

Private and Confidential

Terling Place
Witham Essex.

April 8. 1892.

32 ADDISON ROAD,

KENSINGTON, W.

FAWCETT LIBRARY
27 WILFRED STREET
LO 10 1 SW.1.

AL/41

Mrs. Fawcett

Your letter presents
a new point of view
to me. I knew that the people pressing
Arthur were ~~Adams~~
Randolph and Mr
Chamberlain, and it

never occurred to me

that the end they had in view

was to get rid of the Suffrage.

This may be so.

But Arthur did not make me to understand

it.

During the course of

our conversation he

called to his

secretary and asked

what were the usual

precedents for taking the Wednesdays before

Whit Sunday. I heard

them decide together

that ~~letter~~ there was no such precedent.

I can only repeat
to you my convictions,
confirmed by this talk,

that Arthur will ensure one of the days for us.

I am sure you have written temperately, and if you will add that

WOLFEY LIBRARY
10, BEDFORD STREET
LONDON, S.W.1.

Cont AL/41

32 ADDISON ROAD,

KENSINGTON, W.

I do not want an answer I can see
nothing but food to
come from your letter
to Arthur.

he & s. Courtney has written to me a note
of warning, marked
private, that Courtney

6641

has told her the first of the talk
I had with Arthur of which

I wrote to you this morning clearly it is being canvassed by the officials
A bad headache
prevents me writing

with my own hand
tonight

Believe me
Yours sincerely

(A. P. M.)

Frances Balfour

I have not the slightest fear that A. will fail us, you must remember Salisbury is Keen, as well as
himself