Sept. 11. 1890

The Countess of Aberdeen presents her compliments to Mr. Miles & ventures to ask if he would have any objection to her inserting the story
"John, Minnie" as contained in the volume

"Fifty-two Stories for Girls" in a little magazine which she proposes editing for the girls & working mothers belonging to the

"Gaelic Home Association" in Scotland.

At the same time she would like to ask whether she could use in like manner some of the other stories in the same book at a subsequent time.

The Magazine will be called "Onward & Upward"

& the first number will appear in December.

Lady Aberdeen hopes that Mr. Miles will excuse her for thus troubling him.
Her address will be as above for the next 5 weeks, after that, Haddo House Aberdeen. If more convenient the answer can be sent to Lady Aberdeen's secretary, Miss Wilson at Haddo House
