Dear Lady Davidson

I think it is a pleasing idea that there should be a portrait of Philippa Strachey, and I shall be glad to support it so far as I can. I did not care for Henry Lamb's portrait of her sister Pernel at Newnham, but most other people did, and he would at all events do something striking.

Unfortunately I cannot manage to attend your Committee meeting on the 31st. Cambridge communications are not very good, and an evening meeting is not as a rule possible for me unless I am spending the night in London. It seems therefore that there would be no point in my joining the Committee, but if you can use my name in any other way I am glad that you should do so

Yours sincerely

Myra Carter
