fighting during the past few days against "superior Russian forces" in the area north-east of Roslavl, 120 miles south of Smolensk, on the railway from Smolensk to Briansk. The reports claimed that the German tanks, in counter-attacks, had broken through the Russian lines. the Russian lines.

THE Nation. Could 9 6 4 Could Charles London - First Look. By Louis Fischer.

".... Even those who defend Churchill passionately and would be distressed at any change in the premiership, nevertheless indulge in the altogether human sport of speculating on Churchills successor. Anthony Eden is the first choice, Ernest Mevin second. Lord Beaverbrook third, and Sir Stafford Cripps fourth. put Cripps first. His prestige had risen enormously since the Russian war. He would be more acceptable to the ruling class than Bevin, whose sentences in the Commons are ungrammatical and who at a dramatic mement in the debate on production the other day said he would be proud to be an "unskilled laborer". "This is the people's war", Bevin added, and then turned to a Tory M.P. who had run down the dockers and called him a "cad". The fact that Bevin and Cripps are mentioned as for the prime ministership when Labor is in a minority confirms the impression that party lines have been blurred by the war and that the present coalition is more than a political makeshift.

MRS WEBB ON SOVIET DEMOCRACY

SOVIET COMMUNISM: A New Civilization. By Sidney and Beatrice Webb. Second Edition. In Two Volumes, with New Introduction by Beatrice Webb. Longmans. 21s.

It is six years since the Webbs produced their exhaustive statement of the structure and function of the Soviet system. The amount of first-hand knowledge they could offer was of necessity severely restricted, but this did not stand in the way of a characteristically total analysis of official and unofficial documentary evidence. It was their identification of the theoretical aspect of the Soviet State with the practical means and ends of Soviet policy that left room for disagreement; there was little or no desire to amend the comprehensive diagram of Soviet constitutional theory, for instance, or the intricate pattern of the theory of Soviet planning which they had deduced from a variety of written sources.

The two volumes of their remarkable work have now been reissued with a new introduction by Mrs. Webb. Written with still more unreserved enthusiasm for the new civilization—the celebrated question mark was omitted from the title-page of the second edition, published in 1937—of Soviet Communism the introduction seeks to answer once again a number of questions of the homely but pertinent kind that were asked both before and after the Soviet-Nazi Pact of 1939. Much that Mrs. Webb has to say repays meditation, though on occasion her argument is both trite and exaggerated, and perhaps the most useful thing is to summarize her series of questions and answers.

Is Stalin a dictator? No. An elected representative of one of the Moscow constituencies to the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R., selected by this assembly as one of the thirty members of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet, he and his fellow-members are accountable to the assembly for all the presidium's activities. It is the presidium which selects the Council of Commissars, and Stalin's assumption of the office of Prime Minister in May of this year was in no way different from Mr. Churchill's appointment as Prime Minister last year. As Prime Minister Stalin would not have offered, as Mr. Churchill did in the case of France, to amalgamate the U.S.S.R. on terms of equality with another Great Power without consulting the presidium of the Supreme Soviet. Certainly he has nothing like the autocratic power of the American President. If his authority in fact exceeds that of the British Prime Minister or the American President, that is because of the unique and extra-constitutional character of the Communist Party, of which he is still general secretary. But even here he does no more, as he himself has frequently explained, than carry out the decisions of the Central Committee of the Party.

Mrs. Webb returns later to this cardinal matter, but in the meantime there is another and equally simple question. Is the U.S.S.R. a political democracy? Yes. It is, indeed, the most inclusive and equalized democracy in the world. For it gives full effect, unlike the British Commonwealth of Nations, for instance, or the United States, to the principle of racial equality. For the rest, it may be asked, is a one-party system of government compatible with democracy? It is. At a time of revolutionary upheaval, when the end in view is to educate a mass of illiterate and oppressed peoples and races, to raise them to a higher level of culture and to introduce them to the art of self-government, there is in fact no alternative to the one-party system. In any case, following upon the collapse of the many-party system in the capitalist demo-cracies of Europe, have we not ourselves virtually abandoned the two-party system of government under the stress of war, and had the Bolshevists less justification for doing so in the no less fateful circumstances of the Revolution?

The truth, as Mrs. Webb sees it, is that there is no reason for political parties at all-granted the democratic control of the instruments of production, distribu-tion and exchange. That brings her back, in the long run, to the function of the Communist Party in Russia and to the Socialist transformation that has been effected under Party leadership. And that, in turn, leads to a discussion of the existing imperfections of Soviet Communism. What, in Leninist phrase, are its infantile diseases? The Moscow trials are disposed of as the fruit of disagreement among the revolutionary builders of a new social order. The idolization of the leader, which is inconsistent with historical materialism, is regrettable but has largely ceased to exist. There remains what is called the disease of orthodoxy. On this score Mrs. Webb declares that there is really far more suppression of criticism in capitalist Britain than in the U.S.S.R., though such intolerance as does exist there can be attributed, she thinks, to the growing pains of a new mode of life and society in a hostile world. The effect of Mrs. Webb's pleading is too often marred by the narrowness and the extreme positiveness of her theoretical exposition.

He Test to Color por.? October 23rd-1941

In a letter from Isobel sending me the entries in Stafford's diary from September to the beginning of October she writes

> "I saw Alexander Cadogan on Friday. Stafford had stayed behind with Molotov and they were flying later to join the others at Kabottev not Kazan where it was planned at first, but this is private still. No news has come thro: yet of any of them and may be won't for a few days. Isn't it strange - Stafford and Molotov?

B.

"Did I tell you I lunched with Beaverbrook in his "office" dining room last week. It was interesting edpecially after Atafford's letter - he spoke of that conversation and I had an intuition something had I will tell you when we can meet.

Best Love, Ksobel.

mun 17 was at Ithe Women's meeting in the Phoenix Theatresyesterday where your message was much clapped.

Stafford's Diary - written from September 25 to Oct. 2nd. and is full of interest. He is not much impressed by the Conference and its results. Here are some extracts -

Oct. 2nd. A vivid description of the final meeting of the Conference; "and the dinner that celebrated the Ifinal signature of the secret agreement: he concludes:

> "It is quite clear however, as one would expect, that Bea(Beaverbrook) like most of the Cabinet hair not all looked upon this country purely from the point of view of continuing the fight to defeat the Germans and do not either hope or wish for any partnership after that has been done. I, on the other hand, am more inclined to stress the after possibilities in building up a new Europe with their cooperation. In the long run this is what will offer the greater opportunity for the world. Although, of course, it is necessary to add, the beating first as an essential preliminary. But they look upon that victory as the end in itself, whereas I look upon it as the beginning of a great possibility. However, that is something I cannot influence from this end except in the sense that I have done already by the form of the agreement that I have got made between the two countries.

"I more and more doubt whether it is possible for me to work with the present government in any way especially since my experience here with Beaver who is almost the most reactionary person possible. His approach to every problem is not the sort I think wise or right and I don't like to think that a person of this kind is imcharge of the fate of our country, either now or in the future. At least in charge in the sense that he is the most close frienda and ally of the P.M.s.

"Unfortunately, I think, the communique which B. and H. (Beaverbrook and Harriman) put out yesterday is quite false in saying we have satisfied the Russians..... I do not think that there is any chance of our delivering more than a fraction of what we have actually promised unless some very drastic steps are taken to spare the shipping. This will be Russia......

"Stalin was I thought rather depressing about the immediate prospect of the war. He said they would have to evacuate Odessa in order toagetotroops for the defence of the Crimea and that also the Germans were determined to get Leningrad...... He did not seem very depressed about the ultimate things; but he expects a good deal many more reverses before there is the great struggle now for those who wish to help any change.

"The more I see of B. the less possible it seem to me that I should ever be in the same Cabinet as him. I admire his eneggy but every idea that he has about the future is really contrary to mine. He was saying yesterday that he really thought that profits had been cut down too much when you thought of a man who had been been making perhaps £100,000 a year now reduced to something like £15,000. How could you expect them to p their bet?...."

Here are some Notes from the contents of stafford's Diaries from October 4th - October 22nd 1941.

October 4th. Talks freely with Harriman American representative at Conference who gives Stafford reports of what happens at this Conference.

every day and all day but he has not vouchsafed any to me at all.... Nore than ever I think I could not work with him, after the experience of the last weeks.... It seems pretty clear that there is not much hope of getting the things delivered on time and it is the deliverance that counts not the promises."

About Harriman he writes

"The general line... as to the future and the need of agreement between us and the U.S.A. in the first instance and with Russia. H. agrees that there must be a tripartite arrangement after the war and that we have got to get down to this discussion as soon as we can and before it is too late. He attaches too much value to the vague Atlantic declaration—and the need to face the territorial facts of the situation as they will emerge after the war in Europe. Roosevelt is persuading himself that the Russians are becoming more reasonable as regards the R.G. religion..."

October 8th "Gabriloboc (Jugo Blay Ambassador) depressed.

Horrible news about massacre of his friends and relations.

Gadistic orgies of killing are recorded in the diaries of dead

German officers. The spirit of revenge will be violent everywhere in Europe and something definite must be decided to what to do about it."

Question of evacuating troops from Teheran - Russians want to stay in Morthern Persia and take over the north as part of the Soviet Union.

October 9th. Second instalment of Stafford's Diary.

about the way in which the Russians are behaving in Iran.....

After seeing him I went to have a talk with the Czech Slovak minister and his wife.... He is a little too unobjective in his favourite view of the Soviet regime. It is nice to have a talk to someone who is sympathetic but he is a little too apt to overdo it....

"Our military authorities have suddenly completely cut off all information as to German doingd.... The (British) Intelligence Cervice are taking the present condition as an opportunity to get all the secret information as to Russia which they have not been able to get for the last twenty years. They are always trying to send disguished spies of some sort down here.... In north Persia they are apparently doing the same thing. Of course the Russians find it out it makes them quite properly and naturally suspicious of everyone else. Nothing could be better calculated to destroy all chance of cooperation; and yet the department at home go on trying to deceive them and us too sometimes...."

Stafford is finding it difficult to discover when he and his staff will be evacuated from Moscow. He succeeds in persuading Molotov to withdraw the Russian troops from Teheran.

Octaber 12th "Yesterday lunched with Jugo Slav and some Poles.

Rather depressing as all the Poles are defeatists so is Gabriloboc. Diplomatic corps including American Ambassador are defeatists. Father Braun (R.C.) is spreading defeatist rumours applied apply fifth column manner. The only sensible diplomat is the Czech Minister who refuses to be rattled."

October 14th. T.U. delegation arrives. Poor lot except Walter Citr ine - not worthy to represent British workers.

(Stafford afterwards says allen, Locomotive Engineers, is able man)
"Talk with Molotov. He argued that he could not accept a clause for providing our troops because there were not troops here."

October 16th . Asked to leave Moscow by Soviet government.

"I have never seen him (Molotov) look so tired and ill, obviously he had ween up all night and the decision hurt him terribly. He was deadly pale and collar all awry whereas he is generally neat and tid; tidy . Intended to defend Moscow at all costs. "

October 18th Four days till they get to Kuibishev - very incomfortable quarters - worst of all provided for the Embassies. Nothing proposed. Stafford angry.

October 22nd. "Holotov arrives and has friendly conversation Winston's suggestion that the British should take over the miole Persia and let the Russians withdraw their troops for reinforcement against the Germans was unfortunate - rais ed their suspicions as to our intentions in Persia. I talked about a number of other things of not great importance - except that he assumed me that there was no danger of interferencewith the Archangel route. Saw Polish and Persian Ambassadors and the American at Molotov's."

His diaries contain innumerable accounts of Jo the dog who travels with him to whom he seems devoted.

"The prospect of getting home is now more distant than ever it was but I don't despair that at the end of this month the prospect may book better than it does now. "

The diary includes a message from Eden Ol 14 "Antony Eden telegraphs 'Impossible for you to leave Soviet government Any such action would inevitably lead to a misunderstanding - if the front is stabllised we may communicate again".
