

This alludes to an incident one evening that we were dining with Eliza at Putland Gate. She was showing us a valuable little vase; Richard took it, it fell out of his hands & was broken, the the horror of Browning.

J. Drachey -

4999

Robert Browning

4999.

19 Warwick Crescent,
Upper Westbourne Terr.
Dec. 22. '65. (W.)

Dear Lady Colville,

Mr Schneegelsberg's address is
6. Upper Gloucester Place, Dorset Square,
N.W. I am sure you will find him all
I told you.

I hope that the disaster of last night weighs less on your mind than it does on mine; one is oxed to learn your immense goodness, even, at such a price.
What the Colonel must be undergoing I shudder to imagine: after all, he is a soldier and may be used to dreadful experiences.

Yours ever most sincerely,
Robert Browning.