Oct 5. 1841.

My dear Mrs Fawcett.

I was at the London Society Com. yesterday, & Miss Davies brought up a much amended form of letter to that wh. we adopted at the Nat. Union.
You know her powers of amending! London, wd prefer its adoption ^{at} of the Council. If it will do so without a prolonged discussion our sending it is no harm. As most of the corrections are verbal, they really need not discuss.

One only important change, is deleting the paragraph.
When we say we always fore saw. This makes the enemy say. If that is so, why did you do so & so?
It is quite unnecessary, & is much better away, & it gives us brevity.
London will not stick out of it, if the Council approves the other draft -

in Times
The letter today, under dad's Betsy's, of those two men is very telling - you see Gladstone has yielded to pressure, & given them a solicitation. The broadsheet speaks of one let out today. Yrs affly

I have been down to tea & met Masterman, & gave him some round shot wch on the tactics of the Home Office
