THE WOMEN'S CO-OPERATIVE GUILD

FACTS ABOUT THE GUILD.

The Women's Co-operative Guild shows how Co-operation can help Women, and how Women can help Co-operation.

It is the Married Woman's instrument to use for her progress as Mother, Wife, and Citizen.

The Guild numbers over 64,000 Working Women.

The Guild is organised in 1,400 Local Branches which are connected with Co-operative Societies in all parts of England and Wales.

The Members govern the Guild, and hold an Annual Congress, attended by over 1,000 delegates. All Women belonging to a Co-operative Household can join.

The Guild stands for the Progress and Power of Working Women in Co-operative and national Life.
