CONSTITUTION.

1. The Society shall be called the "Women's Holiday Fund,', and shall be undenominational.
2.-The object of the Society shall be to send for a short holiday to the seaside or into the country hardworking and deserving women who require rest and change, but who cannot themselves meet the expense which a holiday entails. Each applicant is, however, expected to contribute according to her means towards her own expenses.
3.-The Government of the Society shall be vested in a Council, from which the Executive Committee shall be elected; the latter to be under the control of the Council.
4.-The Council shall be elected at a duly summoned Annual Meeting, consisting of Vice-Presidents, Council of the previous year, Local Secretaries, and Subscribers.
5.-The Council shall have power to fill up vacancies, and to nominate additional Members.
6.-A Meeting of the Council shall be held once a year in the spring at not less than a fortnight's notice. A Special Meeting may be called at the discretion of the Executive Committee, at which seven members must be present. No alteration shall be made in the existing Rules, and no new Rules shall be adopted without the concurrence of the Council.
7.-The work of the Society shall be carried out by the Executive Committee, of whom three shall form a quorum. The Honorary Treasurer shall be an ex-officio member of the Committee.
8.-The Executive Committee and the Honorary Treasurer shall be elected annually at the Spring Meeting of the Council. In the case of one of the officers of the Society resigning during the year, the vacancy shall be temporarily filled at the discretion of the Executive Committee.
9.-All applications for help must come through a local Committee of the Society, or some other recognised agency. The decision of the Executive Committee is final.

REPORT FOR 1926.

In presenting their Report for 1926, the Committee are glad to be able to announce that Lady Maud Carnegie has most kindly consented to become Patroness of the Society in place of Her Majesty, the late Queen Alexandra.

In view of the existence of an overdraft of $£ 212$ on the General Account, it was decided at the beginning of the year to slightly reduce the numbers sent away.

The mournful task of refusing many suitable applicants was somewhat lessened by the fact that the General Strike and its disastrous consequences prevented many women from leaving home or from even thinking of a holiday-in many cases the small sum of money already saved for that purpose had to be used for absolute necessities-but notwithstanding, there were many who had to be disappointed owing to lack of funds.

The numbers sent away were 766 women and 541 children as compared with 799 women and 545 children in 1925. Apart from the fact that numbers had to be restricted, the holiday season seems to have been particularly successful. It is encouraging to find how many of the women are learning the true value of a holiday and are beginning to make the most of what it offers. They are not only grateful for the more material benefits derived from it-nicely cooked and served meals, which they have not had to provide, the freedom from work and worry, the improvement in their own or their baby's health-but they also show a real appreciation of the beauties of the sea and country, of places historically interesting, and of the kindness and friendliness which meets them at the Homes or lodgings. They realise that the memory of these happy days will serve as an inspiration, when the anxieties and difficulties of their monotonous lives seem almost to overwhelm them. One of them expresses something of this when she thanks all kind friends for " helping mother to see the lovely sea and 'glading' one's life to go on again to do her best for others. "

An Essay Competition was arranged for all who went away under the auspices of the Fund, the subject being "My Holiday," and it will be seen from the few extracts given later on that some very interesting papers were written. The First, Second and Third Prize winners came from Finsbury, West Islington and Bethnal Green respectively.

For the sixth year in succession the proprietors of the "Daily Graphic" gave most valuable help, paying in full for no fewer than 108 women and 97 children, sent away by the Women's Holiday Fund. Out of this number, 40 women and 40 children were nominated by the Women's holiday Fund. The Committee desire to express their gratitude for this generous assistance.

Also, once again to thank Mr. Guy Oswald Smith, through whose kindness 43 women spent a never-to-be-forgotten holiday at Shottesbrooke Cottage. Those fortunate enough to be chosen to accept the hospitable invitation cannot find words in which to express adequately their thanks, two of them in their attempt to do so have had recourse to poetry.

A most hopeful feature of the year's work is the increase in the subscription and donation list of over $£ 300$, which, it is hoped, points to a wider interest being taken in the activities of the Society. This enabled the Committee to meet in full the ordinary expenses of the year, and to almost cover the extraordinary and heavy expenses connected with the purchase and fitting up of the new Home for Mothers and Babies. But there still remains an overdraft of $£ 270$ to be cleared off, and until that has been accomplished, the financial position can not be regarded as satisfactory. Particularly, when the paying off of the mortgage on the house will sooner or later have to be considered.

A special word of thanks must be given to the Rotherhithe Guild of Women Citizens who, as a result of varied activities sent $£ 25$ towards the furnishing of the St. Leonard's Home. This splendid achievement was accomplished through the united efforts of many enthusiastic and energetic women, one of whom could hardly do enough to help the Fund, which she said, had saved her life. The sight of the packed hall in Bermondsey, when " A Happy Evening," with a Sale of Work and a Variety Entertainment formed a fitting ending to this particular effort, might well have aroused the admiration of more experienced organisers of Charity Bazaars, etc.

To the Catterick Camp Sewing Party and St. Mary's Women's Fellowship (Wandsworth) we are also indebted for money contributions.

A Sale of Work held at 29, Grosvenor Square, by kind permission of the Marquis and Marchioness of Bath produced a sum of $£ 105$ for the Home.

The Council are glad to welcome as members the Dowager Lady Sheffield and Captain G. G. Petherick. The death of Dr. Marion Vaughan has deprived the Council of one of its earliest supporters. Lady Lampson's departure for China involved her resignation from the Council and Executive Committee, where her practical and able help will be much missed.

The Committee wish to thank Messrs. Kemp, Chatteris, Nicholls, Sendell & Co., for again auditing the accounts without charge.

Report on Home for Mothers and Babies

The Homes' Committee are glad to be able to report a very satisfactory year's work at the new Home which has proved most suitable for its purpose.

The work of the staff has been considerably lightened, and the comfort of the mothers and babies increased by the fact that the Home is now in a convenient and well-planned house with large and sunny rooms and a pleasant garden.

The Home was opened on March 16th by Lady Eustace Percy (a report of the proceedings is given elsewhere) and during the year 272 mothers and 324 children enjoyed holidays there. In the early spring and late autumn, when the demand for accommodation was less, it was possible to allow some of the mothers to bring more than one child. The Committee also arranged to take parties of women only during November, at a charge of $20 /$ - per head per week in order to avoid making use of the Central Fund for winter holidays. Very few, however, availed themselves of this arrangement, although possibly, when it becomes better known, more will do so another year.

There was very little serious illness during the year, though the sick room was invaluable and almost in constant use for babies with slight ailments.

All the visitors were most appreciative of the comfort and cheerful atmosphere of the home, not least the small boy who announced his intention of staying a year, with the comforting assurance that " Daddy would wait." If our kind supporters could only see the mothers and babies at their breaking-up parties on the day before their return to London, they would have some idea of the happy spirit prevailing. Mothers and babies, smartened up for the occasion and decorated with paper rosettes, sit round the tables, made pretty with flowers or evergreens from the garden, enjoying a specially good tea. Later on they enter into the fun of musical chairs and other games with the keenness and lightheartedness of children. Care and worries are for the moment laid aside and as much enjoyment as possible taken out of the last day of a wonderful holiday.

To the matron and her able assistant who do so much to make the holidays really happy and beneficial, no small measure of the success of the Home is due

The Committee are pleased to be able to announce that Miss E. B. Donald has most kindly started a Needlework Guild in connection with the Home, in order to meet the demand for household necessities of all kinds and for women's and children's clothing. Members of the Guild are asked to sûbscribe one shilling and to send a minimum of two garments annually. Intending subscribers are asked to send one shilling, with their names and addresses as soon as possible to Miss E. B. Donald, 76, Denison House, 296, Vauxhall Bridge Road, S.W.1., who will gladly give any further information required. The Committee wish to thank the many kind friends who contributed to the Furnishing Account or gave gifts to the Home, or took the Sunday Service each week, and particularly Miss Bellingham who came up frequently in the evenings to play the piano for dancing and games. Thanks are due to the Women's Auxiliary Corps for their kindness in arranging to send motor-cars, at very short notice, to meet the women at the London stations, when, owing to the General Strike, the difficulty of getting home by 'bus or tram was very great.

The Committee will be most grateful to anyone who can supply any of the following wants :-an iron bedstead (3ft.), 2 children's cots, a baby's pen, toys, old linen.

"Crab Tree House."

(From " St. Leonard's Observer.'")

Under the auspices of the Women's Holiday Fund, a new Holiday Home for London Mothers and Babies was opened at "Crab Tree House" (late Highlands Lodge) Archery Road, St. Leonards, on Tuesday afternoon.

In the unavoidable absence of the Mayor (Alderman W. J. Fellows, J.P.), the Deputy Mayor (Councillor T. S. Dymond, J.P.) presided and was supported by Lady Eustace Percy, the Ven. Archdeacon T. W. Cook, Mrs. Frank Pownall (Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Society), Miss G. Cooper (Secretary), Miss Blunt (Chairman of the Homes Committee). Others present were : Mrs. Cook, J.P., Mrs. Dymond, J.P., Mrs. Foster Councillor Mrs. Badcock, and Miss Badcock, the Revs. E. A Penson and C. Gilbert Toone, Mrs. Alston, Dr. and Mrs. H. Weston and many others.

The Chairman expressed his pleasure at being present, and welcomed all those who had come to take part in that afternoon's proceedings, especially Lady Eustace Percy and those who came from London. He was delighted they had found a permanen home in St. Leonards, which he considered the healthiest and sunniest place on the South Coast.

Lady Eustace Percy, in declaring the Home open, said she knew "Crab Tree House" quite well, because when she was looking round for a temporary home in 1919, she went over it. She was delighted when she knew that the Women's Holiday Fund had bought it, because she considered it a very charming house in one of the sunniest situations in the whole of Hastings and St. Leonards. She congratulated them on their splendid achievement. She had been over the house that afternoon and found everything most cheery and comfortable, and she felt it would be of enormous benefit to many mothers and babies who would visit it in the years to come.

She had great pleasure in declaring the Home open and wished it every possible success.

After Archdeacon Cook had pronounced the Blessing, Miss Blunt proposed a vote of thanks to Lady Eustace Percy, Archdeacon Cook and the Chairman.

The company then adjourned to the garden where two crab apple trees were planted, one for the babies by Miss Mary Percy and the other for the mothers by Lady Eustace Percy. Both were " well and truly planted " amid hearty applause. Upon returning to the house, tea was enjoyed, after which the company duly inspected the Home.

Offering accommodation for twenty-one mothers and babies, the Home is beautifully fitted up. The rooms are large and airy and exceedingly sunny. The neat beds with their pretty coloured quilts and white cots close by, breathe an atmosphere of rest and refreshment, while the mothers' sitting room is equally charming. There is a fine lawn in front of the house, and the large dining hall would not fail to delight the most fastidious. The Matron in charge is a thoroughly qualified woman with a charming personality, and is kindness itself, so that all who are fortunate enough to have a holiday at "Crab Tree House" are assured of a most delightful fortnight.

Extracts from Essays.

" When first we reached the beach I shall always remember the look on Sidney's face. He always loved water, especially a little stolen from mother's tub washing days in an old tin; but to be allowed to strip and splash and kick about, dip his small pail in and out such a tremendous lot of water as it seemed to him, one can imagine the excitement. It was real fun, he laughed as the waves splashed and sprayed over him, and called it thunder. He often stood wondering where all the water could come from. But he liked best of all the small pools by the rocks, left when the tide was out. He could run in and out, sail his small boat without mother's hand constantly holding him. He was quite upset when the time came to depart.'
"It was a real holiday. When we are tired and worried, and nothing seems to go right, a change from home duties is appreciated more than all the holidays we had before marriage. . . . I could never get tired of looking at the sea, it is never the same. There is always something fresh to look at, it is a beautiful sight even on a grey day. . . . It was nice to be one of a jolly crowd of mothers, and at night to have a talk in bed; it recalled childhood and also made me feel so lighthearted. It is a good tonic to mix with others like yourself, and troubles never seem so great when shared with another. I had never been to a place like it before and did not dream I should enjoy it so much. I am very grateful to those who made it possible for me to go."
" I am writing a few lines on the most wonderful holiday I have ever had in all my life. The two weeks I spent at Shottesbrooke Cottage, White Waltham, were as I called it, ' a little bit of heaven.' The kindness and attention I received I shall always remember-it was wonderful, and I was very very happy. I was there when the country was most beautiful and everything so fresh. The trees with their lovely leaves and the various greens of the bushes and shrubs, so many different greens, it was grand; also the spring flowers, the woods full of primroses and bluebells, in some places the bluebells looking like a lovely blue carpet; in the fields the young lambs and calves skipping about. We went for some lovely walks and saw some of the country. Shottesbrooke Church is very old and is also historical; it was very interesting to look round and see the wonderful carvings and brass plates, there was a very large one on the floor, but it is covered over with a carpet.'

> "If you wish to get strong and well, Shottesbrooke Cottage is the place to dwell. Kindness within and lovely without-> Everything perfect without a doubt."
" My first pleasure of my holiday was being met at the station by a car to carry me five miles through lovely lanes. All was peace and quietness. And having breakfast in bed and gaining 4 lbs . in two weeks. If I had stayed much longer I should have wanted a wagon instead of a lovely car to bring me home."
" For myself, and I am sure most mothers with a little family will say the same, it is just grand to be able to sit down and enjoy a good meal without the worry of buying and cooking it. I really think that a fortnight off from housekeeping is the main part of the holiday, to me at any rate, it was a treat. The kiddies cannot get to the sea fast enough. . . . . It is just lovely to and watch them making pies and generally having the time of their lives. They love to help the fishermen pull in their boats, and don't they give mother some thrills when they slip in the water while paddling, and if mum will paddle with them, well, that is just grand !"
"، Bye-bye!' shouted my husband as the train steamed out of London Bridge Station, bearing me and my two babies to a sea-side resort for two whole weeks' holiday. How excited I felt to think that home life was to be forgotten for a while, no cooking, no work. It even crossed my mind how nice it were to be really rich, to go on holidays twice a year. Yet this was my first in four years. So you may depend I meant to make the most of it.

As I stood on the parade facing the sea for the first time, I took lots of deep breaths. I seemingly wanted to get that fresh air right into me at once. ' Oh, my babies!' I thought, ' wasn't this just what they needed.'
" Deal is a very interesting old town, and the Downs form a refuge for all ships during the rough and stormy weather in the Channel. The King's yacht, the Britannia, with her tall mast, anchored off the shore, whilst the bad weather continued. Outside Deal are the famous Goodwin Sands, and a white line of foam can be seen in the distance which is caused by the sea breaking over the sands. Walmer Castle is a castle of historic interest as it contains the suite of rooms used by the Duke of Wellington. They are situated at the top of the Castle, and from the side windows on a clear day the coast of France can be seen. The sea once surrounded this old Castle, but now the moat is full of flowers and trees, and a family of white pigeons have nested in the window of a dungeon.'

- "Being very fond of the sea, I naturally visited it first. I regarded it as a great friend, as pleased to see me as I was it. It greeted me, gently murmuring and lapping, or roaring and spluttering as the tide ebbed and flowed, bringing health and happiness to its watchers. The beach offers many attractions, hunting for shells, shrimps, crabs, seaweed, winkles, we find on the rocks, with plenty of fun. When it was high tide we took country rambles over the glorious hills and meadows, with their wild flowers and grasses, till we came to farmyards with their broods of chicks, sweet-smelling haystacks and beautiful growing flowers. From the hilltops the sun setting on the water was a wondrous sight; it all brought a vast amount of appreciation for the lovely place where I spent my holiday.'

From a letter.

' If you could have seen my husband's face, also the children when they saw me, you would then realise that the holiday has done me more good than we thought. Kit puts it in these words: 'Mums, you're our old mums back again, like you were before going into hospital,' and what is more to the point, I feel more fit than I have felt for months."
