Dear Miss Lees,

Your letter of August 27th with its most unexpectedly large enclosure gave me much encouragement and pleasure. I hope that with Mrs Stocks's very able help we will be able to make the quality of the Woman's Leader such that you will not regret such a generous contribution. I enclose a formal receipt.

I can quite imagine that when you are in London your days are very full, but on the occasion of your next visit if possible at all do make an appointment with me and come to see me here or at the little house I share with Miss Rathbone, which is quite close.

I am very much disappointed that I cannot manage to go to the N.C.W. Conference at Edinburgh.

With my warmest thanks,

Yours sincerely,

Elizabeth Macadam
