EXPLANATORY NOTES

1. New or recent changes in presentation

A computer was used for the first time in the production of the 1963 statistics. Most of the tabulations are now produced by photo lithographic processes from the output of the computer system. The page size was altered from royal octavo to demy quarto and some tables were re-arranged either to meet the needs of the new system or to make better use of the available space, alterations in layout and presentation being kept to a minimum.

(a) Changes introduced this year

Table S. Has been revised and now includes the following sections:
(a) Balance of civilian passenger movement into and out from the United Kingdom
(b) Net intercensal population gain or loss by migration, England and Wales;
(c) Migration between the United Kingdom and countries overseas; and Migration into and out from the United Kingdom, analysed as follows:
(d) by sex, citizenship and route travelled; (e) sex, age and citizenship; (f) sex, age and marital condition; (g) sex, occupation and citizenship.

Table QQ. Printed as Appendix A in the volume for 1963. Serial analysis of fertility by year of marriage and marriage duration.

(b) Changes introduced in 1963

Table A1. Figures for Great Britain and Ireland replaced by figures for the United Kingdom. Figures for the Irish Republic retained.

Tables A1, A2, A3 and A4. Figures shown to hundreds instead of to thousands.

Tables A4 and E. Hospital region figures introduced. (For constitution of hospital regions see explanatory note 19.)

Table A5 Extended to show population projections for individual years up to 1970 as well as those for decennial intervals.

Table B. Subdivided as follows:-

Table B1: Marriages and live births, 1841 to date.
Table B2: Stillbirths, 1927 to date.

Table P1(b). Previously described as Supplement to Table P1 and now published annually.

Table P6. Previously described as Table P6(a).

Table P7. Previously described as Table P6(b).

Table S. The following sections were introduced:-

- (i) Occupation of intending long-term migrants travelling by sea and air routes to and from the United Kingdom;
- (ii) the migration into and out of the total population of England and Wales by sex, age, and marital condition; and
- (iii) the movement of intending long-term migrants by long sea and other routes between the United Kingdom and countries overseas (excluding the Irish Republic).

These sections have now been modified or excluded.

Table V. Extra column inserted showing number of councillors on each council.

Table W(b). Deaths, as well as marriages and live births, now shown.

Table GG. Estimated female populations omitted.

(c) Changes introduced in 1962

From 1962 onwards the estimated pre-marital births have been based upon the assumption that 8 months interval between marriage and birth is a more reasonable limit than 9 months.

Table P3(b). Previously described as Supplement to Table P3.

Table P7 (Table P6(b) for 1962). Previously described as Supplement to Table P6.

Table GG. Female birth proportions and illegitimate stillbirth rates excluded.

Supplement to Table MM in 1962.

3. Populations

The estimates of population appearing in this volume and described as 'home', 'total' or 'civilian' have the following content:

- Home population* - the population, of all types, actually in England and Wales, distributed by area according to residence.
- Total population* - the home population plus members of H.M. Forces belonging to England and Wales and serving overseas but minus the Forces of other countries temporarily in England and Wales.
- Civilian population* - the total population minus members of H.M. Forces belonging to England and Wales at home or overseas.

The national estimates by sex and age for 1961 and 1962, published in Table A2 for each of those years were revised according to an age-graduation of the final result of the 1961 Census and with similarly based estimates for 1963, were presented in Appendices C and D and Table A2 (respectively) of the 1963 volume of the Statistical Review (Part II). The method of graduating was to divide the population enumerated at each single year of age by the number of births in the relevant past period and to draw a smooth curve through the resulting 'survivorship factors', allowing for the effects on the curve of migration and the temporary absence abroad of non-civilians. Multiplying the smoothed survivorship factors by the related births provides the graduated population of that age.

The estimates published in Tables A3 and A4 for each of the years 1961 to 1963 have now been revised and appear in Appendices B to G of this volume.

4. Births and birth rates

The births recorded and analysed for England and Wales for periods from 1939 onwards are those which occurred during the period. The numbers registered in 1964 are shown in the footnote to Table B1.

For classification by area (Tables E, BB, etc.) births and maternities are assigned to the area of the mother's usual residence if this is within England or Wales; if not, to the area of occurrence.

The national birth rates shown in Tables C and D are calculated by relating birth occurrences to the total population (before 1939, birth registrations to the home population; in 1914-19, birth registrations to the total population). The rates in Table E are calculated from birth occurrences and home populations (see Note 3 above).

5. Deaths and death rates

The deaths recorded (Tables E and SS) are the total registered (including non-civilians) in the calendar period, the time lag between the date of occurrence and the date of registration being usually only a day or two. In general, deaths have been assigned to the area of usual residence of the deceased; if this is not within England or Wales they are assigned to the area of occurrence. Accommodation provided under Parts III and IV of the National Assistance Act, 1948 is regarded as the place of residence of persons dying there. Before 1st January 1958 chronic sick and psychiatric hospitals were similarly treated for this purpose but from that date the method of classification was modified, the main change being that a death in such a hospital is now assigned to the area of occurrence only if the deceased had been there six months or more. If the deceased had been there less than six months the death is transferred to the area of previous usual residence.

In some small areas the numbers of deaths may also have been appreciably affected by the opening, closing or change of use of certain institutions, so that figures may not be comparable with those of earlier years.

The crude death rates in Table E are calculated from total deaths and home populations.

6. Area comparability factors

(a) Births

The crude birth rates for local areas in Table E (col. 8) may not be comparable one with another because the populations on which they are based may contain different proportions of women of child-bearing ages. In order to eliminate differences between local birth rates due to this cause a standardising factor, termed an Area Comparability Factor is calculated (as described on page 30 of the 1954 Statistical Review, Part III, Commentary*).

The product of the crude birth rate and this Area Comparability Factor (col. 9 of Table E) is a rate which makes allowance for this influence. The ratio of this adjusted rate to the rate for England and Wales as a whole is shown in col. 10 of Table E.

(b) Deaths

The crude death rates for local areas in Table E (col. 14) may not be comparable one with another. In the first place, the populations on which they are based may have widely differing structures by sex and age. In order to eliminate differences between local death rates due to this cause a standardising factor, termed an Area Comparability Factor, is calculated (as described on page 57 of the 1954 Statistical Review, Part III, Commentary*).

In the second place the populations on which the crude death rates are based may include a disproportionate number of invalids if there are certain types of hospitals in the area. In order to eliminate this difference the Area Comparability Factors are adjusted so that they have the effect of apportioning the deaths and the populations in chronic sick and psychiatric hospitals over all areas of the country according to their non-institutional populations. The product of the crude death rate and this Area Comparability Factor (col. 15 in Table E) is a rate which makes allowance for these two influences. The ratio of this adjusted rate to the rate for England and Wales as a whole is shown in col. 16 of Table E.

7. Fertility analyses

All the tables that appear in the Fertility Analyses are based upon occurrences with the exception of Table SS which is based upon registrations.

One of the changes introduced by part of the Population (Statistics) Act, 1960, which came into operation on 1st January 1961, was that the age of the child's father was required where his name was entered in the register, i.e. where the entry was that of a legitimate birth or of an illegitimate birth registered on the joint information of the parents. The analysis of illegitimate births by father's age in Table AA(b), being thus restricted to those births registered jointly by the parents where the father's age was stated, is therefore incomplete and may be misrepresentative.

The term "maternity" in these tables is used to denote a pregnancy which has terminated in the birth of one or more live or still born children, and the term "paternity" a legitimate pregnancy of the man's wife which has terminated in the birth of one or more live or still born children. The maternity record differs from the birth record in that multiple births from a single pregnancy are counted as one maternity, while for the birth record each child born is reckoned as a separate unit. The definition of a stillborn child is given in Section 41 of the Births and Deaths Registration Act, 1953, as follows: "a child which has issued forth from its mother after the twenty eighth week of pregnancy and which did not at any time after being completely expelled from the mother breathe or show any other signs of life".

The treatment of "not stated" cases is explained in note 12

8. Divorces

The figures in Table O have been obtained from the Lord Chancellor's Department. Tables P 1 to P 7 have been compiled from the records of the Divorce Registry, controlled to the total given by Table O.

9. Register of electors

numbers of parliamentary electors on the February 1964 Register for each parliamentary constituency as constituted at the date of the general election held on 15th October 1964. The numbers of votes cast at by-elections held on the February 1964 Register have been supplied by the Home Office. The 1961 acreages, which comprise land and inland water, for each parliamentary constituency, have been obtained from the Ordnance Survey Department.

The numbers of votes cast at by-elections held during the first six weeks of the calendar year are shown in footnotes to Table U in the preceding year's volume.

Table V, which shows the number of local government electors, the total number of councillors on each council, and an analysis of local elections held in 1964, is compiled from returns received from clerks to local councils.

10. Migration

Table S shows various data, derived mainly from the International Passenger Survey on the balance of civilian passenger movement into and out from the United Kingdom.

The Government Social Survey has been commissioned by the Board of Trade to interview a stratified random sample of passengers entering and leaving the country on all the principal air and sea routes, other than to or from the Irish Republic, to obtain information about international migration, tourism and the contribution of 'travel' expenditure to the balance of payments.

On the long air routes nearly 7 per cent of the outgoing passengers and 4 per cent of the incoming passengers are interviewed at London Airport and Prestwick; 2 per cent of the short air route passengers in winter and 1 per cent in summer are also interviewed there. At the smaller airports the percentage sampled varies between half of one per cent and 4 per cent according to the time and the airport concerned. The sample weights are adjusted for known traffic densities, and appropriate allowance made for traffic not covered. On the short sea routes, about 1 per cent of the winter traffic and a half of one per cent of the summer traffic is interviewed. In a two stage sample, cross-channel boats are sampled in proportion to the weight of traffic they are expected to handle, and a pre-determined number of passengers is interviewed on each selected boat. On the long sea routes, every liner or other ship having more than 200 passengers arriving, or more than 100 passengers departing is covered. One ship in every two of other ships carrying more than 12 passengers on these routes is covered. Nearly 7 per cent of the outgoing and 4 per cent of the incoming passengers are sampled. A larger proportion of passengers leaving this country on the long sea and air routes is sampled in order to provide information about emigration from this country.

The totals so obtained when weighted and grossed up are subject to error.

The term 'migration' here relates to passengers whose declared intention is to reside in, or be away from, this country for at least a year.

11. International tables

Information for the completion of Tables W, X, Y and Z has been obtained from United Nations publications and from official sources.

12. "Not stated" cases

Computer processing has permitted the use of new methods of dealing with cases where particular items of information are not known or not stated at registration. Hitherto such cases have been rateably distributed over certain tables. Now the computer assigns a specific value to any "not stated" item in the record which is made use of in such tables. More specifically:

Births

Births for which the age of mother, age of father, year of marriage or the number of previous children was not stated have been assigned the value of the appropriate item from the last case with similar characteristics to be processed. Notes of the number of cases dealt with in this way have been included in the relevant tables.

Marriages

Marriages with the age of one of the parties not stated have been assigned a value for that age based upon the other party's stated age, adjusted according to the combined marital condition of the parties. Where the ages of both parties were not stated, the values assigned have been those appearing on the last of a sub-sample of previous cases with the same combined marital condition.

Divorces

Not stated age at marriage has been assigned a value in a manner similar to marriages. Present age is estimated from age at marriage.

13. Changes in boundaries

Areas which have undergone a change in boundary during the year are identified in Table E by an asterisk *, newly created areas by the sign †, and abolished areas by the sign ‡. For any such area the statistics shown for the current year represent the events assigned to the area within the boundaries as they existed at the date of the event, and the population given in Table E (col. 2), which is used for the calculation of crude birth and death rates, is a weighted average of the mid-year populations of the area as constituted before and after the change. This population figure may therefore differ from any given in Table A4 for the same region, conurbation, etc., which relates to the area as constituted at mid-year. Details of boundary changes are given in Appendix A.

14. Indication of reliability

Rates given as 0 indicate that the actual rate is less than half of a unit. A dash (-) in any cell indicates that there were no events. Where a cell has been left blank no denominator is available. Rates calculated from less than 20 events are distinguished by italic type as a warning to the user that the smallness of the experience may affect their reliability as a measure.

Numbers

If  $d$  represents the deaths in an area and  $p$  the population in that area then, if  $d/p$  is small, the standard error (s.e.) of  $d$  is approximately  $\sqrt{d}$  assuming that the deaths are independent of one another. Clearly, the larger the number of deaths the smaller will be the proportionate variability. A deviation either way of twice the s.e. may be expected about once in 20 times. Using this criterion one might expect towns each averaging 20 deaths per year to yield in the same year numbers ranging between 11 and 29 without such differences having any statistical significance. Alternatively it could be said that if 20 deaths were recorded for a town, this number would have a 95 per cent confidence interval of approximately  $\pm 9$ , there being a 95 per cent chance that the underlying mortality is represented by a number of deaths within this interval.

If  $d$  is thought to be an extreme variation it would be more reliable to use as the standard error not  $\sqrt{d}$  but  $\sqrt{d'}$  where  $d'$  is the number of deaths expected if some standard rate (e.g. the national rate) were applied.

The appropriate standard error of a death rate when  $\bar{d}$  represents the number of deaths and  $p$  the population is where  $m$  is the death rate. The difference between two local death rates  $m_1$  and  $m_2$  can be regarded as significant only if it amounts to more than twice the standard error of the difference, viz.

$$\frac{\sqrt{\bar{d}}}{p} \text{ or } \frac{m}{\sqrt{\bar{d}}}$$

$$2 \sqrt{\left( \frac{m_1^2}{\bar{d}_1} + \frac{m_2^2}{\bar{d}_2} \right)}$$

Comparison of adjusted rates

Before comparisons are made, other known sources of variation (such as differences in the sex and age composition of the population) must be removed. If  $C$  is the local death Area Comparability Factor, then  $mC$  is to be compared with  $m'$ , the national death rate. The s.e. of  $mC$  is

is to be compared with  $m'$ . As already indicated,  $m'$  can be used instead of  $m$  in the calculation of the s.e.;  $m'$  has the advantage of itself having only a small sampling error.

18. Urban and rural aggregates

These aggregates comprise (a) the six conurbations combined, (b) the aggregates of urban local authority areas outside the conurbations in three groups according to the size of their resident population at the 1961 Census and (c) the aggregate of rural local authority areas outside the conurbations. Urban areas include boroughs and urban districts as defined by the Local Government Acts, and rural districts are also defined by those Acts.

19. Hospital regions

The hospital regions presented in this volume consist of aggregations of entire local authority areas. They are identical with the areas of the regional hospital boards except where the boundaries of the latter divide local authority areas. Any such divided local authority area is allocated to the hospital region containing the greater proportion of the population.

TABLE A5. Total population, projections from 30th June 1964, by sex and age

England and Wales

These projections have been prepared by the Government Actuary's Department in consultation with the General Register Office

Basis: Mid-1964 estimate of Total population of England and Wales (plus members of H.M. Forces belonging to England and Wales and serving overseas but minus the forces of other countries temporarily in England and Wales).

Assumptions (1964 Revision):

Mortality: Death rates at the outset based on recent experience. At ages under 40, death rates are assumed to decline steadily over the period of the projection until, at the end of the forty years they are one half or less of the rates now being experienced. At ages over 40 the assumed rates of decline become progressively smaller as the age advances until they vanish at ages over 90.

Natality: The estimates assume 886,000 live births in the year mid-1964 to mid-1965 and a gradual increase thereafter to 939,000 in 1970, to 984,000 in 1980, to 1,178,000 in 1990 and to 1,323,000 in 2000. (Male/Female ratio 1.06 throughout).

Migration: A net inward migration from other parts of the United Kingdom and all countries overseas of 61,000 in the year mid-1964 to mid-1965, declining to 48,000 in the year mid-1969 to mid-1970 and to 38,000 a year from mid-1979 onwards. The net inward migration is assumed to comprise about 60 per cent males and 40 per cent females.

Projections involving children yet unborn are shown above the dotted line

†Provisional Adoption Orders, which were introduced on 1st April 1959 (see Adoption Act, 1958, section 53) are included in the total. These Orders confer authority on a person not domiciled in Great Britain to take a child out of this country for adoption.
*The number of adopted children usually exceeds the number of Adoption Orders because the High Court does not issue a separate Order for each child where an adopter adopts more than one child at the same time.

Census 1961

ENGLAND AND WALES

County Reports

This series of reports provides statistics of predominantly local interest. The subjects covered include the population and acreage of local authority areas, including wards and civil parishes, and the distribution of the local population according to sex, age and marital condition, birthplace, citizenship and nationality; households and their size distribution, the buildings, dwellings and rooms in which they lived, the tenure of their accommodation (viz.: whether they were owner occupiers, tenants, etc.) and certain household arrangements possessed by them; and institutions of different types housing various categories of non-private population. (Prices vary from 11s. 0d. to 54s. 0d. net.)

County leaflets: Occupation, Industry and Socio-Economic Groups Tables

Leaflets are being published for each county in England and Wales giving figures of the numbers of people having particular occupations, the numbers employed in the various branches of industry and the numbers of men in various socio-economic groups. The information, derived from a 10% sample of the population, deals only with people aged 15 and over. The leaflets give information not only at county level but also separately for all county boroughs and all other urban local authorities in the country with a population of 50,000 or more. Where a county contains a conurbation centre or a New Town, separate figures are also given for these. (Prices vary).
