My dear Alice,

It was wonderful to hear from you. And this week's events are hardly believable yet - after these years of Europe's agony. Now I am going to a doctor to-morrow as I haven't been well all winter - perhaps it is only too much work as we are terribly under-staffed - but I do want to be well for the great tasks ahead. I hope you and your family are well and that conditions are easier now. Surely it will be possible to have more food sent to Europe now. How often I have thought about you. I have a little international group which has met at my flat for a long time. On Saturday when we meet, we shall say "good bye" to Norwegian comrades. The meeting for resuscitation of International was very satisfactory I thought and there was a large measure of agreement throughout. I wish I could see you again - how much there is to talk about! Camille Huyghe was a great
