Population Projections for the South East

by

Eric J. Thompson, BSC (ECON), FSS

This report gives, in some detail, an account of the preparation of the population projections made by the General Register Office in 1966 for South East England and describes the assumptions behind those projections. The period discussed is for the years 1964 to 1981.

The report discusses the projected changes in the population of the region as a whole and of its major sub-divisions and the migration assumptions incorporated in the projections. The assumptions on both migration and natural increase are compared with those made in previous Government estimates.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

1. New or recent changes in presentation

(a) Supplementary tables

Supplementary fertility tables are included this year. Similar tables last appeared in the 1961 volume, except for Table MM Supplement published in the 1962 volume. It is intended to publish these tables at five yearly intervals.

Table AA Supplement 1.

Legitimate live births by ages of parents in combination.

Table AA Supplement 2.

Legitimate stillbirths by ages of parents in combination.

Table FF Supplement.

Legitimate stillbirths per 1,000 legitimate births by ages of parents in combination.

Table HH Supplement 1.

Legitimate live births to remarried women by age of mother at birth and the number of her previous liveborn children by all husbands.

Table HH Supplement 2.

Legitimate births to all married women by sex, age of mother at birth and the number of her previous liveborn children.

Table HH Supplement 3.

Legitimate male births per 1,000 legitimate female births to all married women by age of mother at birth and the number of her previous liveborn children.

Table II Supplement 1.

Legitimate live births to remarried women by age of mother at birth and duration of current marriage.

Table II Supplement 2.

Legitimate live births to all married women by age of mother at birth and marriage duration.

Table MM Supplement.

Legitimate live births to remarried women, at integral marriage durations (in completed years or months) by mother's calendar year of, and age at, current marriage.

(b) Changes in regular tables introduced this year

Table S(c). Revised to show nationality of migrants according to country issuing passport (citizenship).

Table S(h). New table showing migration into and out from United Kingdom, by sex, occupation and age.

Table S(i). Table previously published as Table S(h).

(c) Changes introduced in 1965.

These changes result from the transfer to this volume of certain data previously included in the Registrar General's Statistical Review, Part III, Commentary.

- Table A3(a). Previously described as Table A3.
- Table A3(b). New table showing proportions of women married in each age-group, for selected years, with ratios to those for 1911.
- Table B1. New abridged life table constructed from home populations and total deaths registered in the last three years.
- Table B2. New serial table showing expectation of life at birth and at age 1 year.
- Table C1. Previously described as Table B1.
- Table C2. Previously described as Table B2.
- Table D1. Previously described as Table C, and extended to include male/female birth ratios by legitimacy.
- Table D2. Previously described as Table D.
- Table D3. New serial table showing the quarterly incidence of live births in relation to the average for the calendar year.
- Tables H1, H2, H3. Three new serial tables, replacing the former Table H, and showing first marriage and remarriage rates and ratios by sex and age.
- Table N1. Previously described as Table N.
- Table N2. New serial table showing the quarterly incidence of marriage.
- Table O1. Previously described as Table O.
- Table O2. New serial table showing divorce rates of husbands and wives by ages at divorce.
- Table P1(c). New table showing the grounds on which decrees absolute of dissolution of marriage were granted, by party and age.
- Table P3(c). New table showing divorce rates per 1,000 related marriages by calendar year of marriage and the ages at marriage of both parties in combination.
- Table P7(a). Previously described as Table P7.
- Table P7(b). New table showing divorce rates per 1,000 related marriages by husband's or wife's age at and marital condition before the marriage and the calendar year of marriage.
- Table U1. Previously described as Table U.
- Table U2. New serial table showing parliamentary and local government electors in England and Wales.
- Table U3. New table showing parliamentary constituencies by size for recent years, distinguishing county and borough constituencies in England and in Wales.
- Table V1. Previously described as Table V.
- Table V2. New table showing percentage of electorate voting in contested local government elections in urban areas, and in rural areas by regions.

- Table V3. New serial table showing percentages of electorate voting in contested local government elections in recent years.
- Table KK(a). Previously described as Table KK.
- Table KK(b). New table showing for recent years legitimate maternity rates for women married once only by age and marriage duration.
- Table QQ(c). New table showing family size distribution per 1,000 women married once only, by duration of, calendar year of, and age at marriage.
- Table SS(c). New table showing widowhood rates by age of surviving spouse for recent years.
- Table TT(a). Previously described as Table TT.
- Table TT(b). New table showing monthly birth incidence in relation to the average for the calendar year, for recent years.
- Table TT(c). New serial table showing live births by month of occurrence, seasonally adjusted.
- Table UU. New serial table showing illegitimate maternities and pre-maritally conceived legitimate maternities.
- Appendix B. A new series of tables has been introduced in this appendix showing various analyses of live births and stillbirths according to the place of confinement of the mother.

2. Additional tables and data

Tabulations of live births and stillbirths separately for each region, conurbation and local authority area in England and Wales by sex, legitimacy and month of occurrence are available at the General Register Office for reference; copies can also be supplied on payment.

3. Populations

The estimates of population appearing in this volume and described as 'home', 'total' or 'civilian' have the following content;

- Home population* - the population, of all types, actually in England and Wales, distributed by area according to residence.
- Total population* - the home population plus members of H.M. Forces belonging to England and Wales and serving overseas but minus the Forces of other countries temporarily in England and Wales.
- Civilian population* - the total population minus members of H.M. Forces belonging to England and Wales at home or overseas.

In order not to count either deployment of H.M. Forces between home and overseas stations, or their recruitment or demobilisation, as migration, each intercensal national population estimate starts with the total population at the date of the previous estimate. To this is added natural increase and the net result of migration into and out of the civilian population (which may differ slightly from the balance of intending migrants derived from the International Passenger Survey, etc.). This gives the new total population. The subtraction from this of all of H.M. Forces regarded as emanating from England and Wales, wherever stationed, gives the new civilian population estimate. The addition of non-civilians (whether H.M. Forces or Allied Forces) actually stationed in England and Wales gives the new home population estimate. A minor difficulty in equating the difference between two total population estimates minus the net result of subtracting births from deaths with the precise figure for net migration during the period arises from the fact that provisional figures for births are used at the time population estimates are necessarily made, whereas published figures are usually of actual occurrences. Discrepancies between provisional birth figures and final occurrences are generally allowed for in the estimates for the following year.

The national estimates by sex and age for 1961 and 1962, published in Table A2 for each of those years, were revised according to an age-graduation of the final results of the 1961 Census and, with similarly based estimates for 1963, were presented in Appendices C and D and Table A2 (respectively) of the 1963 Statistical Review, Part II. The method of graduating was to divide the population enumerated at each single year of age by the number of births in the relevant past period and to draw a smooth curve through the resulting 'survivorship factors', allowing for the effects on the curve of migration and the temporary absence abroad of non-civilians. Multiplying the smoothed survivorship factors by the related births provides the graduated population of that age.

The national estimates by sex and age for 1960, revised in the light of 1961 Census results, appeared in Appendix G of the 1965 Statistical Review, Part II. The estimates published in Tables A3 and A4 for each of the years 1961 to 1963 were also revised and appeared in Appendices B to G of the 1964 Statistical Review, Part II.

4. Births and birth rates

The births recorded and analysed for England and Wales for periods from 1939 onwards are those which occurred during the period. The numbers registered in 1966 are shown in the footnote to Table C1.

For classification by area (Tables E, BB, etc.), births and maternities are assigned to the area of the mother's usual residence if this is within England and Wales; if not, to the area of occurrence.

The national birth rates shown in Tables D1 and D2 are calculated by relating birth occurrences to the home population (before 1939, birth registrations to the home population; in 1914-19, birth registrations to the total population), except rates by legitimacy per 1,000 married or unmarried women aged 15-44, which are based on total population. The rates in Table E are calculated from birth occurrences and home populations (see note 3 above).

5. Deaths and death rates

The deaths recorded (Tables E and SS) are the total registered (including non-civilians) in the calendar period, the time lag between the date of occurrence and the date of registration being usually only a day or two. In general, deaths have been assigned to the area of usual residence of the deceased; if this is not within England or Wales they are assigned to the area of occurrence. Accommodation provided under Parts III or IV of the National Assistance Act, 1948 is regarded as the place of residence of persons dying there. Before 1st January 1958 chronic sick and psychiatric hospitals were similarly treated for this purpose but from that date the method of classification was modified, the main change being that a death in such a hospital is now assigned to the area of occurrence only if the deceased had been there six months or more. If the deceased had been there less than six months the death is transferred to the area of previous usual residence.

In some small areas the numbers of deaths may also have been appreciably affected by the opening, closing or change of use of certain institutions, so that figures may not be comparable with those of earlier years.

The crude death rates in Table E are calculated from total deaths and home populations.

6. Area comparability factors

(a) Births

The crude birth rates for local areas in Table E (col. 8) may not be comparable one with another because the populations on which they are based may contain different proportions of women of child-bearing ages. In order to eliminate differences between local birth rates due to this cause a standardising factor, termed an Area Comparability Factor, is calculated (as described in the 1965 Statistical Review, Part III, Commentary).

The product of the crude birth rate and this Area Comparability Factor (col. 9 of Table E) is a rate which makes allowance for this influence. The ratio of this adjusted rate to the rate for England and Wales as a whole is shown in col. 10 of Table E.

(b) Deaths

The crude death rates for local areas in Table E (col. 14) may not be comparable one with another. In the first place, the populations on which they are based may have widely differing structures by sex and age. In order to eliminate differences between local death rates due to this cause a standardising factor, termed an Area Comparability Factor, is calculated (as described in the 1965 Statistical Review, Part III, Commentary).

In the second place the populations on which the crude death rates are based may include a disproportionate number of invalids if there are certain types of hospitals in the area. In order to eliminate this difference the Area Comparability Factors are adjusted so that they have the effect of apportioning the deaths and the populations in chronic sick and psychiatric hospitals over all areas of the country according to their non-institutional populations. The product of the crude death rate and this Area Comparability Factor (col. 15 in Table E) is a rate which makes allowance for these two influences. The ratio of this adjusted rate to the rate for England and Wales as a whole is shown in col. 16 of Table E.

7. Fertility Analyses

All the tables that appear in the Fertility Analyses are based upon occurrences with the exception of Table SS which is based upon registrations.

One of the changes introduced by part of the Population (Statistics) Act, 1960, which came into operation on 1st January 1961, was that the age of the child's father was required where his name was entered in the register, i.e. where the entry was that of a legitimate birth or of an illegitimate birth registered on the joint information of the parents. The analysis of illegitimate births by father's age in Table AA(b), being thus restricted to those births registered jointly by the parents where the father's age was stated, is therefore incomplete and may be misrepresentative.

The term 'maternity' in these tables is used to denote a pregnancy which has terminated in the birth of one or more live or still born children, and the term 'paternity' a legitimate pregnancy of the man's wife which has terminated in the birth of one or more live or still born children. The maternity record differs from the birth record in that multiple births from a single pregnancy are counted as one maternity, while for the birth record each child born is reckoned as a separate unit. The definition of a stillborn child is given in Section 41 of the Births and Deaths Registration Act, 1953, as follows: 'a child which has issued forth from its mother after the twenty eighth week of pregnancy and which did not at any time after being completely expelled from the mother breathe or show any other signs of life'.

The treatment of 'not stated' cases is explained in note 12.

Revised Tables JJ, KK, NN, OO, PP for the years 1961 to 1964, adjusted to take account of fertility data from the 1961 Census, appeared in Appendices C to F of the 1965 Statistical Review Part II.

8. Divorces

The figures in Table O1 have been obtained from the Lord Chancellor's Department. Tables O2 and P1 to P7 have been compiled from the records of the Divorce Registry, controlled to the total given by Table O1.

9. Register of electors

Table U1, compiled from returns received from Electoral Registration Officers, shows the numbers of parliamentary electors on the February 1966 Register for each parliamentary constituency as constituted at the date of the general election held on 15th October 1964. The number of votes cast at by-elections held on the February 1966

Register have been supplied by the Home Office. The 1961 acreages, which comprise land and inland water, for each parliamentary constituency, have been obtained from the Ordnance Survey Department.

The numbers of votes cast at by-elections held during the first six weeks of the calendar year are shown in footnotes to Table U in the preceding year's volume.

Tables U2 and U3 are derived from Table U1 for the current and preceding years, so far as they relate to parliamentary electors.

Table V1, which shows the number of local government electors, the total number of councillors on each council, and an analysis of local elections held in 1966, is compiled from returns received from clerks to local councils. Tables V2 and V3 are derived from the same source.

10. Migration

Table S shows various data derived mainly from the International Passenger Survey which is conducted by Government Social Survey Department for the Board of Trade. This Survey is a stratified random sample of passengers entering and leaving the country on all the principal air and sea routes, other than to or from the Irish Republic, to obtain information about overseas migration, tourism and the contribution of 'travel' expenditure to the balance of payments. The term 'migration' here relates to passengers whose declared intention is to reside in, or be away from, this country for at least a year.

On the long air routes nearly 7 per cent of the outgoing passengers and 4 per cent of the incoming passengers are interviewed at London Airport and Prestwick; 2 per cent of the short air route passengers in winter and 1 per cent in summer are also interviewed there. At the smaller airports the percentage sampled varies between half of one per cent and 4 per cent according to the time and the airport concerned. The sample weights are adjusted for known traffic densities, and appropriate allowance made for traffic not covered. On the short sea routes, about 1 per cent of the winter traffic and a half of one per cent of the summer traffic is interviewed. In a two stage sample, cross-channel boats are sampled in proportion to the weight of traffic they are expected to handle, and a pre-determined number of passengers is interviewed on each selected boat. On the long sea routes, every liner or other ship having more than 200 passengers arriving, or more than 100 passengers departing, is covered. One ship in every two of other ships carrying more than 12 passengers on these routes is covered. Nearly 7 per cent of the outgoing and 4 per cent of the incoming passengers are sampled. A larger proportion of passengers leaving this country on the long sea and air routes is sampled in order to provide information about emigration from this country.

The totals obtained by grossing up the sample statistics are subject to sampling error.

11. International tables

Information for the completion of Tables W, X, Y and Z has been obtained from United Nations publications and from official sources.

12. 'Not stated' cases

Where a particular item of information on a record is not known or not stated at registration a specific value is assigned during the early stages of computer processing, as follows:

Births

Births for which the age of mother, age of father, year of marriage or the number of previous children is not stated are assigned the value of the appropriate item from the last case with otherwise similar characteristics to be processed. Notes of the number of cases dealt with in this way are included in the relevant tables.

Marriages

Marriages with the age of one of the parties not stated are assigned a value for that age based upon the other party's stated age, adjusted according to the combined marital condition of the parties. Where the ages of both parties are not stated, the values assigned are those appearing on the last of a sub-sample of previous cases with the same combined marital condition.

Divorces

Not stated age at marriage is assigned a value in a manner similar to marriages. Present age is estimated from age at marriage.

13. Changes in boundaries

Areas which have undergone a change in boundary during the year are identified in Table E by an asterisk *, newly created areas by the sign †, and abolished areas by the sign ‡. For any such area the statistics shown for the current year represent the events assigned to the area within the boundaries as they existed at the date of the event, and the population given in Table E (col. 2), which is used for the calculation of crude birth and death rates, is a weighted average of the mid-year populations of the area as constituted before and after the change. This population figure may therefore differ from any given in Table A4 for the same region, conurbation, etc., which relates to the area as constituted at mid-year. Details of boundary changes are given in Appendix A.

In the case of areas in the West Midlands Conurbation, where extensive alteration of boundaries took place on 1st April 1966, a supplement is given to Table E showing approximate figures for the reconstituted areas covering the whole calendar year.

14. Indication of reliability

Rates given as 0 indicate that the actual rate is less than half of a unit. A dash (-) in any cell indicates that there were no events. Where a cell has been left blank no denominator is available. Rates calculated from less than 20 events are distinguished by italic type as a warning to the user that the smallness of the experience may affect their reliability as a measure.

Numbers

If \bar{d} represents the deaths in an area and p the population in that area then, if \bar{d}/p is small, the standard error (s.e.) of \bar{d} is approximately $\sqrt{\bar{d}}$ assuming that the deaths are independent of one another. Clearly, the larger the number of deaths the smaller will be the proportionate variability. A deviation either way of twice the s.e. may be expected about once in 20 times. Using this criterion one might expect towns each averaging 20 deaths per year to yield in the same year numbers ranging between 11 and 29 without such differences having any statistical significance. Alternatively it could be said that if 20 deaths were recorded for a town, this number would have a 95 per cent confidence interval of approximately ± 9 , there being a 95 per cent chance that the underlying mortality is represented by a number of deaths within this interval.

If \bar{d} is thought to be an extreme variation it would be more reliable to use as the standard error not $\sqrt{\bar{d}}$ but $\sqrt{\bar{d}}$ where \bar{d} is the number of deaths expected if some standard rate (e.g. the national rate) were applied.

Rates

The appropriate standard error of a death rate when \bar{d} represents the number of deaths and p the population is where m is the death rate. The difference between two local death rates m_1 and m_2 can be regarded as significant only if it amounts to more than twice the standard error of the difference, viz.

$$\frac{\sqrt{\bar{d}}}{p} \text{ or } \frac{m}{\sqrt{\bar{d}}}$$

$$2 \sqrt{\left(\frac{m_1^2}{d_1} + \frac{m_2^2}{d_2} \right)}$$

Comparison of adjusted rates

Before comparisons are made, other known sources of variation (such as differences in the sex and age composition of the population) must be removed. If C is the local death Area Comparability Factor, then mC is to be compared with m' , the national death rate. The s.e. of mC is and

is to be compared with m' . As already indicated, m' can be used instead of m in the calculation of the s.e.; m' has the advantage of itself having only a small sampling error.

19. Urban and rural aggregates

These aggregates comprise (a) the six conurbations combined, (b) the aggregates of urban local authority areas outside the conurbations in three groups according to the size of their resident population at the 1961 Census and (c) the aggregate of rural local authority areas outside the conurbations. Urban areas include boroughs and urban districts as defined by the Local Government Acts, and rural areas are rural districts as similarly defined.

20. Hospital regions

The hospital regions presented in this volume consist of aggregations of entire local authority areas. They are identical with the areas of the regional hospital boards except where the boundaries of the latter divide local authority areas. Any such divided local authority area is allocated to the hospital region containing the greater proportion of the population.

Estimates of the population of hospital regions in which the figures for the parts of divided areas have been allocated to the regions in which they are situated have been published in the Registrar General's Quarterly Return (see return No. 472 for the fourth quarter of 1966).

TABLE A5. Total population, projections from 30th June, 1966, by sex and age

England and Wales

These projections have been prepared by the Government Actuary's Department in consultation with the General Register Office

Basis: Mid-1966 estimate of the Total population of England and Wales (plus members of H.M. Forces belonging to England and Wales and serving overseas but minus the Forces of other countries temporarily in England and Wales).

Assumptions (1966 Revision):

Mortality: Death rates at the outset based on recent experience. At ages under 40 for males and under 50 for females death rates are assumed to decline over the period of the projection until, at the end of forty years, they are one half or less of the rates now being experienced. Above these ages the assumed rates of decline become progressively smaller as the age advances until they vanish at ages over 90. At almost every age the assumed rates of decline are smaller for males than for females.

Nativity: The estimates assume 844,000 live births in each of the years mid-1966 to mid-1967 and mid-1967 to mid-1968 and a gradual increase thereafter to 891,000 births in 1970, to 976,000 in 1980, to 1,153,000 in 1990 and to 1,288,000 in 2000. The ratio of male to female births has been taken as 1.06.

Migration: A net outward migration of 17,000 in the year mid-1966 to mid-1967, rapidly falling to nil by 1968, followed by a net inward migration rising to 42,000 in the year mid-1971 to mid-1972, declining thereafter to 28,000 a year from mid-1975 onwards. These figures include migration to and from other parts of the United Kingdom as well as migration to and from all countries over seas. The net migration is assumed to comprise about 47 per cent males and 53 per cent females.

This abridged life table is constructed from the estimated home population in 1964, 1965, and 1966, and the total deaths registered in those years.

The column headed l_x shows for each sex, the numbers who would survive to exact age x out of 10,000 born who were subject throughout their lives to the recorded age death rates of the period.

Column e_x is the 'expectation of life', that is, the average future lifetime which would be lived by persons aged exactly x , if likewise subject to those death rates.

SUPPLEMENT TO TABLE E

Areas within the West Midlands Conurbation were considerably altered by the West Midlands Order 1965, which took effect on 1st April, 1966. Statistics covering the whole calendar year for these areas as constituted on that date are given below. Birth and death figures are mostly approximate, being aggregates of figures for entire old areas up to 31st March together with the corresponding new areas thereafter.

Area	Estimated home population as at 30th June 1966	Live births						Deaths				Stillbirths
		Legitimate		Illegitimate		Total	Crude rate per 1,000 home population	Male	Female	Total	Crude rate per 1,000 home population

Note: The deaths included in this table, as in all tables of the Statistical Review, are those which occurred in England and Wales. The numbers which occur outside England and Wales are not generally large enough to be of much significance except for certain years, e.g. for the periods 1914-18 and 1939-47 deaths of non-civilians and merchant seamen which occurred outside England and Wales are estimated at 577,000 and 240,000 respectively.

† Provisional Adoption Orders, which were introduced on 1st April 1959 (see Adoption Act, 1958, section 53) are included in the total. These Orders confer authority on a person not domiciled in Great Britain to take a child out of this country for adoption.
 * The number of adopted children usually exceeds the number of Adoption Orders because the High Court does not issue a separate Order for each child where an adopter adopts more than one child at the same time.

TABLE U1. Parliamentary electors on the February 1966 Register, with number of votes cast at by-elections held thereon

England and Wales, county and borough constituencies

Note 1 The Register of electors 1966 was prepared in respect of the qualifying date 10th October 1965, and came into force on 16th February 1966. The figures are for constituencies as constituted at the date of the General Election held on 31st March 1966. The figures given in columns 6, 7 and 8 relate to persons entitled to vote at elections held on or after 2nd October 1966; they are not included in columns 3, 4 and 5.

APPENDIX B.

Distribution of live births and stillbirths by place of confinement, and age and parity of mother.

In the following tables the categories used for place of confinement are:-

N.H.S. hospital, i.e. hospitals and homes under the National Health Service, except psychiatric hospitals;

Other hospital, which are mainly maternity homes not under the National Health Service;

At home, i.e. at the usual place of residence of the mother;

Other, places of confinement which include all psychiatric institutions, homes for unmarried mothers, remand homes, reception centres, private houses (other than mother's usual residence), etc.

A set of tables is available for reference at the General Register Office showing numbers of live and still births with a breakdown as in Tables 2 and 3 of this Appendix for individual county boroughs and administrative counties within England and Wales. A copy of these tables or of a table for a particular area, can be obtained from the General Register Office on payment.

The Registrar General's Statistical Review of England and Wales

Part III: Commentary

This annual volume contains detailed analyses of the statistics of life and death already presented in Parts I and II of the Review which are designed to assist, in their administration or research, demographers, statisticians, medical research organisations, public health authorities, and all other individuals and organisations who have to take account of the vital statistics of England and Wales.

The Commentary for 1964 contains a discussion on the changing pattern of marriage during the last thirty years, an account of the methods used to compile estimates of the populations of local authority areas, and a discussion on the statistics relating to illegitimate births.
