Dearest Mr. Fawcett,

The brown owl and
the exquisite paper cutter have given me more pleasure than anything
for a long time.

Interneecine feuds
are more hateful
than can be said &
it is a great addition to their horror to think that you are being worried about them. I do not think though, that you need ever be afraid of any really grave scandals because we are all of us too deeply attached to the N. U. in the abstract + to the President in the concrete.

Meantime I shall hang up my Owl in the office & endeavour to emulate
her wisdom & divert
my attention from her
delightful claws.

Yours affectionately

Philippa Strachey
