Dearest May,

Your kind letter was most welcome with all its information and promise of books to guide us on our way and introductions to people.

We are so sorry to hear you have been laid up by a cold.

It has been a very unpropitious summer and last Saturday afternoon was almost the finest we have had for weeks. I do hope we will soon be quite well again. When we return exactly what our times & seasons will be we will write again but as far as we know at present we shall be in Northumberland for about a fortnight towards the end of August.

It is very wearying not to know what is to become of our Bill.

If you have the D. N. of yesterday would you send me Mr. Paulford's letter? We have written much L'abbé M. P., I wish a special letter to Mr. Haldane whose secretary replies that it will receive his sympathetic ~~and~~ consideration.

We have indeed a long row to hoe.

Have you seen Sir T. Fuller's book about Prodes? There are two or three very nice references to Edmund in it.

Yours very truly,

M. G. Davenport
