Dear Mrs. Fawcett,

My wife has forwarded to me from the country the very kind letter which you addressed to her. I deeply appreciate your warm references to the part it has been my privilege to take in forwarding the cause of Woman Suffrage. I shall always be proud to think that a Government of which I am the head undertook the responsibility of promoting and carrying through a measure for redeeming pledges which I personally gave to thousands of women at a meeting over which you presided at the Albert Hall. I meant it then. I thank you because you were convinced of my good faith at the time.

Yours sincerely,

Lloyd George

Mrs. Fawcett.
