My dear Lady Deane
In reply to your question, as to what is going on with regard to women's suffrage, I regret to say nothing can be done during this Parliament.

You know how Mr
Gladstone stopped it some time ago. This being done so late in the life of this Parliament, when all the Members are thinking of the coming Election & most of them addressing their Constituents, it would be impossible to get enough of our friends together to bring forward a Bill for the extension of the Franchise to women rate payers.

Lord Dummer's notice
for the 23rd is not

proposed, without value.
He sets a noble example to others, & I hope brings many to see how contemptible their own conduct has been.

I am indeed sorry
to find you are not yet free from rheumatic pains, but hope you will be better when you have recovered from the fatigue of your journey.
If you find me a
post card when you

Come to town to bag
when you can see me I should be very happy to call, it is a long time since I had that pleasure.

Mr. Arnold is in North Dartmouth, I expect him home tomorrow.

I trust last dinner
is well with kindest regards & a thousand thanks for all he has done for women. I am yours most truly

Amelia Arnold
